The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1904 The Living Drama Nellie Burget Miller,1924 This study will endeavor to present in simple and concise form a survey of this continuous dramatic movement from its earliest recorded expression to contemporary moments under a single cover Since to know thoroughly the dramatic output of any one period might command the industry of a lifetime the task is a colossal one and precludes any pretense at completeness the treatment is suggestive rather than informative and should be supplemented by a study of the plays indicated under each section After all the important thing is not the painful piling of fact upon fact but gaining an intelligent working knowledge of the whole and knowing exactly where to turn for detail when it is needed The information has been gathered from many works upon the various phases to which the writer is deeply indebted all of which are indicated in the bibliographies We purpose then to take a sort of Cook s Tour over the whole domain of the drama touching the main points of interest and leaving the reader to return and explore at leisure

Lost Angel Kitty Neale, 2011 Hope never dies Having lost everything in the Blitz Hilda Stone and her 14 year old daughter Ellen are devastated when Doug beloved husband and father is lost at sea Years later Ellen makes a shocking mistake but is rescued by the man who becomes her husband The family s joy is short lived when Ellen s baby daughter is killed in a tragic accident Blaming herself for the death Ellen searches frantically for proof of an afterlife Her search becomes an obsession and she reaches rock bottom until she is given a sign Do miracles really exist and can Ellen ever find the answers she so desperately craves
