Lot Of Give Trends In Charitable Giving For The 21st Century:

A Lot of Give Catherine M. Walker, Catherine Pharoah, National Council for Voluntary Organisations (Great Britain), 2002-01-01 What makes people give to charity Is the wealth divide prompting a new age of philanthropy Or is the spirit of giving drying up in an increasingly fragmented individualistic materialistic global society A Lot of Give is the first book to provide up to date information on both the art and science of giving in the UK today Decisions to give are not only about values or faith They result from good charity communications personal finance planning and evidence that donations can make difference to social needs The current climate is seeing a decline in charitable social giving amidst growing social wealth Many people could give much more than they do And all those involved in charities should be asking themselves why don't Charities need to capture a new spirit of giving though developing more imaginative and appropriate techniques of giving This book aims to provide a significant resource for all those involved in stimulating a new age and culture of giving It pulls together for the first time a wide range of information and research on trends in who gives why people give how much people give how people give e philanthropy tax incentives and tax effective giving pub New Sources of Development Finance World Institute for Development Economics Research, 2005 As their Millennium Development Goals world leaders have pledged by 2015 to halve the number of people living in extreme poverty and hunger to achieve universal primary education to reduce child mortality to halt the spread of HIV AIDS and to halve the number of people without safe drinking water Achieving these goals requires a large increase in the flow of financial resources to developing countries double the present development assistance from abroad Examining innovative ways to secure these resources this book sets out a framework for the economic analysis of different sources of funding applying the tools of modern public economics to identify the key issues It examines the role of new sources of overseas aid considers the fiscal architecture and the lessons that can be learned from federal fiscal systems asks how far increased transfers impose a burden on donors and investigates how far one can separate raising resources from their use In turn the book examines global environmental taxes such as a carbon tax the taxation of currency transactions the Tobin tax a development focused allocation of Special Drawing Rights by the IMF the UK Government proposal for an International Finance Facility increased private donations for development purposes a global lottery or premium bond and increased remittances by emigrants In each case it considers the feasibility of the proposal and the resources that it can realistically raise In each case it offers new perspectives and insights into these new and controversial proposals The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy Tobias Jung, Susan D. Phillips, Jenny Harrow, 2016-05-17 Philanthropy the use of private resources for public purposes is undergoing a transformation both in practice and as an emerging field of study Expectations of what philanthropy can achieve have risen significantly in recent years reflecting a substantial but uneven increase in global wealth and the rolling back of state services in anticipation that philanthropy will fill the void In addition to this experiments with entrepreneurial and venture philanthropy are producing novel intersections of the public non profit and private spheres accompanied by new kinds of partnerships and hybrid organisational forms The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy examines these changes and other challenges that philanthropists and philanthropic organisations face With contributions from an international team of leading contemporary thinkers on philanthropy this Companion provides an introduction to and critical exploration of philanthropy discussing current theories research and the diverse professional practices within the field from a variety of disciplinary perspectives The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy is a rich and valuable resource for students researchers practitioners and policymakers working in or interested in philanthropy

The Keys to Bread and Wine Abigail Agresta,2022-07-15 How did medieval people think about the environments in which they lived In a world shaped by God how did they treat environments marked by religious difference The Keys to Bread and Wine explores the answers to these questions in Valencia in the later Middle Ages When Christians conquered the city in 1238 it was already one of the richest agricultural areas in the Mediterranean thanks to a network of irrigation canals constructed under Muslim rule. Despite this constructed environment, drought, flooding, plagues, and other natural disasters continued to confront civic leaders in the later medieval period. Abigail Agresta argues that the city's Christian rulers took a technocratic approach to environmental challenges in the fourteenth century but by the mid-fifteenth century relied increasingly on religious ritual, reflecting a dramatic transformation in the city's religious identity. Using the records of Valencia's municipal council, she traces the council's efforts to expand the region's infrastructure in response to natural disasters while simultaneously rendering the landscape within the city walls more visibly Christian. This having been achieved, Valencia's leaders began by the mid-fifteenth century to privilege rogations and other ritual responses over infrastructure projects. But these appeals to divine aid were less about desperation than confidence in the city's Christianity. Reversing traditional narratives of technological progress, The Keys to Bread and Wine shows how religious concerns shaped the governance of the environment with far-reaching implications for the environmental and religious history of medieval Iberia.
