The Publishers Weekly ,1924 Modern Print Artefacts Patrick Collier,2016-09-20 This study focuses on the close connections between literary value and the materiality of popular print artefacts in Britain from 1890 1930 The book demonstrates that the materiality of print objects paper quality typography spatial layout use of illustrations etc became uniquely visible and significant in these years as a result of a widely perceived crisis in literary valuation In a set of case studies it analyses the relations between literary value meaning and textual materiality in print artefacts such as newspapers magazines and book genres artefacts that gave form to both literary works and the journalistic content critical essays book reviews celebrity profiles and advertising through which conflicting conceptions of literature took shape In the process it corrects two available misperceptions about reading in the period that books were the default mode of reading and that experimental modernism was the sole literary aesthetic that could usefully represent modern life The Cambridge History of the Book in Britain: Volume 6, 1830-1914 David McKitterick, 2009-03-05 The years 1830-1914 witnessed a revolution in the manufacture and use of books as great as that in the fifteenth century. Using new technology in printing, paper making and binding, publishers worked with authors and illustrators to meet ever growing and more varied demands from a population seeking books at all price levels. The essays by leading book historians in this volume show how books became cheap, how publishers used the magazine and newspaper markets to extend their influence, and how book ownership became universal for the first time. The fullest account ever published of the nineteenth century revolution in printing, publishing and bookselling, this volume brings The Cambridge History of the Book in Britain up to a point when the world of books took on a recognisably modern form.
