Moving Up to Management Inside Jobs Coaching Company, 2008-03 Law and Practice relating to Company Meetings Ramaswami Kalidas, 2020-05-15 About the book The book contains an incisive analysis of the law and practice relating to the holding of meetings of the board various committees constituted by the Board and general meetings of the members including meetings held specifically under the statute for different stakeholders The book explains lucidly the paradigm shift which has been brought about in the Companies Act 2013 as compared to the 1956 Act in the matter of conducting meetings use of audio visual means for attending meetings etc The book will be of immense value to the professional fraternity as well as those aspiring to enter the profession company directors academicians as also the dilettante The book should enable the professionals to organize meetings in a systematic manner as practical insights have been provided on these aspects given the author's four decade long interface with the Industry The annexures to the book contain the relevant provisions in the Act Rules Regulations Secretarial Standards etc to facilitate co relation with the discussion in the chapters of the book Return on Investment in Meetings and Events M. Theresa Breining, Jack J.

Phillips, 2008-01-14 The Phillips ROI Methodology™ utilizes five levels of evaluation which are essential in determining the return on investment At Level 1 Reaction and Planned Action attendee and stakeholder satisfaction from the meeting can be measured Almost all organizations evaluate at Level 1 usually with a generic end of meeting questionnaire While this level of evaluation is important as a stakeholder satisfaction measure a favorable reaction does not ensure that attendees have acquired new skills knowledge opinions or attitudes from the meeting At Level 2 Learning measurements focus on what participants learned during the meeting using tests skill practices role plays simulations group evaluations and other assessment tools A learning check is helpful to ensure that attendees have absorbed the meeting material or messages and know how to use or apply it properly It is also important at this level to determine the quantity and quality of new professional contacts acquired and whether existing professional contacts were strengthened due to the meeting. However, a positive measure at this level is no guarantee that what was learned or whether the professional contacts acquired will be used on the job. At Level 3 Job Applications, a variety of follow-up methods can be used to determine if attendees applied on the job, what they learned or acquired at the meeting. The frequency and use of skills are important measures at Level 3. While Level 3 evaluations are important to gauge the success of the meeting, it still does not guarantee that there will be a positive business impact in the organization or for the attendee. At Level 4 Business Results, the measurement focuses on the actual business results achieved by meeting participants as they successfully apply the meeting material or messages. Typical Level 4 measures include output, sales, quality, costs, time, and customer satisfaction. Although the meeting may produce a measurable business impact, there is still a concern that the meeting may cost too much. At Level 5 Return on Investment, this ultimate level of measurement compares the monetary benefits from the meeting with the fully loaded meeting costs as expressed in the ROI formula. All levels of evaluation must be conducted in order to determine the ROI of a meeting or event. The data collected should show a chain of impact occurring through the levels as the skills and knowledge learned at Level 2 are applied on the job, Level 3 to produce business results, Level 4.

Proceedings of the Fifth European Conference on Computer Supported Cooperative Work John Hughes, Wolfgang Prinz, Tom Rodden, K. Schmidt, 2013-04-17. The emergence of network facilities and the increased availability of personal computer systems over the last decade has seen the development of interest in the use of computers to support cooperative work. This volume presents the proceedings of the fifth European conference on Computer Supported Cooperative Work (CSCW). This is a multidisciplinary area which embraces both the development of new technologies and an understanding of the relationship between technology and society. This volume contains a collection of papers that encompass activities in the field. It includes papers addressing distributed virtual environments, the use of the Internet, studies of work and emerging models, theories and techniques to support the development of cooperative applications. The papers present emerging technologies alongside new methods and approaches to the development of this important class of applications. The work in this volume represents the best of the current research and practice within CSCW. The collection of papers presented here will appeal to both researchers and practitioners alike as they combine an understanding of the nature of work with the possibilities offered by new technologies.
