was to be closely allied with Matcham for a certain bachelor uncle had lately died and left him a small estate within a mile of the village a relative with whom Allan Carew had held slightest commune lunching or dining with him perhaps once in a summer at an old family hotel in Albemarle Street never honoured by so much as a hint at an invitation to his rural retreat and not cherishing any expectation of a legacy much less the bequest of all the gentleman's worldly possessions comprising a snug well built house in pretty and spacious grounds with good and ample stabling and with farms and homesteads covering something like fifteen hundred acres and producing an income of a little over two thousand a year It need hardly be stated that Allan Carew was not a poor man when this unexpected property fell into his lap The children of this world are rarely false to the gospel precept to every one which hath shall be given Allan's father had changed his name ten years before from Beresford to Carew upon his succession to a respectable estate in Suffolk an inheritance from his maternal grandfather old Squire Carew of Fendyke Hall Millfield Allan an only son was not by any means ill provided for when his maternal uncle Admiral the Honourable Allan Darnleigh took it into his head to leave him his Wiltshire property but this bequest raised him at once to independence and altogether dispensed with any further care about that gentleman like profession the Bar which had so far repaid Mr Carew's collegiate studies labours outlays and solicitude by fees amounting in all to seven pounds seven shillings which sum represented the gross earnings of three years So riding along the rustic high road in the clear morning air under a sapphire sky just gently flecked with fleecy cloudlets Allan Carew told himself that it was a blessed escape to have done with chambers and reading law and waiting for briefs and that it was a good thing to be a country gentleman to have his own house and his own stable not to be obliged to ride another man's horses even though that other man were his very father not to be told after every stiffish day across country that he had done for the grey or that the chestnut's legs had filled as never horse's legs filled before nor to hear any other reproachful utterances of an old and privileged stud groom who knew the horses he rode were not his own property Henceforth his stable would be his own kingdom and he would reign there absolute and unquestioned He could choose his own horses and they should be good ones He naturally shared the common creed of sons and looked upon all animals of his father's buying as screws and duffers His own stables would be something altogether different from the drowsy old stables at home where horses were kept and cherished because they were familiar friends rather than with a view to locomotion His stud and his stable should be as different as if horses and grooms had been bred upon another planet
