M.R. Ahuja, Wout Boerjan, David B. Neale, 2012-12-06 This proceedings is based on a joint meeting of the two IUFRO International Union of Forestry Research Organizations Working Parties Somatic Cell Genetics S2 04 07 and Molecular Genetics S2 04 06 held in Gent Belgium 26 30 September 1995 Although a joint meeting of the two Working Parties had been discussed in the past this was the first such meeting that became a successful reality In fact this meeting provided an excellent forum for discussions and interactions in forest biotechnology that encouraged the participants to vote for a next joint meeting In the past decade rapid progress has been made in the somatic cell genetics and molecular genetics of forest trees In order to cover recent developments in the broad area of biotechnology the scientific program of the meeting was divided into several sessions These included somatic embryogenesis regeneration transformation gene expression molecular markers genome mapping and biotic and abiotic stresses The regeneration of plants produced by organogenesis or somatic embryogenesis is necessary not only for mass cloning of forest trees but also for its application in genetic transformation and molecular biology Although micropropagation has been achieved from juvenile tissues in a number of forest tree species in vitro regeneration from mature trees remains a challenging problem in most hardwoods and conifers The mechanisms involved in the transition from juvenile to mature phase in woody plants are poorly understood This transition can now be investigated at the molecular level The Civil Engineer and Architect's Journal ,1847 Overland Monthly and The Out
