Occasional bar fights and assaults resulting in murder are rare there but a series of murders was sensational business Wiblin was working on her second master's degree shortly after the murders began She took to driving to the murder locations just for curiosity One of the victims Jenkin Jones lived in Granville and her husband knew him slightly Her husband was at the time a supervisor at the local vocational school at the time and often took tools to Jones for sharpening for the school Once he took their four year old son with him and Mr Jones asked Dan if he wanted to see how he sometimes slept in the shop Dan said yes and Mr Jones lay down on the cot there and his three dogs curled up around him Dan was fascinated Later Mr Jones was murdered as he sat watching TV in his living room and several of the dogs were also killed Wiblin couldn't get these crimes off her mind Newspapers said the murderers used the freeway to get to their victims and she would try to get that out of her mind as she traveled them When the arrest finally came one brother had been captured and the other had not The author and her husband learned that police and other officials had gathered at the State of Ohio Highway garage on their road just two miles away from Charles Lewingdon's house That put him about five miles from the author's home The book is a synopsis of the crimes the brothers' personal lives and the final capture of both men The brothers have since both died in prison

Simpson,2007-01-01 Lewis P Simpson towers among scholars of American literary studies as an intellectual historian of the South and American literary culture and a revered essayist His last book Imagining Our Time offers a wide ranging erudite and enlightening look at the culture of letters in American society Primarily through an examination of the works of some of the leading writers of the twentieth century many of whom Simpson knew intimately this final volume provides insight into the struggles and concerns unique to prominent American thinkers literary artists and critics contemporary to his own lifetime Often moving from an intriguing anecdote or recollection to a rigorous discussion of ideas Simpson's style is captivating He begins with speculation on Eric Voegelin's interest in Julien Benda's polemic La Trahison des Clercs and follows with thoughts on the declining faith in the university as an embodiment of humanistic letters and learning surveying the American Republic as far back as Benjamin

Franklin In successive chapters Simpson pays tribute to Malcolm Cowley as a hero of the literary art and probes Robert Penn Warren's fixation with Thomas Jefferson as manifested in the writing and complete rewriting of Brother to Dragons. He ruminates on the vocation of the critic as practiced by Lionel Trilling and Diana Trilling and the literary and cultural politics of the 1930s. Brief portraits of Andrew Lytle and Louis D. Rubin Jr. appear as well as a poignant argument for the autobiographical cast of Eudora Welty's writing. A lengthy riveting consideration of Simpson's friend Walker Percy and Percy's quest for identity as a modern Christian novelist alienated from the society around him forms the core of the volume. Fred Hobson's introduction fittingly rounds out Imagining Our Time offering an intimate appreciation of Lewis Simpson who will remain a giant among scholars of southern literary studies.
