Origins of an Experimental Society Erik Olssen, 2025-04-10 In this major work one of our leading historians offers a new account of the origins of New Zealand how Pakeha settlers a Better Britain While both experiments were first conceived by savants and philosophers they gained ongoing support by lodging in the hearts and minds of the settlers whalers and missionaries mothers and farmers In turn Maori adapted these new ideas to their own ends giving up slavery and inter tribal warfare and adapting the institutions of the colonisers in ways that would re define the experiments This then is an ethnography of tangata Pakeha a people of European descent changed by their encounters with tangata Maori and their land just as Maori were themselves changed and the story of the society they built together Ranging across intellectual and cultural history from the beach at Paihia to the coffee houses of Paris Olssen enables us to understand the origins of New Zealand anew A History of New Zealand Women Barbara Brookes, 2016-02-15 What would a history of New Zealand look like that rejected Thomas Carlyle's definition of history as the biography of great men and focused instead on the experiences of women One that shifted the angle of vision and examined the stages of this country's development from the points of view of wives daughters mothers grandmothers sisters and aunts That considered their lives as distinct from though often unwillingly influenced by those of history's great men In her ground breaking History of New Zealand Women Barbara Brookes provides just such a history This is more than an account of women in New Zealand from those who arrived on the first waka to the Grammy and Man Booker Prize winning young women of the current decade It is a comprehensive history of New Zealand seen through a female lens Brookes argues that while European men erected the political scaffolding to create a small nation women created the infrastructure necessary for colonial society to succeed Concepts of home marriage and family brought by settler women and integral to the developing state transformed the lives of M ori women The small scale of New Zealand society facilitated rapid change so that by the twenty first century women are no longer defined by family contexts In her long awaited book Barbara Brookes traces the factors that drove that change Her lively narrative draws on a wide variety of sources to map the importance in women s lives not just of legal and economic changes but of smaller joys such as the arrival of a piano from England or the freedom of riding a bicycle A Press Achieved Dennis McEldowney,2013-11-01 Written by a former managing editor who is also a distinguished writer this book charts the origins of the Auckland University Press up to its formal recognition in 1972 It provides a valuable document in the history of the book in New Zealand an intriguing view of university politics and administration and glimpses of New Zealand culture in the making The Turnbull Rachel Barrowman,1995 A history of the Alexander Turnbull Library P vi Empire, Education, and Indigenous Childhoods Helen May,Baljit Kaur,2016-05-06 Taking up a little known story of education schooling and missionary endeavor Helen May Baljit Kaur and Larry Prochner focus on the experiences of very young native children in three British colonies In missionary settlements across the northern part of the North Island of New Zealand Upper Canada and British controlled India experimental British ventures for placing young children of the poor in infant schools were simultaneously transported to and adopted for all three colonies From the 1820s to the 1850s this transplantation of Britain s infant schools to its distant colonies was deemed a radical and enlightened tool that was meant to hasten the conversion of heathen peoples by missionaries to Christianity and to European modes of civilization The intertwined legacies of European exploration enlightenment ideals education and empire building the authors argue provided a springboard for British colonial and missionary activity across the globe during the nineteenth century Informed by archival research and focused on the shared as well as unique aspects of the infant schools colonial experience Empire Education and Indigenous Childhoods illuminates both the pervasiveness of missionary education and the diverse contexts in which its attendant ideals were applied The New Zealand Journal of History ,1996 Maori Music Mervyn McLean,2013-10-01 This book is the best introduction available to Maori music the instruments played the songs and dance styles and what they were used for performance composition teaching etc Based on 30 years of fieldwork that yielded 1300 recorded songs and hundred of pages of interviews and eyewitness accounts this is a classic book Colonial Constructs Leonard Bell,2013-11-01 How did the European settler perceive M ori What images of M ori society and culture did European artists create for their distant audiences What preconceptions and aesthetic models lay behind early European depictions of M ori These are some of the questions explored by art historian Leonard Bell in this major study of the relationship between the visual representation of M ori and the ideology of colonialism He explores the complex and unbalanced cultural interchange between Europeans and M ori in nineteenth century New Zealand in addition to showing how the great range and variety of pictures often revealed more about the artists and their society and its attitudes than they did about M ori themselves This lively and readable book is well illustrated with examples of the artists work and will be an important contribution to the understanding of colonial New Zealand and the role played by the artist in expressing and creating cultural patterns The Turnbull Library
