J. C. F. Fijnaut, Johan Goethals, 1995 In 1994 the School of Criminology a part of the Department of Criminal Law Criminal Procedure and Criminology in the Faculty of Law of the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven celebrated the 25th anniversary of its study programme To give added lustre to this landmark in its history the Institute accepted the invitation from the International Society of Criminology to organise the 49th International Course of Criminology The title of the course was Changes in Society Crime and Criminal Justice in Europe A challenge for criminological education and research This course explored two themes both of which are likely to be the focus of debate in criminal policy in the near future crime and insecurity in the city and international organised and corporate crime The presentation and discussion of both themes followed two main approaches Lectures and seminars focused on the analysis of the nature the quantity and the development of the phenomena and meetings were focused on the policy needed to gain control of these phenomena Moreover attention was paid to technical and ethical problems which show up at the moment that empirical research is carried out This publication brings together the main part of the introductory lectures Part one relates to the theme of crime and insecurity in the city the second part contains the lectures on international organised and corporate crime Together both parts present a good picture of what was explained and commented on during the Course especially in relation to important European developments concerning crime criminal justice and criminal policy This book will become an important source of inspiration for both criminological education and research

Crime Prevention in the Urban Community Koichi Miyazawa, Setsuo Miyazawa, 2023-09-20 One of today's most pressing issues in criminology and crime prevention is the problem of crime in our cities and towns and its prevention The topic of crime prevention in the Urban Community was discussed at the 47th International Course of the International Society for Criminology ISC held at Chuo University Tokyo It was the very first time such an ISC meeting was held in Asia and this meant that finally a relatively large number of Japanese and other Asian participants were able to express their views on criminal policy and crime prevention in urban centres all over the world Crime in urban communities is not an exclusively Western phenomenon but it is also a considerable problem in other parts of the world This makes an interchange of ideas between Western Eastern and Third World criminologists particularly important General characteristics of the urban communities that suffer from a high crime rate are ethnic and racial tensions a mix of old housing areas and new business districts a prevailing sense of anonymity slums and juvenile delinquency The existence of these general characteristics besides mutual differences makes cooperation in the crime prevention sphere definitely worth the effort

Pockets of Crime Peter K. B. St. Jean, 2008-09-15 Why even in the same high crime neighborhoods do robbery drug dealing and assault occur much more frequently on some blocks than on others One popular theory is that a weak sense of community among neighbors can create conditions more hospitable for criminals and another proposes that neighborhood disorder such as broken windows and boarded up buildings makes crime more likely But in his innovative new study Peter K B St Jean argues that we cannot fully understand the impact of these factors without considering that because urban space is unevenly developed different kinds of crimes occur most often in locations that offer their perpetrators specific advantages Drawing on Chicago Police Department statistics and extensive interviews with both law abiding citizens and criminals in one of the city's highest crime areas St Jean demonstrates that drug dealers and robbers for example are primarily attracted to locations with businesses like liquor stores fast food restaurants and check cashing outlets By accounting for these important factors of spatial positioning he expands upon previous research to provide the most comprehensive explanation available of why crime occurs where it does

Crime, Justice and Retribution in the American West, 1850-1900 Jeremy Agnew, 2017-03-31 Western movies are full of images of swaggering outlaws brought to justice by valiant lawmen shooting them down in daring gunfights before riding off into the sunset In reality it would not have happened that way Real lawmen did not simply walk away from a gunfight they had to face the legal system and justify shooting a civilian in the line of duty Providing a more realistic view of criminal justice in the Old West this history focuses on how criminals came into conflict with the law and how the law responded The process is described in detail from the common crimes of the day such as train robbery and cattle theft to the methods of apprehending criminals to their adjudication and punishment by incarceration flogging or hanging The Reinvention of Policing William R. Kelly, Daniel P.

Mears, 2023-07-03 Written in an accessible style this book provides a historically grounded critique of American policing and offers implementable solutions providing students a comprehensive understanding of modern policing Contemporary policing is in crisis a situation that has led to persistent calls to reform it Unfortunately many proposed solutions focus on piecemeal changes that ignore a fundamental problem policing relies on a largely reactive approach that does not in any systematic or comprehensive way focus on crime prevention Most of what the police do such as responding to 911 calls for service and employing directed patrols or hot spots policing fails to address the causes of crime Compounding this problem is the absence of any institution or agency charged with prioritizing the prevention of crime and for ensuring that police efforts support this goal A central distinguishing feature of this book is its comprehensive approach and the emphasis on policing as part of a much broader set of changes that must occur both to improve policing and to improve public safety and justice This approach includes retaining what works eliminating what does not drawing on evidence based policy from around the world and creating systemic changes that institutionalize better policing accountability and evaluation processes for ensuring that the police are effective The Reinvention of Policing can be used in courses focused on policing policy and practice specifically when discussing the nature of policing how policing may reflect and contribute to inequality and injustice or how it might improve these social problems Ethnicity, Race, and Crime Darnell F. Hawkins, 1995-02-16 This book examines both historical and contemporary patterns of crime and justice among white ethnics and nonwhite racial groups in the United States Researchers have long noted that rates of reported crime and punishment are higher for some ethnic and racial groups in the U S than for others Comparatively high rates of crime have been reported for white ethnic Americans during the past and some groups of racial minorities today These observations have prompted much public debate and acrimony but surprisingly little research Contributors include Thomas A Regulus Joan McCord M Craig Brown and Barbara D Warner Eric Monkkonen E M Beck and Stewart E Tolnay Martha A Myers Gary LaFree Robert D Crutchfield Dorothy Lockwood Anne E Pottieger and James A Inciardi William Chambliss Coramae Richey Mann Theodore G Chiricos and Charles Crawford Zoann Snyder Joy Roland Chilton Raymond Teske and Harald Arnold Pamela Irving Jackson and Darnell F Hawkins Some Notes on Negro Crime, Particularly in Georgia William Edward Burghardt Du Bois, 1904 Kenya National Assembly Official
