painter Nine years later after a stock market crash he felt confident of his ability to earn a living for his family by painting and he resigned his position and took up the painter's brush full time Following the lead of Cézanne Gauguin painted still lifes from the very beginning of his artistic career He even owned a still life by Cézanne which is shown in Gauguin's painting Portrait of Marie Lagadu The year 1891 was crucial for Gauguin In that year he left France for Tahiti where he stayed till 1893 This stay in Tahiti determined his future life and career for in 1895 after a sojourn in France he returned there for good In Tahiti Gauguin discovered primitive art with its flat forms and violent colours belonging to an untamed nature With absolute sincerity he transferred them onto his canvas His paintings from then on reflected this style a radical simplification of drawing brilliant pure bright colours an ornamental type composition and a deliberate flatness of planes Gauguin termed this style synthetic symbolism

Potential Images Dario Gamboni, 2002 In Potential Images Dario Gamboni explores ambiguity in modern art considering images that rely to a great degree on a projected or imaginative response from viewers to achieve their effect Ambiguity became increasingly important in late 19th and early 20th century aesthetics as is evidenced in works by such artists as Redon Cezanne Gauguin Ensor and the Nabis Similarly the Cubists subverted traditional representational conventions requiring their viewers to decipher images to extract their full meanings The same device was taken up in the various experiments leading to abstraction For example it was Kandinsky's intention that his work could be interpreted in both figurative and non figurative ways and Duchamp's Readymades suggested the radical conclusion that it is the beholder who makes the picture These invitations to viewers to participate in the process of artistic communication had social and political implications as they accorded artist and beholder symmetrical almost interchangeable roles

Kornhauser,Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art,Wadsworth Atheneum,2001-01-01 Shortly before Gauguin made his first Tahitian journey in 1891 he spent nearly two years in the remote Breton fishing village of Le Pouldu Seeking creative isolation in a primitive setting he pursued his art accompanied by several followers One of them was the Dutch painter Meyer de Haan who was able to pay the living expenses in Le Pouldu and was also knowledgeable in literary and philosophical matters that fascinated Gauguin Their association resulted in some of Gauguin s most remarkable works including the Wadsworth Atheneum s symbolist portrait of de Haan inscribed Nirvana This and the rich variety of paintings and sculpture by Gauguin produced in 1889-90 are the focus of this beautiful book. Gauguin and de Haan settled into an inn at Le Pouldu run by an attractive unwed mother named Marie Henry who began a liaison with de Haan despite the fact that he was a sickly hunchback. The intensity of relations between Gauguin and de Haan is reflected in many of the works including frescoes which they installed in the inn. Gauguin's time in Le Pouldu was crucial to the advancement of his art and the vivid Breton subjects and personality of Meyer de Haan remained in his imagination to reappear even during his later Tahitian period. In this book several distinguished experts draw on previously unavailable sources to examine in depth the history of this period, Gauguin's relationship with de Haan, their interest in religion and exotic cultures and the meaning of the many innovative symbolist works they produced.

The Private Collection of Edgar Degas Julie A. Steiner, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1997. The art collection assembled by Edgar Degas was remarkable not only for its quality, size and depth but also for its revelation of Degas's artistic affinities. He acquired great numbers of works by the nineteenth-century French masters Ingres, Delacroix and Daumier; he bought or bartered his own pictures for art by many of his contemporaries, particularly Manet, Cézanne, Gauguin and Cassatt; and he acquired works by a wide range of other artists from eminent to little known. The extent of Degas's holdings was not recognized until after his death when the collection came up for auction in Paris in 1918 and in what was called the sale of the century was widely dispersed. Extensive research has made it possible to reassemble that collection in book form. This summary catalogue contains information on the more than five thousand works owned by Degas. For each work catalogued, the entry includes to the extent possible a description with medium and dimensions, provenance information about Degas's acquisition and ownership of the work, information pertaining to the sale of the work in 1918 or its disposal earlier, including the purchaser, purchase price and other data, the current location, selected references and an illustration. In a concordance, collection sale lot numbers are listed with their corresponding summary catalogue numbers. This catalogue and its companion volume of essays are published in conjunction with the exhibition The Private Collection of Edgar Degas held at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, from October 1, 1997, to January 11, 1998.
