Sea Changes Historicizing The Ocean:

Sea Changes Bernhard Klein, Gesa Mackenthun, 2004 The sea has been the site of radical changes in human lives and national histories It has been an agent of colonial oppression but also of indigenous resistance a site of loss dispersal and enforced migration but also of new forms of solidarity and affective kinship Sea Changes re evaluates the view that history happens mainly on dry land and makes the case for a creative reinterpretation of the role of the sea not merely as a passage from one country to the next but a historical site deserving close study "Framing the Ocean, 1700 to the Present " Tricia Cusack, 2017-07-05 Before the eighteenth century the ocean was regarded as a repulsive and chaotic deep Despite reinvention as a zone of wonder and pleasure it continued to be viewed in the West and elsewhere as uninhabited empty space This collection spanning the eighteenth century to the present recasts the ocean as social space with particular reference to visual representations Part I focuses on mappings and crossings showing how the ocean may function as a liminal space between places and cultures but also connects and imbricates them Part II considers ships as microcosmic societies shaped for example by the purpose of the voyage the mores of shipboard life and cross cultural encounters Part III analyses narratives accreted to wrecks and rafts what has sunk or floats perilously and discusses attempts to recuperate plastic flotsam Part IV plumbs ocean depths to consider how underwater creatures have been depicted in relation to emergent disciplines of natural history and museology how mermaids have been reimaged as a metaphor of feminist transformation and how the symbolism of coral is deployed by contemporary artists This engaging and erudite volume will interest a range of scholars in humanities and social sciences including art and cultural historians cultural geographers and historians of empire travel and tourism The Geography of the Ocean Anne-Flore Laloë, 2016-04-14 Despite the fact that the vast majority of the earth's surface is made up of oceans there has been surprisingly little work by geographers which critically examines the ocean space and our knowledge and perceptions of it This book employs a broad conceptual and methodological framework to analyse specific events that have contributed to the production of geographical knowledge about the ocean These include but are not limited to Christopher Columbus first transatlantic journey the mapping of nonexistent islands the establishment of transoceanic trade routes the discovery of largescale water movements the HMS Challenger expedition the search for the elusive Terra Australis Incognita the formulation of the theory of continental drift and the mapping of the seabed Using a combination of original empirical archival material and cartographic and theoretical sources this book uniquely brings together fascinating narratives throughout history to produce a representation and mapping of geographical oceanic knowledge It questions how we know what we know about the oceans and how this knowledge is represented and mapped The book then uses this representation and mapping as a way to coherently trace the evolution of oceanic spatial awareness In recent years particularly in historical geography discovering and knowing the ocean space has been a completely separate enterprise from discovering and colonising the lands beyond it There has been such focus on studying colonised lands yet the oceans between them have been neglected This book gives the geographical ocean a voice to be acknowledged as a space where history geography and indeed historical geography took place A

Companion to Global Historical Thought Prasenjit Duara,Viren Murthy,Andrew Sartori,2014-01-21 A COMPANION TO GLOBAL HISTORICAL THOUGHT A Companion to Global Historical Thought provides an overview of the development of historical thinking from the earliest times to the present directly addressing issues of historiography in a globalized context Questions concerning the global dissemination of historical writing and the relationship between historiography and other ways of representing the past have become important not only in the academic study of history but also in public arenas in many countries With contributions from leading international scholars the book considers the problem of the global in the multiplicity of traditions of narrating the past in the global dissemination of modern historical writing and of the global as a concept animating historical imaginations It explores the different intellectual approaches that have shaped the discipline of history and the challenges posed by modernity and globalization while illustrating the shifts in thinking about time and the emergence of historical thought Complementing A Companion to Western Historical Thought this book places non Western perspectives on historiography at the center of discussion helping scholars and students alike make sense of the discipline at the start of the twenty first century The Novel and the Sea Margaret Cohen,2021-06-08 For a century the history of the novel has been written in terms of nations and territories the English novel the French novel the American novel But what if novels were viewed in terms of the seas that unite these different lands Examining works across two centuries The Novel and the Sea recounts the novel s rise told from the perspective of the ship s deck and the allure of the oceans in the modern cultural imagination Margaret Cohen moors the novel to overseas exploration and work at sea framing its emergence as a transatlantic history steeped in the adventures and risks of the maritime frontier Cohen explores how Robinson Crusoe competed with the best selling nautical literature of the time by dramatizing remarkable conditions from the wonders of unknown lands to storms shipwrecks and pirates She considers James Fenimore Cooper s refashioning of the adventure novel in postcolonial America and a change in literary poetics toward new frontiers and to the maritime labor and technology of the nineteenth century Cohen shows how Jules Verne reworked adventures at sea into science fiction how Melville Hugo and Conrad navigated the foggy waters of language and thought and how detective and spy fiction built on sea fiction s problem solving devices She also discusses the transformation of the ocean from a theater of skilled work to an environment of pristine nature and the sublime A significant literary history The Novel and the Sea challenges readers to rethink their land locked assumptions about the novel Transoceanic Perspectives in Amitav Ghosh's Ibis Trilogy Juan-José

Martín-González,2021-06-23 Transoceanic Perspectives in Amitav Ghosh s Ibis Trilogy studies Ghosh s Sea of Poppies 2008 River of Smoke 2011 and Flood of Fire 2015 in relation to maritime criticism Juan Jos Mart n Gonz lez draws upon the intersections between maritime criticism and postcolonial thought to provide via an analysis of the Ibis trilogy alternative insights into nationalism's cosmopolitanism and globalization. He shows that the Victorian age in its transoceanic dimension can be read as an era of proto globalization that facilitates a materialist critique of the inequities of contemporary global neo liberalism. The book argues that in order to maintain its critical sharpness postcolonialism must re direct its focus towards today's most obvious legacy of nineteenth century imperialism: capitalist globalization. Tracing the migrating characters who engage in transoceanic crossings through Victorian sea lanes in the Ibis trilogy, Mart n Gonz lez explores how these dispossessed collectives made sense of their identities in the Victorian waterworlds and illustrates the political possibilities provided by the sea crossing and its fluid boundaries.

Sea Narratives: Cultural Responses to the Sea, 1600-Present

Charlotte Mathieson, 2016-06-07. Sea Narratives: Cultural Responses to the Sea 1600-Present explores the relationship between the sea and culture from the early modern period to the present. The collection uses the concept of the sea narrative as a lens through which to consider the multiple ways in which the sea has shaped, challenged, and expanded modes of cultural representation to produce varied, contested, and provocative chronicles of the sea across a variety of cultural forms within diverse socio-cultural moments. Sea Narratives provides a unique perspective on the relationship between the sea and cultural production; it reveals the sea to be more than simply a source of creative inspiration, instead showing how the sea has had a demonstrable effect on new modes and forms of narration across the cultural sphere and, in turn, how these forms have been essential in shaping socio-cultural understandings of the sea. The result is an incisive exploration of the sea's force as a cultural presence.

A Plural Peninsula: Studies in Honour of Professor Simon Barton, 2023-10-20. A Plural Peninsula embodies and upholds Professor Simon Barton's influential scholarly legacy, eschewing rigid disciplinary boundaries. Focusing on textual, archaeological, visual, and material culture, the sixteen studies in this volume offer new and important insights into the historical socio-political and cultural dynamics characterising different yet interconnected areas within Iberia and the Mediterranean. The structural themes of this volume—the creation and manipulation of historical, historiographical, and emotional narratives; changes and continuity in patterns of exchange; cross-fertilisation and the recovery of tradition; and the management of conflict, crisis, power, and authority—are also particularly relevant for the postmedieval period within and beyond Iberia. A World at Sea, Lauren Benton, Nathan Perl-Rosenthal, 2020-10-09. The past twenty-five years have brought a dramatic expansion of scholarship in maritime history, including new research on piracy, long-distance trade, and seafaring cultures. Yet maritime history still inhabits an isolated corner of world history, according to editors Lauren Benton and Nathan Perl-Rosenthal. Benton and Perl-Rosenthal urge historians to place the relationship between maritime and terrestrial processes at the center of the field and to analyze the links between global maritime practices and major transformations in world history A World at Sea consists of nine original essays that sharpen and expand our understanding of practices and processes across the land sea divide and the way they influenced global change The first section highlights the regulatory order of the seas as shaped by strategies of land based polities and their agents and by conflicts at sea The second section studies documentary practices that aggregated and conveyed information about sea voyages and encounters and it traces the wide ranging impact of the explosion of new information about the maritime world Probing the political symbolism of the land sea divide as a threshold of power the last section features essays that examine the relationship between littoral geographies and sociolegal practices spanning land and sea Maritime history the contributors show matters because the oceans were key sites of experimentation innovation and disruption that reflected and sparked wide ranging global change Contributors Lauren Benton Adam Clulow Xing Hang David Igler Jeppe Mulich Lisa Norling Nathan Perl Rosenthal Carla Rahn Phillips Catherine Phipps Matthew Raffety Margaret Schotte

The Sea and International Relations Benjamin de Carvalho, Harvard Leira, 2022-07-26 While the world's oceans cover more than seventy percent of its surface the sea has largely vanished as an object of enquiry in International Relations IR being treated either as a corollary of land or as time Yet the sea is the quintessential international space and its importance to global politics has become all the more obvious in recent years Drawing on interdisciplinary insights from IR Historical Sociology Blue Humanities and Critical Ocean Studies The sea and International Relations breaks with this trend of oceanic amnesia and kickstarts a theoretical conceptual and empirical discussion about the sea and IR by highlighting theoretical puzzles analysing broad historical perspectives and addressing contemporary challenges In bringing the sea back into IR the book reconceptualises the canvas of international relations to include the oceans as a social political economic and military space which affects the workings of world politics

Shakespeare, the Sea and the Stage Peter Womack, 2025-02-28 The sea for Shakespeare is both a location and a metaphor and either way it affords him an extraordinary freedom of invention releasing whatever in the plays is vast fluid and unceasing It is also a defining element of his historical context he lived and worked a few yards from one of the great maritime rivers of the world and for much of his career England was engaged in a naval war with Spain So the Shakespearean sea invites two distinct perspectives poetics and history the conventional literary symbol and the contingent economic struggle This book embraces both of them together tracing the intricate connections between them and showing how they meet above all on the stage It was in the Elizabethan playhouse that commercial enterprise physical confinement and boundless rhetoric interacted to generate an imaginative energy whose waves can still be felt

Building the Atlantic Empires: Unfree Labor and Imperial States in the Political Economy of Capitalism, ca. 1500-1914, 2015-10-14 Building the Atlantic Empires explores the relationship between state recruitment of unfree labor and capitalist and imperial development Contributors show Western European states as agents of capitalist expansion imposing diverse forms of bondage on workers for infrastructural plantation and military labor Extending the prolific literature on racial slavery these essays help transcend imperial colonial geographic and historiographic boundaries through comparative insights into multiple forms and ideologies of unfree labor as they evolved over the course of four centuries in the Dutch French English Spanish and Portuguese empires The book raises new questions for scholars seeking connections between the history of servitude and slavery and the ways in which capitalism and imperialism transformed the Atlantic world and beyond Contributors are Pepijn Brandon Rafael Chambouleyron James Coltrain John Donoghue Karwan Fatah Black Elizabeth Heath Evelyn P Jennings and Anna Suranyi With a foreword by Peter Way
