Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths, Helen Tiffin, 2013-06-26 This hugely popular A Z guide provides a comprehensive overview of the issues which characterize post colonialism explaining what it is where it is encountered and the crucial part it plays in debates about race gender politics language and identity For this third edition over thirty new entries have been added including Cosmopolitanism Development Fundamentalism Nostalgia Post colonial cinema Sustainability Trafficking World Englishes Post Colonial Studies The Key Concepts remains an essential guide for anyone studying this vibrant field Black Girls Sabrina Marchetti, 2014-06-26 In today's Europe migrant domestic workers are indispensable in supporting many households which without their employment would lack sufficient domestic and care labour Black Girls collects and explores the stories of some of the first among these workers They are the Afro Surinamese and the Eritrean women who in the 1960s and 70s migrated to the former colonising country the Netherlands and Italy respectively and there became domestic and care workers Sabrina Marchetti analyses the narratives of some of these women in order to powerfully demonstrate how the legacies of the colonial past have been at the same time both their tool of resistance and the reason for their subordination

The Political Economy of a Plural World Robert W. Cox, Michael G. Schechter, 2003-08-29 Building on his seminal contributions to the field Robert W Cox engages with the major themes that have characterized his work over the past three decades and the main topics which affect the globalized world at the start of the twentieth century This new volume by one of the world's leading critical thinkers in international political economy addresses such core issues as global civil society power and knowledge the covert world multilateralism and civilizations and world order With an introductory essay by Michael Schechter which addresses current critiques of Coxian theory the author enters into a stimulating dialogue with critics of his work Timely provocative and original this book is a major contribution to international political economy and is essential reading for all students and academics in the field Unveiling Traditions Anouar Majid, 2000-11-29 Questions the intellectual assumptions that prevent an understanding of potential Islamic contributions toward a more egalitarian world civilization Cimboa, 1996 Revista caboverdiana de letras artes e estudos a journal of letters arts and studies Across Cultural Borders Eckhardt Fuchs, Benedikt Stuchtey, 2002 This innovative work offers the first comprehensive transcultural history of historiography The contributors transcend a Eurocentric approach not only in terms of the individual historiographies they assess but also in the methodologies they use for comparative analysis Moving beyond the traditional national focus of historiography the book offers a genuinely comparative consideration of the commonalities and differences in writing history Distinguishing among distinct cultural identities the contributors consider the ways and means of intellectual transfers and assess the strength of local historiographical traditions as they are challenged from outside The essays explore the question of the utility and the limits of conceptions of modernism that apply Western theories of development to non Western cultures Warning against the dominant tendency in recent historiographies of non Western societies to define these predominantly in relation to Western thought the authors show the extent to which indigenous traditions have been overlooked The key question is how the triad of industrialization modernization and the historicization process which was decisive in the development of modern academic historiography also is valid beyond Europe Illustrating just how deeply suffused history writing is with European models the book offers a broad theoretical platform for exploring the value and necessity of a world historiography beyond Eurocentrism Savage Constructions Wendy C. Hamblet, 2008-03-26 Savage Constructions composes a critical examination of the popular assumption that violence is an essential quality of certain ethnic or racial populations Wendy Hamblet challenges the supposition all too common in the West that darker skinned peoples are inherently violent To challenge this myth Savage Constructions offers a theory of subjectivity transformed by historical violence It rethinks how African peoples once living in simple neighborly communities more democratic and egalitarian than modern states have come to the condition of abjection misery and fierce aggression in which we find them today This rethinking she argues that Western affluence is built upon slaughter slavery and colonial oppression and suggests that prosperous nations of the West owe a great debt to the societies they trampled en route to their prosperity This work is important because Newly independent nations of Africa are a primary example of a much vaster phenomenon Western powers continue to sack poorer weaker countries through covert intrigue outright war crippling debts and unfair global labor and trade policies The violences continue because many Westerners still harbor metaphysical assumptions about the supremacy of white Christians over less civilized darker skinned peoples These assumptions depress the possibilities of ethnic minorities within the West continue to influence foreign policy and frustrate global relations and ensure that the overwhelming collateral damage of modern wars is color conscious Savage Constructions will appeal to all levels of scholars and students The Chinua Achebe Encyclopedia M. Keith Booker, 2003-12-30 Several hundred A Z

Beyond the Political Spider, 2023-01-10 Beyond the Political Spider: Critical Issues in African Humanities by Kwesi Yankah is the first title in the newly established African Humanities Association (AHA) publication series. By integrating his own biography into a critique of the global politics of knowledge production, Yankah, through a collection of essays, interrogates critical issues confronting the Humanities that spawn intellectual hegemonies and muffle African voices. Using the example of Ghana, he brings under scrutiny, amongst others, endemic issues of academic freedom, gender inequities, the unequal global academic order, and linguistic imperialism in language policies in governance. In the face of these challenges, the author deftly navigates the complex terrain of indigenous knowledge and language in the context of democratic politics, demonstrating that agency can be liberatory when emphasising indigenous knowledge, especially expressed through the idiom of local languages and symbols, including Ananse, the protean spider folk hero in Ghana and most parts of the pan-African world.

Making Good the Claim, Rufus Burrow, 2016-02-16 The Church of God Reformation Movement, founded in 1881, has the distinction of having been founded on the two core principles of holiness and visible unity. Standard histories of the group proudly argue that the founder and pioneers exhibited a zeal for interracial unity that began to wane only in the early years of the twentieth century. This book rejects that claim and argues, instead, that little to no extant hard evidence supports that view. Moreover, Making Good the Claim argues that while blacks eagerly joined the group, they did so not because whites expended much energy evangelizing among them, but because they heard something deeper in the message of holiness and visible unity than God's expectation that members achieve spiritual and church unity. Unlike most whites blacks interpreted the message to call for unity along racial lines as well This book challenges members of the Church of God to begin forthwith to make good their historic claim about holiness and visible unity particularly as it applies to interracial unity
