International Handbook of Internet Research Jeremy Hunsinger, Lisbeth Klastrup, Matthew Allen, 2010-06-17 Internet research spans many disciplines From the computer or information s ences through engineering and to social sciences humanities and the arts almost all of our disciplines have made contributions to internet research whether in the effort to understand the effect of the internet on their area of study or to investigate the social and political changes related to the internet or to design and develop software and hardware for the network The possibility and extent of contributions of internet research vary across disciplines as do the purposes methods and outcomes Even the epistemological underpinnings differ widely The internet then does not have a discipline of study for itself It is a field for research Baym 2005 an open environment that simultaneously supports many approaches and techniques not otherwise commensurable with each other There are of course some inhibitions that limit explorations in this field research ethics disciplinary conventions local and national norms customs laws borders and so on Yet these limits on the internet as a field for research have not prevented the

,1997 Multiobjective Heuristic Search Pallab Dasgupta, P. P. Chakrabarti, S. C. DeSarkar, 2013-11-11 A large number of problems require the optimization of multiple criteria. These criteria are often non commensurate and sometimes conflicting in nature making the task of optimization more difficult. In such problems the task of creating a combined optimization function is often not easy. Moreover the decision procedure can be affected by the sensitivity of the solution space and the trade off is often non linear. In real life we traditionally handle such problems by suggesting not one but several non dominated solutions. Finding a set of non dominated solutions is also useful in multistaged optimization problems where the solution of one stage of optimization is passed on to the next stage. One classic example is that of circuit design where high level synthesis logic synthesis and layout synthesis comprise important stages of optimization of the circuit Passing a set of non dominated partial solutions from one stage to the next typically ensures better global optimization This book presents a new approach to multi criteria optimization based on heuristic search techniques Classical multicriteria optimization techniques rely on single criteria optimization algorithms and hence we are either required to optimize one criterion at a time under constraints on the others or we are asked for a single scalar combined optimization function On the other hand the multiobjective search approach maps each optimization criterion onto a distinct dimension of a vector valued cost structure
