Marine Wildlife and Tourism Management James E. S. Higham, Michael Lück, 2008 This book seeks to underscore the need for scientific approaches to first understanding and then managing tourist interactions with marine wildlife It draws upon the work of leading natural and social scientists whose work serves the interests of sustainable wildlife based marine tourism Thus from within the natural science disciplines of marine biology environmental science behavioural ecology conservation biology and wildlife management come chapters that provide insights into the effects of human disturbance on marine wildlife the impacts that tourists may have upon wild animals and the management approaches to mitigating impacts that may in the long term be biologically significant Equally from the social science disciplines of geography sociology management and social anthropology are drawn chapters that explore demand for marine wildlife experiences the benefits that visitors derive from their experiences ethical and legislative contexts and management issues that arise when tourists interact with populations of wild animals in coastal and marine environments

A History of New Zealand Women

Barbara Brookes, 2016-02-15 What would a history of New Zealand look like that rejected Thomas Carlyle's definition of history as the biography of great men and focused instead on the experiences of women One that shifted the angle of vision and examined the stages of this country's development from the points of view of wives daughters mothers grandmothers sisters and aunts That considered their lives as distinct from though often unwillingly influenced by those of history's great men In her ground breaking History of New Zealand Women Barbara Brookes provides just such a history This is more than an account of women in New Zealand from those who arrived on the first waka to the Grammy and Man Booker Prize winning young women of the current decade It is a comprehensive history of New Zealand seen through a female lens Brookes argues that while European men erected the political scaffolding to create a small nation women created the infrastructure necessary for colonial society to succeed Concepts of home marriage and family brought by settler women and integral to the developing state transformed the lives of M ori women The small scale of New Zealand society facilitated rapid change so that by the twenty first century women are no longer defined by family contexts In her long awaited book Barbara Brookes traces the factors that drove that change Her lively narrative draws on a wide variety of sources to map the importance in women's lives not just of legal and economic changes but of smaller joys such as the arrival of a piano from England or the freedom of riding a bicycle

Marine Conservation

Bob Earll, 2018-10-08 In the last 50 years marine conservation has grown from almost nothing to become a major topic of global activity involving many people and organisations Marine conservation activities have been applied to a huge diversity of species habitats ecosystems and whole seas Many marine conservation actions have focused on human impacts on the marine environment from development and pollution to the impacts of fisheries Whilst science has provided the backbone of thinking on marine conservation perhaps the biggest change over this period has been the use of an ever increasing range of techniques and disciplines to further marine conservation ends Bob Earll explores what marine conservation involves in practice by providing a synthesis of the main developments from the viewpoints of 19 leading practitioners and pioneers who have helped shape its progress and successes Their narratives highlight the diversity and richness of activity and the realities of delivering marine conservation in practice with reference to a host of projects and case studies Many of these narratives demonstrate how innovative conservationists have been often developing novel approaches to problems where little information and no frameworks exist The case studies described are based on a wide range of European and international projects This book takes an in depth look at the reality of delivering marine conservation in practice where achieving change is often a complicated process with barriers to overcome that have nothing to do with science Marine conservationists will often be working with stakeholders for whom marine conservation is not a priority This book aims to help readers describe and understand those realities and shows that successful and inspirational projects can be delivered against the odds The Australasian Insurance & Banking Record, 1923 The New Zealand Descriptive Animal Dictionary Malcolm Foord, 1990 Auckland and around (Rough Guides Snapshot New Zealand) Rough Guides, 2015-10-05 The Rough Guide Snapshot to Auckland and around is the ultimate travel guide to New Zealand's biggest city It leads you through the city and its surroundings with reliable information and comprehensive coverage of all the sights and attractions from the Auckland Art Gallery and Otara Market to hiking in the Waitakere Ranges and chilling out on Great Barrier Island Detailed maps and up to date listings pinpoint the best cafés restaurants hotels shops bars and nightlife ensuring you make the most of your trip whether passing through staying for the weekend or longer The Rough Guide Snapshot to Auckland and around also covers the top places to visit beyond the city including the Waitakere Ranges Karekare Piha Wenderholm Regional Park the Firth of Thames Rangitoto Island Great Barrier Island and Tiritiri Matangi Also included is the basics section from The Rough Guide to New Zealand with all the practical information you need for travelling in and around Auckland including transport food drink costs and health Also published as part of The Rough Guide to New Zealand The Rough Guide Snapshot to Auckland and around is equivalent to 112 printed pages International Cable Directory of the World, in Conjunction with Western Union Telegraphic Code System International Cable Directory Company, 1908 Journal of the Royal Society of New Zealand, 1986-12 The Emerging Politics of Antarctica Anne-Marie Brady, 2013 This book examines the post Cold War challenges facing Antarctic governance It seeks to understand the interests of new players in Antarctic affairs such as China India Korea and Malaysia and how other key players such as Russia and the USA or claimant states such as New Zealand or France are coping in the new global order Antarctica is the world's fifth largest continent and its territories are claimed by seven different states Since 1961 Antarctica has been managed under the Antarctic Treaty System ATS a regime which according to its critics by the terms of its membership effectively excludes most of the nations of the world This book examines the post Cold War challenges facing Antarctic governance and is organized thematically into three sections Part 1 considers the role of Antarctic politics in the current post Cold War post colonial era and the impact this new political environment is having on the ATS Part 2 looks at the competing foreign policy objectives of a representative range of countries with Antarctic activities Part 3 examines issues that have the potential to destabilise the order of the Antarctic Treaty System such as unrestricted tourism and new advances in science and technology The Emerging Politics of Antarctica will be of interest to students and scholars of international politics polar studies and foreign policy studies Science and Sensibility Michael Vincent McGinnis, 2016-03-22 If humans are to understand and discover ways of addressing complex social and ecological problems we first need to find intimacy with our particular places and communities Cultivating a relationship to place often includes a negotiating process that involves both science and sensibility While science is one key part of an adaptive and resilient society the cultivation of a renewed sense of place and community is essential as well Science and Sensibility argues for the need for ecology to engage with philosophical values and economic motivations in a political process of negotiation with the goal of shaping humans treatment of the natural world Michael Vincent McGinnis aims to reframe ecology so it might have greater trans scientific awareness of the roles and interactions among multiple stakeholders in socioecological systems and he also maintains that deep ecological knowledge of specific places will be crucial to supporting a sustainable society He uses numerous specific case studies from watershed coastal and marine habitats to illustrate how place based ecological negotiation can occur and how reframing our negotiation process can influence conservation restoration and environmental policy in effective ways

Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliiana Cicin-Sain,David Vanderzwaag,Miriam C. Balgos,2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world presents in depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean such as shipping fishing oil and gas development in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated precautionary and anticipatory Overall the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world
