Seattle Green Jane Adams, 1989-01-01      Seattle Green Jane Adams, 2001-06-24 When the steamer Continental sails into Puget Sound in the spring of 1866 it carries a precious cargo mail order brides who've pledged their futures to men they'd never met Among them is Maddy Douglas a beautiful headstrong rebellious fifteen year old determined to leave her painful memories behind and build a family and a fortune in an untamed wilderness So begins the Blanchard dynasty and an obsession shared by three generations of Blanchard women an obsession with the Seattle land known as Caleb's Bluff that for the next century will divide wife from husband mother from daughter and brother from brother Maddy marries Abel the Blanchard she's pledged to But she gives her heart to Caleb his brother whose wild romantic soul speaks to her own Catherine shares her mother's fierce love for the Blanchard land But to build an empire and safeguard Caleb's Bluff she sacrifices her marriage denies her true love and alienates her only daughter Natalie runs away from Seattle to escape the Blanchards and find her own destiny as a Pulitzer Prize winning photojournalist With it comes a last chance at love But love is not enough and destiny awaits her in the place she fled on the Bluff that calls her home      A Critical Introduction to Henry Green's Novels Oddvar Holmesland, 1986-05-19      Handbook of the English Novel of the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries Christoph Reinfandt, 2017-06-12 The Handbook systematically charts the trajectory of the English novel from its emergence as the foremost literary genre in the early twentieth century to its early twenty first century status of eccentric eminence in new media environments Systematic chapters address The English Novel as a Distinctly Modern Genre The Novel in the Economy Genres Gender performativity masculinities feminism queer and The Burden of Representation class and ethnicity Extended contextualized close readings of more than twenty key texts from Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness 1899 to Tom McCarthy's Satin Island 2015 supplement the systematic approach and encourage future research by providing overviews of reception and theoretical perspectives      The Green Book Magazine, 1913      The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 4, 1900-1950 George Watson, I. R. Willison, 1972-12-07 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries      The English Novel at Mid-Century Michael Gorra, 2016-07-27 So far as the young were concerned Orwell wrote of Britain in the years after the Great War the official beliefs were dissolving like sandcastles Most critical accounts of that postwar generation have been constrained by having to deal with the myth of the thirties Michael Gorra's innovation in this exciting study of the postwar generation's major novelists lies in seeing the consequences of that dissolution in formal rather than political terms arguing that the novelist's difficulty in representing human character in what Wyndham Lewis called a shell shocked age is itself a sign of that loss of belief But while most studies of this generation end with the coming of World War 2 Gorra follows these novelists throughout their careers The result is a book that not only shows how the British novel's increasing consciousness of its own limitations stands as a mirror to the country's loss of power but also provides memorable portraits of four major twentieth century writers The Search
