executive coaches consultants self help enthusiasts and well being practitioners Love and Loss - Volume Two Betty Hibod, 2024-11-26 Many books have been written as histories recounting events that shaped the life of a group society nation or civilization or as biographies recounting events and achievements relating to one person's life and work Many books have been written putting forth ideas philosophies and words of wisdom to live by Some of these we call holy books or scripture Fewer books have been written like this one which go behind the scenes of history lay bare the feelings behind the philosophies and document the painful and joyful inner path along which historical events and philosophical ideas emerge This book is intensely even shockingly personal not clinical or abstract or detached It is an intimate detailed sensual and sometimes disturbing account of a life lived on the cusp that bridges time and eternity Its focus is narrow it does not reveal much at all about anyone's visible public life or accomplishments but it explores in great depth the invisible contents of minds hearts and souls The scriptures and scriptural commentaries of most religions describe a path to salvation or bliss and provide instructions or guideposts for moving along the path but they are still only theoretical hypothetical mythical or metaphorical accounts This book seeks to show how the theories and hypotheses play out pragmatically in real time and space how the myths come alive in flesh and spirit how the metaphors become the very things they symbolize How does daily life look from inside someone in the throes of awakening How does she know who or what she is How is her destiny revealed How do seemingly ordinary mundane events become miracles This book begins to answer those questions Philosophy for the Brokenhearted: Thinking Through Grief, Loss, and Letting Go Taylor Emerson, 2025-06-21 Grief is not a detour from life it is part of the path In Philosophy for the Brokenhearted readers are invited into a thoughtful compassionate exploration of what it means to live with grief loss and the slow tender work of letting go Blending timeless philosophical insights with emotional depth and poetic clarity this book offers thirty reflections each around 1 000 words designed to walk beside you in the quiet hours of mourning and transformation Drawing from the wisdom of thinkers such as Kierkegaard Nietzsche Arendt and Weil as well as the lived experience of emotional rupture this book does not offer platitudes or prescriptions Instead it makes space for grief in all its complexity its rage its silence its love its longing and gently asks What now Whether you are grieving a death the end of a relationship a fading identity or a dream that can no longer be lived Philosophy for the Brokenhearted is a companion for the soul in transition It is for those who seek more than closure it is for those who seek meaning With each page it offers not solutions but steadiness Not answers but presence Not the promise of return but the possibility of renewal This is not a book about forgetting It is a book about remembering and becoming

Language occurs as the iteration of loss confounding its domestication in the form of the monolingual state in the Arabic nineteenth century's fallout. Reading the late lyric poetry of the Palestinian poet Mahmoud Darwish in relation to the destruction of Palestine in 1948, Sacks reconsiders the nineteenth century Arabic nahda and its relation to colonialism, philology and the European Enlightenment. He argues that this event is one of catastrophic loss wherein the past suddenly appears as if it belonged to another time. Reading al Shidyaq's al Saq ala al saq 1855 and the legacies to which it points in post 1948 writing in Arabic, Hebrew and French, Sacks underlines a displacement and relocation of the Arabic word adab and its practice, offering a novel contribution to Arabic and Middle East Studies, critical theory, poetics, aesthetics and comparative literature. Drawing on writings of Jacques Derrida, Walter Benjamin, Avital Ronell, Judith Butler, Theodor Adorno and Edward W. Said, Iterations of Loss shows that language interrupts its pacification as an event of aesthetic coherency to suggest that literary comparison does not privilege a renewed giving of sense but gives place to a new sense of relation. GriefShare

For decades, readers have celebrated May Sarton's journals for their candid look at relationships, success and failure, communion with nature and the curious stages of aging. In Recovering, Sarton focuses on her sixty-sixth year, one marked by the turmoil of a mastectomy, the end of a treasured relationship and the loneliness that visits a life of chosen solitude. Each deeply felt entry in the journal, written between 1978 and 1979, is laced with poignancy and honesty as she grapples with a cold reception for her latest novel, the sad descent of a close friend into senility and other struggles. Despite the trials of this one painful year, Sarton writes of her progression toward a hard-won renewal achieved through good friendships, the levity provided by her cherished dog and peaceful days in her garden. A candid account of Sarton's revival from personal darkness back into light, Recovering is another stunning entry in the author's irrepressible oeuvre.
