Grace Crowley's Contribution to Australian Modernism and Geometric Abstraction Dianne Ottley, 2010-02-19 Grace Crowley has been recognized as a product of European modernism and was one of the leading innovators of geometric abstraction in Australia Having studied in Paris in the 1920s with one of the leading art teachers writers and theorists Andr Lhote she returned to Australia having mastered the complex mathematics and geometry of the golden section and dynamic symmetry that had become a framework for modernism Through her teaching of these compositional techniques at the most progressive modern art school in Sydney in the 1930s she became a crucial influence on the group of artists now recognized as the historical forerunners to American colour field painting introduced to Australia in the 1960s and Australian abstraction Through her close friendship with Anne Dangar who played a critical role in the success of Albert Gleizes utopian art colony in rural France Crowley maintained contact with mainstream European modernism and links to the Abstraction Creation Group in Paris During the 1940s and 1950s Crowley worked with fellow artist Ralph Balson and together they developed their own style of geometric abstract art which reflected the spiritual dimensions of Kandinsky and Mondrian Although undervalued in her own time the sincerity and uncompromising quality of her work that transcends national boundaries makes her one of the most important Australian women artists of her generation

When Modern Became Contemporary Art Charles Green, Heather Barker, 2024-09-19 This book is a portrait of the period when modern art became contemporary art It explores how and why writers and artists in Australia argued over the idea of a distinctively Australian modern and then postmodern art from 1962 the date of publication of a foundational book Australian Painting 1788 1960 up to 1988 the year of the Australian Bicentennial Across nine chapters about art exhibitions curators and critics this book describes the shift from modern art to contemporary art through the successive attempts to define a place in the world for Australian art But by 1988 Australian art looked less and less like a viable tradition inside which to interpret our art Instead vast gaps appeared since mostly male and often older White writers had limited their horizons to White Australia alone National stories by White men like borders had less and less explanatory value Underneath this a perplexing subject remained the absence of Aboriginal art in understanding what Australian art was during the period that established the idea of a distinctive Australian modern and then contemporary art This book reflects on why the embrace of Aboriginal art was so late in art museums and histories of Australian art arguing that this was because it was not part of a national story dominated by colonial then neo colonial dependency It is important reading for all scholars of both global and Australian art and for curators and artists

Iskin, 2025-01-28 The first comprehensive study of Cassatt's life work and legacy through the prism of a transatlantic framework This book re-envisioning Mary Cassatt in the context of her transatlantic network friendships exhibitions politics and legacy Rather than defining her as either an American artist or a French impressionist author Ruth E Iskin argues that we can best understand Cassatt through the complexity of her multiple identifications as an American patriot a committed French impressionist and a suffragist Contextualizing Cassatt's feminist outlook within the intense pro and anti suffrage debates in the United States Iskin shows how these impacted her artistic representations of motherhood fatherhood and older women Mary Cassatt between Paris and New York also argues for the historical importance of her work as an advisor to American collectors and demonstrates the role of museums in shaping her legacy highlighting the combined impact of gender national and transnational dynamics
