Mr. Moto is So Sorry John Phillips Marquand, 1940 Mr. Moto Is So Sorry John P. Marquand, 1976-01-01 American Rivals of James Bond Graham Andrews, 2023-02-27 This is a critical history of spy fiction film and television in the United States with a particular focus on the American fictional spies that rivaled and were often influenced by Ian Fleming's James Bond James Fenimore Cooper's Harvey Birch based on a real life counterpart appeared in his novel The Spy in 1821 While Harvey Birch's British rivals dominated spy fiction from the late 1800s until the mid 1930s American spy fiction came of age shortly thereafter The spy boom in novels and films during the 1960s spearheaded by Bond heavily influenced the espionage genre in the United States for years to come including series like The Man from U N C L E and Matt Helm The author demonstrates that while American authors currently dominate the international spy fiction market James Bond has cast a very long shadow for a very long time

From Native Son to King's Men Robert McParland, 2017-11-08 On the heels of the Great Depression and staring into the abyss of a global war American writers took fiction and literature in a new direction that addressed the chaos that the nation and the world was facing These authors spoke to the human condition in traumatic times and their works reflected the dreams aspirations values and hopes of people living in the World War II era In From Native Son to King's Men: The Literary Landscape of 1940s America Robert McParland examines notable works published throughout the decade Among the authors covered are James Baldwin Pearl S Buck James Gould Cozzens William Faulkner Ernest Hemingway John Hersey Norman Mailer Ann Petry Irwin Shaw John Steinbeck Robert Penn Warren Eudora Welty and Richard Wright McParland explores how popular novels literary fiction and even short stories by these authors represented this pivotal period in American culture By examining the creative output of these authors this book reveals how the literature of the 1940s not only offered a pathway for that era's readers but also provides a way of understanding the past and our own times. From Native Son to King's Men, it will appeal to anyone interested in the cultural climate of the 1940s and how this period was depicted in American literature.

Famous Faces, Famous Places, Famous Food Victoria Brooks, 2004. Includes 98 recipes, 16 pages of color photos and 31 pages of black and white photographs. Great authors have always left their mark on their landscapes. In Famous Faces, Famous Places, Famous Food, Victoria Brooks travels the planet illuminating their fascinating lives with the exotic, sometimes erotic ink of their chosen lands. This collection of biographical and culinary wanderlust includes her personal experience with the amazing and lively Arthur C. Clarke in terrorist-torn Sri Lanka, her heart-wrenching visit with the late literary beacon Paul Bowles in seedy Tangier, and an encounter with mystery writer and steeplechaser Dick Francis in the banker's haven of Grand Cayman.

China and the Chinese in Popular Film Jeffrey Richards, 2016-11-09. There's a folk memory of China in which numberless yellow hordes pour out of the mysterious East to overwhelm the vulnerable West, accompanied by a stereotype of the Chinese as cruel, cunning, and depraved. Hollywood films played their part in perpetuating these myths and stereotypes that constituted The Yellow Peril. Jeffrey Richards examines in detail how and why they did it. He shows how the negative image was embodied in recurrent cinematic depictions of opium dens, tong wars, sadistic dragon ladies, and corrupt warlords, and how in the 1930s and 1940s a countervailing positive image involved the heroic peasants of The Good Earth and Dragon Seed fighting against Japanese invasion, in wartime tributes to the West's ally, Nationalist China. The cinema's split-level response is also traced through the images of the ultimate Oriental villain, the sinister Dr. Fu Manchu, and the timeless Chinese hero, the intelligent and benevolent detective Charlie Chan. Filling a long-standing gap in Cinema and Cultural History, the book is founded in fresh research into Hollywood's shifting representations of China and its people.

The Lost One Stephen Youngkin, 2005-09-30. Often typecast as a menacing figure, Peter Lorre achieved Hollywood fame first as a featured player and later as a character actor, trademarking his screen performances with a delicately strung balance between good and evil. His portrayal of the child murderer in Fritz Lang's masterpiece M (1931) catapulted him to international fame. Lang said of Lorre: "He gave one of the best performances in film history and certainly the best in his life." Today the Hungarian-born actor is also recognized for his riveting performances in The Man Who Knew Too Much (1934), The Maltese Falcon (1941), and Casablanca (1942). Lorre arrived in America in 1934, expecting to shed his screen image as a villain. He even tried to lose his signature accent, but Hollywood repeatedly cast him as an outsider who hinted at things better left unknown. Seeking greater control over his career, Lorre established his own production company. His unofficial graylisting by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, left him with little work. He returned to Germany, where he co-authored, directed, and starred in the film Der Verlorene (The Lost One) in 1951. German audiences rejected Lorre's dark vision of their recent past, and the actor returned to America wearily accepting roles that parodied his sinister movie personality. The first biography of this major actor, The Lost One: A Life of Peter Lorre, draws upon more than three hundred interviews.

including conversations with directors Fritz Lang Alfred Hitchcock Billy Wilder John Huston Frank Capra and Rouben Mamoulian who speak candidly about Lorre both the man and the actor Author Stephen D Youngkin examines for the first time Lorre s pivotal relationship with German dramatist Bertolt Brecht his experience as an migr from Hitler s Germany his battle with drug addiction and his struggle with the choice between celebrity and intellectual respectability Separating the enigmatic person from the persona long associated with one of classic Hollywood s most recognizable faces The Lost One is the definitive account of a life triumphant and yet tragically riddled with many failed possibilities Mr. Moto is So Sorry John Phillips MARQUAND (the Elder.),1940 The Late John Marquand Stephen Birmingham,2024-05-14 The acclaimed social historian and author of Our Crowd presents a colorful portrait of the Pulitzer Prize winning writer John Marquand the great literary satirist and chronicler of New England elites could have been a character in one of his own beloved novels Here Stephen Birmingham presents a lively narrative of Marquand s life drawing on personal interviews with friends and family Raised in Newburyport Massachusetts Marquand was both an insider and outcast of the old money set After attending Harvard and serving overseas in World War I he began writing stories that captured the lives manners and morals of wealthy families confined by their own privilege Marquand himself joined the ranks of these exclusive families by marrying into them twice In The Late John Marquand Birmingham provides an intimate portrait of the man behind such works as H M Pulham Esquire and The Late George Apley which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1938 Historical Dictionary of Crime Films Geoff Mayer,2012-09-13 The crime film genre consists of detective films gangster films suspense thrillers film noir and caper films and is produced throughout the world Crime film was there at the birth of cinema and it has accompanied cinema over more than a century of history passing from silent films to talkies from black and white to color The genre includes such classics as The Maltese Falcon The Godfather Gaslight The French Connection and Serpico as well as more recent successes like Seven Drive and L A Confidential The Historical Dictionary of Crime Films covers the history of this genre through a chronology an introductory essay and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 300 cross referenced entries on key films directors performers and studios This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about crime cinema Stopover: Tokyo John P. The complete collection of Mr. Moto John Phillips Marquand, 2025-04-23 John Phillips Marquand was an American writer Originally best known for his Mr Moto spy stories he achieved popular success and critical respect for his satirical novels winning a Pulitzer Prize for The Late George Apley in 1938. One of his abiding themes was the confining nature of life in America's upper class and among those who aspired to join it. In various other media, Mr Moto has been portrayed as an international detective. These include eight motion pictures starring Peter Lorre between 1937 and 1939, 23 radio shows starring James Monks broadcast in 1951, a 1965 film starring Henry Silva, and a 2003 comic book produced by Moonstone Books, later reprinted as Welcome Back Mr Moto.
