Individual Differences in Arithmetic Ann Dowker, 2019-03-27 Arithmetic is still hugely important in many aspects of modern life but our personal attitudes to it differ greatly. Many people struggle with the basic principles of arithmetic whilst others love it and feel confident in their arithmetical abilities. Why are there so many individual differences in people's performance in and feelings about arithmetic? Individual Differences in Arithmetic explores the idea that there is no such thing as arithmetical ability only arithmetical abilities. The book discusses several important components of arithmetic from counting principles and procedures to arithmetical estimation alongside emotional and cognitive components of arithmetical performance. This edition has been extensively revised to include the latest research including recent cross cultural and cross linguistic research, the development of new interventions for children with difficulties and studies of early foundations of mathematical abilities. Drawing on developmental, educational, cognitive and neuropsychological studies, this book will be essential reading for all researchers of mathematical cognition. It will also be of interest to educators and other professionals working with individuals with arithmetic deficits.

What Jamie Saw Carolyn Coman, 2009-09-07 Reveals the impact of witnessing violence even as it affirms the luminous power of love. Jamie's mother is there to catch the baby this time. She does what she must to keep her family out of harm's way but still the shock waves of Van's act reverberate through their lives. What Jamie Saw is a moving visceral dramatization of violence in the home told not from the point of view of a victim but as witnessed by a nine year old boy. The impact of observed violence perpetrated against loved ones is profound and destructive and altogether too common. Drawing on his mother's desperate strength, his own determination and help from an unexpected friend, Jamie confronts his fear and anxiety, learning, adapting and triumphing. A Newbery Medal Honor book.
