

COLLEGE EXAMINATION

The MRCGP examination

The following questions were set as part of the examination for Membership, 15 May 1984.

Practice Topic Question Paper

Time allowed two hours

All questions to be answered

Question 1

You need to employ a new receptionist. Describe how you might go about this and the qualities you would look for.

Question 2

A 17-year-old boy has recently been diagnosed as having idiopathic epilepsy following hospital investigation. What factors would you consider in discussing the problem with him and what specific areas would you want to cover?

Question 3

a) What factors should one consider when deciding to treat a patient with a suspected myocardial infarction at home?
b) Write short notes on the use of computers in General Practice.

Modified Essay Question (MEQ)

Time allowed one hour and thirty minutes

Instructions

1. There are 8 questions in this MEQ paper.
2. Answers should be brief, legible and concise. Total time allowed is one hour and thirty minutes.
3. Answers should be written in the space provided. If more room is required use the reverse side of the question sheet.
4. In those questions where a definite number of answers are asked for do not give more answers than are requested (the extra answers will not be marked).
5. You are advised not to alter your answers after completing the whole MEQ and not to look through the book before you start. This may distort your natural assessment of the case and cause you to lose marks.
6. The MEQ is a test of your practical approach to a developing general practice problem and as such you gain more marks for your management of the problem than for your pure factual knowledge.
7. The available marks vary between one question and another; you are advised to work steadily through and not delay too long on any one question.
8. Each page of the MEQ is marked independently. You should therefore answer each question specifically, even if this answer involves repetition of part of an earlier answer.
9. As a rough guide, it is indicated when you are approximately half-way through this paper.

● Sarah Goldberg a Jewish girl aged 19 years, lives in a large old house used as a commune and leased by an inner city local authority. Always erratic in taking her oral contraceptive, she gave up the Pill three months ago, and has had unprotected intercourse on several occasions, most recently during the previous evening. She is extremely worried that she may have become pregnant, and asks you to prescribe the 'morning after' pill.

- a) List the possible explanations of this general pattern of behaviour.
- b) What are the possible responses to her request? Outline the disadvantages of each of these.

● After discussing the 'morning after' pill with you Sarah decides that she does not want to take it. She returns four weeks later with her 20-year-old unemployed West Indian boyfriend Sylvester Lawrence. They are both delighted that her pregnancy is positive.

What might you discuss with them at this first interview and why?

● In the fifth month of her pregnancy, Sarah comes to see you and says that she and her friends in the commune have found a radical, qualified midwife who is prepared to deliver the baby in the squatting position at home. She asks you to provide emergency cover for this.

In what different ways might a General Practitioner respond to her request? What are the advantages and disadvantages of each?

● A few weeks later Sylvester comes to see you on his own, and says that he is fed-up and depressed. He appears thin, unshaven and dishevelled, and asks you to prescribe something to give him more energy. You suspect that he may be abusing drugs.

- a) How would you confirm or exclude this suspicion?
- b) What other reasons could explain this presentation?

● Sarah delivers at term satisfactorily a baby girl, Poppy, weighing 5lbs (2.3 kg). Four weeks later, you meet the family's Health Visitor to discuss their future.

What points would you wish to consider with her and why?

● During an ensuing consultation, you discover that Sarah and Poppy have been evicted from the commune and have found temporary accommodation in a bedsitter just outside your practice area. She asks if they are to stay on your practice list.

What factors would you consider in reaching a decision?

● When Sarah attends for Poppy's first immunization she tells you that Sylvester has left her and that life is not worth living without him. Sometimes she feels like "ending it all".

What are your options for managing this situation? Which one would you favour and why?

● At a practice meeting Sarah's problems and that of other young families in a similar predicament are discussed by the partners.

What initiatives could the practice team devise to help them. How could they be implemented?

each topic are featured in every chapter accompanied by instructions and tips on how to take a patient's history, diagnose a patient, discuss treatment options and address patient concerns under each scenario. Possible areas of difficulty, common candidate mistakes made and important differential diagnosis are outlined in each chapter. The text is also supplemented with check lists, photographs and tables for enhanced readability and ease of use. Written by experts in their respective fields, The Objective Structured Clinical Examination Review is a valuable resource for medical students and residents preparing for the OSCE. The Study Guide for General Practice Training Tim Swanwick, Nava Chana, 2003

This guide is intended for individuals training in general practice as well as for their trainers, tutors and educational supervisors. It outlines the content and process of learning in general practice and contains an extensive reading list of resources appropriate to each section.

Transcultural Medicine B. Qureshi, 2012-12-06. WHY WE MUST PRACTISE TRANSCULTURAL MEDICINE. Health professionals and GPs should concern themselves with ethnicity, religion and culture as much as with the age, sex and social class of their patients. Transcultural medicine is the knowledge of medical and communication encounters between a doctor or health worker of one ethnic group and a patient of another. It embraces the physical, psychological and social aspects of care as well as the scientific aspects of culture, religion and ethnicity without getting involved in the politics of segregation or integration. English general practitioners and health professionals tend to regard everyone as English and to assume that all patients have similar needs. Would that it were as simple as that! For economic reasons based on supply and demand, the mass migration of working populations from the new Commonwealth countries along with their dependent relatives, including their parents to Britain, took place during one decade, the 1960s. Broadly speaking, the workers were in their thirties and forties and their dependent parents were in their fifties and sixties. All these will, of course, be 30 years older in the 1990s. The

MRCGP Examination A. Moulds, T.A.I. Bouchier-Hayes, K.H.M. Young, 2012-12-06. JOHN JOHN FRY FRY. All examinations create problems and stresses in examinees. The examination for the Membership of the Royal College of General Practitioners is no exception. Although the examiners state that their objectives are to pass candidates wherever and whenever possible, nevertheless the failure rate remains consistently at 30% plus of those taking the examination. The reasons for failure fall into a number of groups. The candidate may, through over confidence, not have prepared for the examination. He may have assumed that it is not necessary to read, learn and digest data, facts and experience on general practice. How wrong that is! He will discover when he sits the exam. Examination for Membership of the Royal College of General Practitioners (MRCGP) Royal College of General Practitioners,1990      The GP Trainer's Handbook Paul Middleton,Maurice Price,2011 The ten years since the First Edition of this book have witnessed revolutionary changes in GP training appraisal the new MRCGP exam and competence based assessments to name but three Greater availability of information has also transformed the social context of General Practice as a profession Despite this the one to one relationship between trainer and trainee remains the lynchpin of GP education and this manual's key principle that GP trainers are the key source of expertise in this field and that their experiences and ideas are a vital and still underused resource is as important as ever This new edition fully revised and updated to reflect the latest changes in both GP training and the profession remains an essential comprehensive manual of useful advice for GP trainers written by their peers Outlining educational methods training philosophies and reflections from practitioners experienced in the entire spectrum of GP education it provides a tool box of resources to cover the practicalities of training including e portfolios teaching consultation skills and numerous tips and tricks It is now augmented with an array of supporting material that includes checklists forms and evaluation tools accessed electronically via a code supplied with the book This book is vital reading for GP tutors and GP trainers as well as those considering such roles and for all those who manage and oversee the training of GP registrars The next generation of GPs will face even more changes in the landscape of primary care and it has become even more imperative that we provide high quality training This manual will support this process from the Foreword by Steve Field      So You Qualified Abroad Mandy Fry,Richard Mumford,2014-05-23 We recognise that the journey for you as an overseas medical graduate OMG through GP training is likely to be more difficult than for a UK graduate and so the primary aim of this book is to help you navigate that journey We hope that through this book we will equip you to be a better UK general practitioner than you might otherwise be An inevi      Top Tips for GPs Knut Schroeder,2018-08-07 For GPs and practice managers the challenge of the NHS reforms is to understand the business context in which general practice operates Of the many skills learned from commerce and industry needed for the development of an effective strategy business planning has been demonstrated to bring important benefits to the practice However for many the concept is necessary but unfamiliar This book sets out to demystify the subject explains the benefits and by way of numerous examples shows how they can be applied to the single handed GP and group practices whether or not they are fundholders It suggests that good clinical care is not possible without the necessary planning and management skills to run a business      The General Practice Jigsaw Steve Field,Bob Strachan,Gai Evans,2001 This resource provides comprehensive information on the future of education training and professional development in general practice and primary care      A Celebration of General Practice Mayur K.
