Soviet/Russian Armor and Artillery Design Practices, 1995 The New Russian Book Birgitte Beck Pristed, 2017-08-01

This book takes up the obtrusive problem of visual representation of fiction in contemporary Russian book design. By analyzing a broad variety of book covers, the study offers an absolutely unique material that illustrates a radically changing notion of literature in the transformation of Soviet print culture to a post-Soviet book market. It delivers a profound and critical exploration of Russian visual imagery of classic popular and contemporary prose. Among all the carelessly bungled covers of mass published post-Soviet series, the study identifies gems from experimental designers. By taking a comparative approach to the clash of two formerly separate book cultures—the Western and the Soviet—that results both in a mixture of highbrow and lowbrow forms and in ideological re-interpretations of the literary works, this book contributes to opening an East-West dialogue between the fields of Russian studies, contemporary book and media history, art design, and visual studies.

Russian Aviation and Air Power in the Twentieth Century John Greenwood, Von Hardesty, Robin Higham, 2014-06-11. In the light of new archival material, the editors take a fresh look at Russian aviation in the twentieth century. Presenting a comprehensive view of Russian aviation from its genesis in the late czarist period to the present era, the approach is essentially chronological, with a major emphasis on the evolution of military aviation. The contributions are diverse, with appropriate attention to civilian and institutional themes.

Transition to Eminence G. M. Hiranandani, 2005. This volume of the navy's history covers the period from 1976 to 1990. It examines the navy's success in keeping abreast of advances in technology in step with progressive self-reliance. In a decade and a half of innovation, the navy equipped its indigenously built frigates, corvettes, and other vessels with combinations of the latest available weapons and equipment from the Soviet Union, from Europe, and from indigenous sources. A tiny ship design cell, which in 1965 was designing yard craft, was by 1990 designing aircraft carriers, submarines, and missile destroyers. The new acquisitions from the Soviet Union ranged from missile destroyers, conventional submarines, and long-range reconnaissance aircraft to minesweepers. All these high-tech inductions needed to be operated and manned by better educated and better trained personnel. New maintenance, repair, and refit facilities had to be created.

The increase in the volume of spares and the diversity of sources compelled modernization of the logistics system This volume analyzes how these problems were tackled Decommissioned Russian Nuclear Submarines and International Cooperation Charles Krupnick,2001-03-19 With the end of the Cold War Russia's submarines were no longer needed to deter or fight Western navies and were very expensive to operate and maintain Older submarines were taken out of service in large numbers but without firm plans and infrastructure in place to remove and adequately care for their nuclear components problems soon developed over the disposition of spent fuel assemblies Problems arose also of course between Russia and the international community as to the best way to respond to the challenge This book looks at those problems first discussing Russia's economy its environment and the Russian Navy and then covering in detail the spent fuel of Russian submarines and related nuclear problems The engagement of the international community on the issue is then addressed A theoretical analysis is offered on how Russia's fellow nations can help remedy a troubling environmental problem in a difficult country

Russian Archaism Irina Shevelenko,2024-08-15 Russian Archaism considers the aesthetic quest of Russian modernism in relation to the nation building ideas that spread in the late imperial period Irina Shevelenko argues that the cultural milieu in Russia where the modernist movement began as an extension of Western trends at the end of the nineteenth century soon became captivated by nationalist indoctrination Members of artistic groups critics and theorists advanced new interpretations of the goals of aesthetic experimentation that would allow them to embed the nation building agenda within the aesthetic one Shevelenko's book focuses on the period from the formation of the World of Art group 1898 through the Great War and encompasses visual arts literature music and performance As Shevelenko shows it was the rejection of the Russian westernized tradition informed by the revival of populist sensibilities across the educated class that played a formative role in the development of Russian modernist agendas particularly after the 1905 revolution Russian Archaism reveals the modernist artistic enterprise as a crucial source of insight into Russia's political and cultural transformation in the early twentieth century and beyond

The Russian Arctic Straits R. Douglas Brubaker,2005-01-01 The issues surrounding the regimes of ice covered areas international straits and passage rights of State vessels are analysed for the purpose of assessing the status of law and State practice in Russian Arctic waters Passage through the Northern Sea Route has for decades been one of the most contentious legal issues in Soviet Russian U S relations The jurisdictional claims of the large Arctic coastal States indicate substantial deviation from application of established law of the sea The regimes of straits used for international navigation and passage rights of State vessels seem subordinate to the regime of ice covered areas The main finding is that there are certain elements of consistency in the common interpretation of existing law and the behaviour of these States These elements seem to have put into action the process of formation of a specific customary international law as well as implementation and interpretation of the law under the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties Russian Defense Business Directory ,1993
