Phenomenological Reflective Practice in the Social and Ecological Fields Peter Westoby,2022-07-21 This book introduces social practitioners community development workers social workers organisational change facilitators social ecological cultural and political activists to a phenomenological tradition of reflective practice Critiquing reductionist linear and ossified thinking in the social and ecological fields the book offers an exciting new alternative that is honouring of the uncertainty of all living and therefore emergent social processes Linking phenomenology and Goethe s delicate empiricism the book challenges practitioners to observe and work with living processes As such the book charts two stories two inquiries One personal and the other social The first is the personal phenomenological inquiry into the author s own practice a search to make sense of the nuanced and subtle practice that he brings to the social world The second journey is the inquiry into how this social practice shaped as it is by a confluence of three rivers dialogue and community soul and depth psychology Goethe and delicate activism along with other thinkers on observation and aliveness can be understood in the context of a wider phenomenological reflective practice This second journey draws on years of experience and research in Brazil South Africa Australia New Zealand and parts of Europe Presenting a philosophical personal and practical analysis it offers a new approach to observation and action while working with aliveness and complexity within the social and ecological fields It will be of interest to all scholars and students of social work and community development and particularly courses on social complexity
