Native American Transracial Adoptees Tell Their Stories Rita James Simon, Sarah Hernandez, 2008-01-01 This study focuses on the lives of Native American transracial adoptees and their struggle to establish a healthy sense of cultural identity while being raised in non Native homes The twenty participants in this study focus on what methods their adoptive parents used or in some cases did not use to help them establish their own sense of cultural identity In the end most participants agreed that adoptive parents can help their adoptive child establish a healthy sense of cultural identity by nurturing a connection between their child and their child's tribal community Children in Mind Jenny Perkel, 2022-04-01 A psychologist's guide for parents, care givers and health care practitioners to the emotional challenges facing children and their parents today. Current research shows that certain childhood mental disorders are diagnosed more frequently today than in previous generations. Many of today's children and teenagers are more unhappy, anxious and distressed than young people used to be. In this highly informative book, child psychologist Jenny Perkel explores in depth why this might be so, highlighting what modern day South African children and adolescents are experiencing and the environment in which they are being raised. Children in Mind presents a broad range of up to date findings from psychological, neurobiological, genetic, psychiatric, sociological and epidemiological research related to the diagnosis and treatment of children's mental health problems. Theoretically informed but not theoretically dense, the book cites both local and international studies to increase awareness and understanding of children's mental health. Perkel discusses a broad spectrum of issues faced by today's children and adolescents: the Covid 19 pandemic, the influence of electronic media, diverse family structures, stress and trauma and difficult socio-economic circumstances. While offering no easy answers or formulaic solutions to the problems of troubled children, she shows how to think about children's mental well-being in today's South Africa. Children in Mind is an invaluable resource for all those who work with troubled children and adolescents: psychologists, social workers, counsellors, educators and parents. The author's informed and compassionate approach will help equip professionals and parents to help young people navigate complex issues and make adjustments in their behavior in order to live more balanced and happier lives. Children and the Politics of Cultural Belonging Alice Hearst, 2012-08-27

Conversations about multiculturalism rarely consider the position of children. Yet providing care for children unanchored from their birth families raises questions central to multicultural concerns. This book explores the debate over communal and cultural belonging in three contexts: domestic transracial adoptions of non-American Indian children, the scope of tribal authority over American Indian children and cultural and communal belonging for transnationally adopted children.

Therapeutic Work for Children with Complex Trauma Nicole Vliegen, Eileen Tang, Nick Midgley, Patrick Luyten, Peter Fonagy, 2023-07-10 Therapeutic Work for Children with Complex Trauma offers a contemporary three-track psychodynamic treatment model to mental health professionals working with traumatised children and their caregivers. The book provides a contemporary and comprehensive approach to working with traumatised children by integrating knowledge and skills from traditional psychodynamic child psychotherapy and more contemporary trauma-informed and mentalization-based frameworks. It advocates three tracks of work: involving direct work with the child, work with the child's primary caregivers and work with the network. The book is divided into two parts. Part I of the book covers the theoretical background and Part II discusses the core components and phases of the trauma-informed and mentalization-based treatment approach. The authors bring out the specific dynamics of the psychotherapeutic work through four composite cases woven through the book. Written in accessible language this treatment guide is primarily aimed at psychodynamically trained psychotherapists mental health professionals and professional caregivers working with traumatised children
