Seats In All Parts Half A Lifetime At The Movies:

Seats in All Parts Leslie Halliwell, 1985 British Historical Cinema Claire Monk, Amy Sargeant, 2015-01-28 Films recreating or addressing the past recent or distant actual or imagined have been a mainstay of British cinema since the silent era From Elizabeth to Carry On Up The Khyber and from the heritage film debate to issues of authenticity and questions of genre British Historical Cinema explores the ways in which British films have represented the past on screen the issues they raise and the debates they have provoked Discussing films from biopics to literary adaptations and from depictions of Britain's colonial past to the reimagining of recent decades in retro films such as Velvet Goldmine a range of contributors ask whose history is being represented from whose perspective and why Cinemas and cinemagoing in wartime Britain,

1939-45 Richard Farmer, 2016-06-24 In this groundbreaking book Richard Farmer provides a social and cultural history of cinemas and cinemagoing in Britain between 1939 and 1945 and explores the impact that the war had on the places in which British people watched films Bomber Boys on Screen S. P. MacKenzie, 2019-08-08 Since the Second World War depictions of Royal Air Force operations in film and television drama have become so numerous that they make up a genre worthy of scholarly attention In this illuminating study S P MacKenzie explores the different ways in which the men of RAF Bomber Command have been represented in dramatic form on the big and small screen from the war years to the present day Bomber Boys on Screen is the first in depth study of how and why the screen drama image of those who flew those who directed them and those who provided support for RAF bomber operations has changed over time sometimes in contested circumstances Until now dramas that focus on Bomber Command have tended to be mentioned only in passing or studied in isolation despite the prevalence of surveys of both the British war film genre and of aviation cinema In Bomber Boys on Screen MacKenzie examines the development presentation and reception of significant dramas on a decade by decade basis Titles from the beginning of the war The Lion Has Wings 1939 to the start of new century Bomber's Moon 2014 are situated in the context of technical possibilities and limitations evolving social and cultural norms in the United Kingdom and elsewhere and the development of moral and utilitarian controversies surrounding the wartime bomber offensive directed against Nazi Germany While the focus is on feature films and television plays reference is also made to documentaries memorials veterans organizations book titles war comics and other representations of the war fought by Bomber Command

The British working class in postwar film Philip Gillett, 2019-01-04 An incidental pleasure of watching a film is what it tells us about the society in which it is made Using a sociological model The British working class in postwar film looks at how working class people were portrayed in British feature films in the decade after the Second World War Though some of the films examined are well known others have been forgotten and deserve reassessment Original statistical data is used to assess the popularity of the films with audiences With its interdisciplinary approach and the avoidance of jargon this book seeks to broaden the approach to film studies Students of media and cultural studies are introduced to the skills of other disciplines while sociologists and historians are encouraged to consider the value of film evidence in their own fields This work should appeal to all readers interested in social history and in how cinema and society works Seats in All Parts Leslie Halliwell,1986 Millions Like Us'? Visiting Senior Fellow Department of Psychology Nicky Hayes,1999-01-01 This collection of essays brings together the latest historical research on cultural production and reception during the Second World War It covers the way in which cultural provision was viewed by the labour movement and industry Screening the Hollywood rebels in 1950s Britain Anna Ariadne Knight,2021-09-28 This book examines issues of censorship publicity and teenage fandom in 1950s Britain surrounding a series of controversial Hollywood films The Wild One Blackboard Jungle Rebel Without a Cause Rock Around the Clock and Jailhouse Rock It also explores British cinema's commentary on juvenile delinquency through a re-examination of such British films as The Blue Lamp Spare the Rod and Serious Charge Taking a multi-dimensional approach the book intersects with star studies and social history while reappraising the stardom of Marlon Brando James Dean and Elvis Presley By looking at the specific meanings pleasures and uses British fans derived from these films it provides a logical and sustained narrative for how Hollywood star images fed into and disrupted British cultural life during a period of unprecedented teenage consumerism Past and Present James Chapman,2005-09-23 This ground-breaking book takes as its focal point director Ken Loach's view that The only reason to make films that are a reflection on history is to talk about the present In the first book to take on this major genre in all its complexity James Chapman argues that historical films say as much about the times in which they are made as about the past they purport to portray Through in-depth case studies of fourteen key films spanning the 1930s up to the turn of the twenty-first century from The Private Life of Henry VIII and Zulu to Chariots of Fire and Elizabeth Chapman examines the place of historical films in British cinema history and film culture Looking closely at the issues that they present from gender class and ethnicity to militarism and imperialism he also discusses controversies over historical accuracy and the ways in which devices such as voice-overs title captions and visual references to photographs and paintings assert a sense of historical verisimilitude Exploring throughout the book the dialectical relationship between past and present Chapman reveals how such films promote British achievements but also sometimes question them and how they project images of Britishness to audiences both in the UK and internationally A New History of British Documentary J. Chapman,2015-03-11 A New History of British Documentary is the first comprehensive overview of documentary production in Britain from early film to the present day It covers both the film and television industries and demonstrates how documentary practice has adapted to changing institutional and ideological contexts Hitchcock and the Spy Film James Chapman,2017-11-30 Film historian James Chapman has mined Hitchcock's own papers to investigate fully for the first time the spy thrillers of the world's most famous filmmaker Hitchcock made his name as director of the spy movie He returned repeatedly to the genre from the British classics of the 1930s including The 39 Steps and The Lady Vanishes through wartime Hollywood films Foreign Correspondent and Saboteur to the Cold War tracts North by Northwest Torn Curtain and his unmade film The Short Night Chapman's close reading of these films demonstrates the development of Hitchcock's own style as well as how the spy genre as a whole responded to changing political and cultural contexts from the threat of Nazism in the 1930s and 40s to the atom spies and double agents of the post war world The First Teenagers David Fowler, 2014-01-14 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company
