Writing the Lost Generation Craig Monk, 2010-11 Members of the Lost Generation American writers and artists who lived in Paris during the 1920s continue to occupy an important place in our literary history. Rebelling against increased commercialism and the ebb of cosmopolitan society in early twentieth century America, they rejected the culture of what Ernest Hemingway called a place of broad lawns and narrow minds. Much of what we know about these iconic literary figures comes from their own published letters and essays revealing how adroitly they developed their own reputations by controlling the reception of their work. Surprisingly, the literary world has paid less attention to their autobiographies. In Writing the Lost Generation, Craig Monk unlocks a series of neglected texts while reinvigorating our reading of more familiar ones. Well known autobiographies by Malcolm Cowley, Ernest Hemingway, and Gertrude Stein are joined here by works from a variety of lesser known but still important expatriate American writers including Sylvia Beach, Alfred Kreymborg, Samuel Putnam, and Harold Stearns. By bringing together the self-reflective works of the Lost Generation and probing the ways the writers portrayed themselves, Monk provides an exciting and comprehensive overview of modernist expatriates from the United States.

Journalists and Job Loss Timothy Marjoribanks, Lawrie Zion, Penny O'Donnell, Merryn Sherwood, 2021-11-29 Journalists and Job Loss explores the profound disruption of journalism work in the 21st century's networked digital media environment. The chapters analyse how journalists have experienced and navigated job loss, re-employment, career change, and career re-invention as traditional patterns of newsroom employment give way to occupational change, income insecurity, and precarious work in journalism globally. The authors showcase the design methodology and results of the New Beats project, a ground-breaking longitudinal study of change in the work of Australian journalists, as well as related case studies of job loss and career change in journalism based on research in different national settings across the global North and global South. The book also considers the wider implications of changes in journalism work for media sustainability, gender equity, and journalism work futures. The book provides a theoretically informed and empirically grounded analysis of job loss and the new contours of journalistic work in a critical political, cultural, economic, and social industry. It will be an important resource for researchers and students in disciplines including journalism, media and communication studies, business, and the social sciences in general.

The Society for the Oversea Settlement of British Women, 1919-1964 Bonnie White, 2019-03-18 This book examines the British government's response to the superfluous women problem and concerns about post-war unemployment more generally by creating a migration society that was tasked with reducing the number of single women at home through overseas migration. The Society for the Oversea Settlement of British Women (SOSBW) was created in 1919 to facilitate the transportation of female migrants to the former white settler colonies. To do so, the SOSBW worked with various domestic and dominion groups to find the most suitable women for migration while also meeting the dominions' demands for specific types of workers, particularly women for work in domestic service. While the Society initially aimed to meet its original mandate, it gradually developed its own vision of empire settlement and refocused its efforts on aiding the migration of educated and trained women who were looking for new modern and professional work opportunities abroad

Canada's Residential Schools: The Legacy Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission s final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada s Residential Schools The Legacy describes what Canada must do to overcome the schools tragic legacy and move towards reconciliation with the country s first peoples For over 125 years Aboriginal children suffered abuse and neglect in residential schools run by the Canadian government and by churches They were taken from their families and communities and confined in large frightening institutions where they were cut off from their culture and punished for speaking their own language Infectious diseases claimed the lives of many students and those who survived lived in harsh and alienating conditions There was little compassion and little education in most of Canada s residential schools Although Canada has formally apologized for the residential school system and has compensated its Survivors the damaging legacy of the schools continues to this day This volume examines the long shadow that the residential schools have cast over the lives of Aboriginal Canadians who are more likely to live in poverty more likely to be in ill health and die sooner more likely to have their children taken from them and more likely to be imprisoned than other Canadians The disappearance of many Indigenous languages and the erosion of cultural traditions and languages also have their roots in residential schools

Stepney Samantha L. Bird, 2010-10-12 This book is the first single volume history of Stepney in modern times It sets out to provide a vivid and yet scholarly portrait of an iconic London borough situated in the heart of the East End Stepney is an area with very many well known associations and images from the horrifying murders of Jack the Ripper to the soaking up of the heavy bomb damage during the Blitz from the classical confrontation between Mosley s fascists and the socialist left at the Battle of Cable Street to the dramatic Siege of Sidney Street when Liberal Home Secretary Winston Churchill rooted out an anarchist cell Beyond these dramatic episodes Stepney witnessed the perennial struggle for subsistence among the many poor the rise and fall of the great local docks the immigration of large numbers of Jewish refugees from Eastern Europe and elsewhere the growth of the Labour Party and the surprising local ascendancy of the Communists the desperate drive to improve public housing the evacuation of a large proportion of its children at the start of World War II and much more besides This is a truly ground breaking very readable book that fills a surprising gap in our knowledge and greatly enhances our understanding of London urban working class inter ethnic industrial and British 20th century history Lost Generations J. Arthur Rath,2005-09-30 I learned who I was at Kamehameha In 1944 J Arthur Rath a part Hawaiian boy from a broken home entered the Kamehameha School for Boys as an eighth grade boarder Thus began Rath s love affair with an institution that he credits with turning his life around with giving him and other disadvantaged children of native ancestry Hawai i s lost generations the confidence and support necessary to make something of themselves This is the story of that love affair It is also the story of Rath s recent battle together with other alumni for the integrity of his beloved Kamehameha against the school s trustees and their organization the powerful Bishop Estate In a lively talk story manner Rath reminisces about campus life and his classmates many of whom became lifelong friends and influential members of the Hawaiian community Years later Rath a successful retired businessman would call on these same friends to hold Kamehameha s trustees accountable for their mismanagement of Bishop Estate s vast financial holdings and ultimately their failure to carry out founder Princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop s mandate to educate Hawaiian children Rath draws on his many personal ties to the school and the estate to provide surprising revelations on the trustees and the Bishop Estate Scandal which made headlines daily throughout the mid 1990s Surveying the Avant-Garde Lori Cole,2018-06-04 Surveying the Avant Garde examines the art and literature of the Americas in the early twentieth century through the lens of the questionnaire a genre as central as the manifesto to the history of the avant garde Questions such as How do you imagine Latin America and What should American art be issued by avant garde magazines like Im n a Latin American periodical based in Paris and Cuba s Revista de Avance demonstrate how editors writers and readers all grappled with the concept of America particularly in relationship to Europe and how the questionnaire became a structuring device for reflecting on their national and aesthetic identities in print Through an analysis of these questionnaires and their responses Lori Cole reveals how ideas like American art as well as modernism and avant garde were debated at the very moment of their development and consolidation Unlike a manifesto whose signatories align with a single polemical text the questionnaire produces a patchwork of responses providing a composite and sometimes fractured portrait of a community Such responses yield a self reflexive history of the era as told by its protagonists which include figures such as Gertrude Stein Alfred Stieglitz Jean Toomer F T Marinetti Diego Rivera and Jorge Luis Borges The book traces a genealogy of the genre from the Renaissance paragone or comparison of the arts through the rise of enqu tes in the late nineteenth century up to the contemporary questionnaire which proliferates in art magazines today By analyzing a selection of surveys issued across the Atlantic Cole indicates how they helped shape artists and writers understanding of themselves and their place in the world Based on extensive archival research this book reorients our understanding of modernism as both hemispheric and transatlantic by narrating how the artists and writers of the period engaged in aesthetic debates that informed and propelled print communities in Europe the United States and Latin America Scholars of modernism and the avant garde will welcome Cole's original and compellingly crafted work East European Acquisitions List Library of Congress. Catholic Cultures Patricia Wittberg,2016-02-11 From its earliest days Christianity has been lived and proclaimed in the language and symbols of each receiving culture Today these cultures include the new ethnic groups moving into our parishes They also include new generations of Catholic young adults whose childhood experiences of their faith are very different from those of their elders In Catholic Cultures Sister Patricia Wittberg offers a view of Catholicism through the eyes of Catholics from these different cultures so that we may all be challenged to grow in our reception of the Good News This book is an ideal resource for parish ministers educators and parents struggling with how to evangelize and minister to unfamiliar cultures It is also a tool for leaders trying to build a strong community made up of members who represent a variety of ethnic backgrounds and ages The Law of Maritime Blockade Phillip Drew,2017 The Law of Maritime Blockade sets out the law applicable to maritime blockades in armed conflict testing the traditional rules of maritime blockade against the requirements of contemporary international humanitarian law An important issue addressed is the legality of a blockade even if it results in mass starvation of the affected population Mainstream Maverick Holly Chard,2020-09-01 Winner Best First Monograph British Association of Film Television and Screen Studies The first scholarly book on John Hughes examines Hollywood's complex relationship with genre the role of the auteur in commercial cinema and the legacy of favorites such as Sixteen Candles and Ferris Bueller's Day Off In the 1980s and 1990s John Hughes was one of Hollywood's most reliable hitmakers churning out beloved teen comedies and family films such as The Breakfast Club and Home Alone respectively But was he an artist Hughes an adamantly commercial filmmaker who was dismissed by critics might have laughed at the question Since his death in 2009 though he has been memorialized on Oscar night as a key voice of his time Now the critics lionize him as a stylistic original Holly Chard traces Hughes's evolution from entertainer to auteur Studios recognized Hughes's distinctiveness and responded by nurturing his brand He is therefore a case study in Hollywood's production not only of movies but also of genre and of authorship itself The films of John Hughes Chard shows also owed their success to the marketers who sold them and the audiences who watched Careful readings of Hughes's cinema reveal both the sources of his iconic status and the imprint on his films of the social political economic and media contexts in which he operated The first serious treatment of Hughes Mainstream Maverick elucidates the priorities of the American movie industry in the New Hollywood era and explores how artists not only create but are themselves created Citizenship in Motion Hazama, Itsuhiro,Umeya, Kiyoshi,2019-04-22 Anthropological reflections on citizenship focus on themes such as politics ethnicity and state management Present day scholarship on citizenship tends to problematise unsettle and contest often taken for granted conventional connotations and associations of citizenship with imagined culturally bounded political communities of rigidly controlled borders This book the result of two years of research conducted by South African and Japanese scholars within the framework of a bilateral project on citizenship in the 21st century contributes to such ongoing efforts at rethinking citizenship globally and as informed by experiences in Africa and Japan in particular Central to the essays in this book is the concept of flexible citizenship predicated on a recognition of the histories of mobility of people and cultures and of the shaping and reshaping of places and spaces and ideas of being and belonging in the process The book elucidates the contingency of political membership relationship between everyday practices and political membership and how citizenship is the mechanism for claiming and denying rights to various political communities Self requires others to construct itself a reality that is subject to renegotiation as one continues to encounter others in a world characterised by myriad forms of interconnecting mobilities both global and local Citizenship is thus to be understood within a complex of power relationships that include ones formed by laws and economic regimes on a local scale and beyond Citizenship in Africa Japan and indeed everywhere is best explored productively as lying between the open ended possibilities and tensions interconnecting the global and local
