Mountain Farmers:

Mountain Farmers Thomas T. Spear, 1997-01-01 This is a rich stimulating work written in clear and compelling prose that will appeal to scholars in a variety of disciplines Angelique Haugerud author of The Culture of Politics in Modern Kenya Among the numerous contributions made by this book are its discussion of the politics of pseudo traditionalism its tracing of the emergence of a Christian leadership and indeed its whole reconsideration of the significance of missions and Christianity James L Giblin author of Environmental Control in Northeastern Tanzania 1840 1940 Persistent Progressives John F. Freeman, 2015-11-15 Persistent Progressives tells the story of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union's evolution from an early movement against monopolists and wholesalers to a regional trailblazer for agriculture ideologies built on social democracy the family farmer and cooperative enterprises As a continuing advocate for saving the family farm the Farmers Union legacy provides a unique window into the transformation of the agriculture and rural communities in Wyoming Colorado and New Mexico Using data spanning decades author John Freeman covers the founding of the RMFU in 1907 until the present demonstrating how members continually sought to control the means of production and marketing by forming cooperatives providing consumer services and engaging in politics Powering this evolution was a group of practical idealists the Farmers Union leaders and titular persistent progressives who shaped the organization's growth and expansion Initiated by Jim Patton who brought the organization out of its oppositional roots and into its cooperative advocacy the RMFU passed to John Stencel and then David Carter joining hands with agricultural conservationists and small organic producers along the way to carry the torch for progressive agrarianism in today's urbanized world Shaken but undeterred by some notable failures its leadership remains convinced of the efficacy of cooperatives as a means to achieve justice for all Discussing the broader social economic political and environmental issues related to farming ranching and urbanization Persistent Progressives seamlessly blends regional history with ongoing issues of agricultural and economic development

Mountain farming systems - Seeds for the future Romeo, R., Manuelli, S., Geringer, M., Barchiesi, V. (eds), 2021-07-08 This publication presents a collection of case studies by Mountain Partnership MP members from around the world highlighting experiences of agroecological mountain farming systems It aims to increase attention toward agroecological principles and approaches and showcase their potential The MP the only United Nations global voluntary alliance dedicated to sustainable mountain development is fully committed to promoting actions that can improve the resilience of mountain people and environments In mountains the practice of agroecology and the conservation of agrobiodiversity results in more resilient agricultural and food systems Sustainable mountain farming systems can drive progress towards reducing rural poverty contributing to zero hunger and ensuring the resilience of mountain communities while maintaining the provision of global ecosystem services especially those related to water Food security in mountains is a matter of concern Through adequate and coordinated pro mountain policies investments capacity development services and infrastructures as well as efforts to provide smallholders and family farmers with access to innovation mountain farming systems have the potential to become pathways for change. In doing so they can provide valuable support and impetus to the transition to sustainable food systems contributing to revitalizing rural areas and lifting mountain peoples out of poverty and hunger while protecting fragile mountain environments for the future. Emmer in Turkey an Ancient Cereal Maintained by Mountain Farmers, Ways of Making Southern Mountain Farms More Productive Jacob Hiram Arnold, 1918 The southern mountain farm often produces no more than a scant living for the family. Corn is the chief crop grown. Often part of the farm lies idle being rested while corn is grown on another part year after year until the land is worn out. By growing three or more crops in rotation including clover the farmer will be able to produce larger crops, make more money and keep all crop land under cultivation all the time. Cattle, hogs and sheep will not only add to the cash income but will help to increase the fertility of the soil and render larger crops possible. This bulletin describes crop rotations for small mountain farms in the southern Alleghenies and gives complete directions for starting a crop rotation that will make poor mountain land more productive. p 2 The Mountain Bernard Debarbieux, Gilles Rudaz, 2015-09-10 From the Enlightenment to the present day and using a variety of case studies from all the continents the authors show us how our ideas of and about mountains have changed with the times and how a wide range of policies from border delineation to forestry as well as nature protection and social programs have been shaped according to them. A rich hybrid analysis of geography, history, culture and politics. Jacket Mountain agriculture: Opportunities for harnessing Zero Hunger in Asia Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-08-07 Mountain food security and nutrition are core issues that can contribute positively to the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals but paradoxically are often ignored in Zero Hunger and poverty reduction related agenda. Under the overall leadership of Jos Graziano da Silva the Former Director General of FAO, sustainable mountain agriculture development is set as a priority in Asia and the Pacific to effectively address this issue and assist Member Countries in tackling food insecurity and malnutrition in mountain regions. This comprehensive publication is the first of its kind that focuses on the multidimensional status, challenges, opportunities and solutions of sustainable mountain agriculture development for Zero Hunger in Asia. This publication is building on the International Workshop and Regional Expert Consultation on Mountain Agriculture Development and Food Security and Nutrition Governance held by FAO RAP and UIR in November 2018 Beijing in collaboration with partners from national governments, national agriculture institutes, universities, international organizations and international research institutes. The publication provides analysis with evidence on how mountain agriculture could contribute to satisfying all four dimensions of food security to transform food systems to be nutrition sensitive, climate resilient, economically viable and locally adaptable. From this food system perspective the priority should be given to focus on specialty mountain product identification e.g. Future Smart Food production, processing, marketing and consumption which would effectively expose the potential of mountain agriculture to contribute to Zero Hunger and poverty reduction. In addition

eight Asian country case studies not only identify context specific challenges within biophysical technical policy socio economic and institutional dimensions

Mountain Landscapes in Transition Udo Schickhoff, R.B. Singh, Suraj Mal, 2021-11-02 This book compiles available knowledge of the response of mountain ecosystems to recent climate and land use change and intends to bridge the gap between science policy and the community concerned The chapters present key concepts major drivers and key processes of mountain response providing transdisciplinary orientation to mountain studies incorporating experiences of academics community leaders and policy makers from developed and less developed countries The book chapters are arranged in two sections The first section concerns the response processes of mountain environments to climate change This section addresses climate change itself past current and future changes of temperature and precipitation and its impacts on the cryosphere hydrosphere biosphere and human environment systems The second section focuses on the response processes of mountain environments to land use land cover change The case studies address effects of changing agriculture and pastoralism forest water resources management and urbanization processes landscape management and biodiversity conservation The book is designed as an interdisciplinary publication which critically evaluates developments in mountains of the world with contributions from both social and natural sciences

Cultivating Rural Amenities An Economic Development Perspective OECD, 1999-10-18 This book points out that because many natural and cultural features are public goods with limited markets and hazy property rights public policies are needed to strike the delicate balance between supply and demand

Seminar on the Draft European Outline Convention on Mountain Regions Congress of Local and Regional Authorities of Europe, Council of Europe, 2000-01-01

Where There Are Mountains Donald Edward Davis, 2003-03-01 A timely study of change in a complex environment Where There Are Mountains explores the relationship between human inhabitants of the southern Appalachians and their environment Incorporating a wide variety of disciplines in the natural and social sciences the study draws information from several viewpoints and spans more than four hundred years of geological ecological anthropological and historical development in the Appalachian region The book begins with a description of the indigenous Mississippian culture in 1500 and ends with the destructive effects of industrial logging and dam building during the first three decades of the twentieth century Donald Edward Davis discusses the degradation of the southern Appalachians on a number of levels from the general effects of settlement and industry to the extinction of the American chestnut due to blight and logging in the early 1900s This portrait of environmental destruction is echoed by the human struggle to survive in one of our nation's poorest areas The farming livestock raising dam building and pearl and logging industries that have gradually destroyed this region have also been the livelihood of the Appalachian people The author explores the sometimes conflicting needs of humans and nature in the mountains while presenting impressive and comprehensive research on the increasingly threatened environment of the southern Appalachians

Problems of the Agricultural Development of Less-Favoured Areas in Europe Sam

Stuart,2017-05-03 Problems of the Agricultural Development of Less Favoured Areas in Europe is a collection of papers from a symposium of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe and Food and Agriculture Organization held in Geneva on May 22 26 1978 This collection of papers covers European countries with areas where agricultural development is limited This book defines less favored agricultural areas as those places where there is limited agricultural development of different sizes and economic and social importance These areas are also defined as suffering serious deterioration of the natural environment and of economic and social activities This book then presents country reports covering problem areas in Austria Belgium Czechoslovakia Finland France and Germany In reviewing each of these countries and other countries as well the text presents each government s objectives concerning the rural areas the actual strategies and policies pursued by the state and the problems encountered when implementing these policies This text also gives the methodologies used in evaluating these programs This book can prove useful for government officials and ministries dealing with the agricultural sector heads of volunteer organizations dealing with countryside development and academicians in political science and developmental planning

The mountains, my life full of work and longing Josef Friedl,2024-12-13 The son of a family of mountain farmers in the Lechtal Alps experiences the hard and modest life of the old days on his parents farm where he is required to work very early on in his childhood The development of the village with electricity and an access road ushered in a rapid development that changed many things Josef Friedl tells of profound feelings of the threat posed by the forces of nature of special mountain experiences and a wide variety of events from old and new eras Insights resulting from his own life experience complete a restless autobiography

Optimizing the Delivery of Multiple Ecosystem Goods and Services in Agricultural Systems Maria A. Tsiafouli,Evangelia G. Drakou,Alberto Orgiazzi,Katarina Hedlund,Karl Ritz,2017-10-18 Agricultural land is subjected to a variety of societal pressures as demands for food animal feed and biomass production increase with an added requirement to simultaneously maintain natural areas and mitigate climatic and environmental impacts The biotic elements of agricultural systems interact with the abiotic environment to generate a number of ecosystem functions that offer services benefiting humans across many scales of time and space The intensification of agriculture generally reduces biodiversity including that within soil and impacts negatively upon a number of regulating and supporting ecosystem services There is a global need toward achieving sustainable agricultural systems as also highlighted in the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals There is hence a need for management regimes that enhance both agricultural production and the associated provision of multiple ecosystem services The articles of this Research Topic enhance our knowledge of how management practices applied to agricultural systems affect the delivery of multiple ecosystem services and how trade offs between provisioning regulating and supporting services can be handled both above and below ground They also show the diversity of topics that need to be considered within the framework of ecosystem services delivered by agricultural systems from knowledge on basic concepts and newly proposed frameworks to a focus on specific ecosystem

types such as grasslands and high nature value farmlands pollinator habitats and soil habitats This diversity of topics indicates the need for broader scope research integrated with targeted scientific research to promote sustainable agricultural practices and to ensure food security
