

HUMAN-ENVIRONMENT INTERACTION

The Five Themes of Geography

How Do People Change a Place and Adapt to Their Environment?

Human-Environment Interaction describes how people change their environment and how environment changes the way that people live.

- People depend on their environment.
 - Example: People work in agriculture to depend on soil conditions for their crops to grow.
- People adapt to their environment.
 - Example: Architecture in desert areas adapts to hot climates with better shading opportunities.
- People modify their environment.
 - Example: People plant trees in desert areas to help with water conservation in their need for drinking.

MOVEMENT

The Five Themes of Geography

Movement describes how goods, ideas, information, and people migrate.

Movement includes the flow of people, ideas, information, and goods.

Example: People migrate from one place to another to find better opportunities.

- People migrate from one place to another to find better opportunities.

- People migrate from one place to another to find better opportunities.

REGION

What Similarities Exist in This Area?

Region describes an area with similar cultural or physical characteristics that set it apart from other areas.

Homogeneous Regions are areas that don't have a formal boundary but are commonly known regions.

Example: The United States is typically divided into three major regions: North, South, and West.

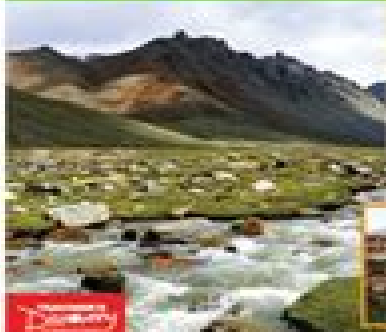

Formal Regions are identified by official boundaries and include cities, counties, states, and countries. They are clearly defined and can be located on a world map.

Functional Regions are made up of a single place and the surrounding regions that tie it to the world.

PLACE

How Can You Describe It?

Place describes the physical and human characteristics of a location.

Physical Characteristics describe the natural environment of a place.

Example: climate, height above sea level, mountains, forests, and vegetation.

Human Characteristics describe the things of a place, built and not built.

Example: roads, buildings, bridges, and people.

Where Is It?

The Five Themes of Geography

Latitude shows how far north or south a place is from the equator. It is measured in degrees north or south of the equator.

Longitude shows how far east or west a place is from the prime meridian. It is measured in degrees east or west of the prime meridian.

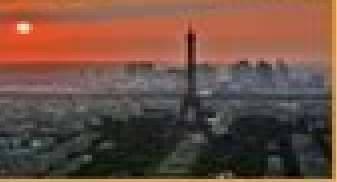

Absolute Location is a place's exact location. Absolute location can be identified with latitude and longitude coordinates or an exact address.

Example: The Statue of Liberty is located at 40° 42' N, 74° 02' W. The city of New York's address is 100 Wall Street, New York, NY 10005.

Relative Location is a description of a place's location in relation to other places. The result describes a place using words like nearby, across, above the road, next to, etc.

Example: The Statue of Liberty is located on Liberty Island, which is located in New York City, New York. The address is 100 Wall Street, New York, NY 10005.

New Movements In The Study And Teaching Of Geography:

New Movements in the Study and Teaching of Geography Norman Graves, 1974 International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education
