New Paths To Success Determining Career Alternatives For Field Grade Officers Mg 117 Osd:

Challenging Time in DOPMA Peter Schirmer, 2006 Many of the laws and policies that govern officer career management often collectively referred to as DOPMA after the Defense Officer Personnel Management Act of 1980 have been in place for decades DOPMA has served the needs of the services reasonably well but the current system may not meet the requirements of the future operating environment One criticism of DOPMA is that it does not allow for much variety in officers career paths because it is time driven Alternatively officers competencies are now emerging as the basis for career management In this monograph the authors demonstrate how a competency based officer personnel management system could provide more flexibility in preparing military officers for the wide range of roles and missions of the U S military in the 21st century This analysis focuses on practices governing promotions for military officers and closely related assignment and retirement policies Rand web site

Handbook of Defense Economics Todd Sandler, Keith Hartley, 2007-04-12 The second volume of the Handbook of Defense Economics addresses defense needs practices threats and policies in the modern era of globalization This new era concerns the enhanced cross border flows of all kinds e g capital and labor flows revolutionary rhetoric guerrillas and terrorists including the spillovers of benefits and costs associated with public goods and transnational externalities i e uncompensated interdependencies affecting two or more nations These ever increasing flows mean that military armaments and armies are less able to keep out security threats Thus novel defense and security barriers are needed to protect borders that are porous to terrorists pollutants political upheavals and conflicts Even increased trade and financial flows imply novel security challenges and defenses Globalization also underscores the importance of a new set of institutions e g the European Union and global governance networks and agents e g nongovernmental organizations and partnerships This volume addresses the security challenges in this age of globalization where conflicts involve novel tactics new technologies asymmetric warfare different venues and frightening weapons Volume 2 contains topics not covered in volume 1 i e civil wars peacekeeping economic sanctions the econometrics of arms races conversion peace economics and the interface of trade peace and democracy Volume 2 also revisits topics from volume 1 where there has been a significant advancement of knowledge i e conflict analysis terrorism arms races arms trade military manpower and arms industries All of the main securities concerns of today are analyzed Chapters are written by the leading contributors in the topic areas Up to date surveys on the pressing defense issues theoretical empirical and policy issues Coverage of theoretical and empirical studies of terrorism Contributions by the leading researchers in the field of defense economics The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006

New Paths to Success: Determining Career Alternatives for Field-Grade Officers, 2004 The Department of Defense DoD wants to create a more strategic modern and flexible officer personnel system At present most military officers are subject to a policy commonly known as up or out which requires separation from service if an officer is not promoted within a certain period of time or selectively continued or when an officer reaches established grade tenure limits The RAND Corporation was asked to outline alternatives to up or out that might be tested via demonstration projects to suggest how such tests might be evaluated and to work with the military services to identify possible communities for the tests RAND researchers propose four demonstration projects one for each service that represent various alternatives to up or out that could meet the needs of the identified communities to retain highly valued officers longer provide additional training and education and increase geographical stability for individuals The common theme in the proposed demonstration projects is to replace promotability with employability as the basis for continuation of participating officers RAND researchers also identify methodologies for measuring the implementation and outcomes of the demonstration projects and they discuss the different means of obtaining legal authority to conduct demonstration projects to test career management alternatives for military officers New Paths to Success: Determining Career Alternatives for Field-Grade Officers ,2004
