Offering To Isis:

Offering to Isis M. Isidora Forrest, 2005 Humankind has made offerings to spirits and deities for centuries This hallowed tradition helped ancient Egyptians develop a close and enduring relationship with one of their most beloved goddesses Isis M Isidora Forrest an ordained priestess of the Fellowship of Isis guides magical practitioners down a modern devotional path to this popular Egyptian goddess She discusses the theory and practice of ancient offering rites and shows how they can be applied today for spiritual growth and sacred magic Readers can choose from over seventy scripted offerings to Isis from Acacia to Words of Power Also included are the sacred hieroglyphs associated with Isis and how these powerful magical symbols can aid in forging a strong connection with the goddess A Guide to the Antiquities of Upper Egypt Arthur Edward Pearse Brome Weigall, 1910 Wine & Wine Offering In The Religion Of Ancient Egypt Poo, 2013-12-16 First published in 1995 Striking a niche among an intensely studied literary civilization this title assesses the meaning of wine and wine offering in the context of Egyptian religion by presenting observations about the implication of this study for the study of Egyptian religion in general Ancient Egypt has yielded the outlines of its religious political economic and social institutions Yet we know relatively little of the actual process through which an object of daily life such as wine was integrated into the religious system Scholars have studied various ritual offerings in Egyptian religion and clarified the religious significance of the offering objects This title aims to fill a gap in knowledge in a similar fashion The Coffin of Heqata Harco Willems, 1996 The coffin published in this book represents a type that had some popularity in southern Upper Egypt in the early Middle Kingdom but which despite its extraordinary decoration had not attracted attention so far The most striking feature of the decoration is that the object friezes the pictorial rendering of ritual implements usually found on coffin interiors of the period also include complete ritual scenes some of which are attested only here Apart from this the decoration includes an extensive selection of the religious texts known as the Coffin Texts The author first studies the archaeological context and dating of the coffin and attempts a reconstruction of the construction procedures from his technical description of the monument The detailed account of the decoration in the rest of the book interprets the ritual iconography and offers fresh translations and interpretations of the Coffin Texts A methodological innovation is that he regards the scenes and texts not as individual decoration elements but as components of an integral composition The background of this composition is argued to be a view of life in the hereafter in which the deceased is involved in an unending cycle of ritual action which reflects the funerary rituals that were actually performed on earth On the one hand these netherworldly rituals aim at bringing the deceased to new life by mummification on the other the newly regenerated deceased partakes in embalming rituals for gods representing his dead father Osiris or Atum These gods in their turn effectuate the deceased's regeneration The entire process results in a cycle of resuscitation in which the afterlife of the deceased and of the father gods are interdependent The sociological bias of this interpretation with its emphasis on kinship

Richter, 2016-04-15 The Ptolemaic period witnessed an enormous increase in the number of hieroglyphic signs and iconographic elements composite crowns scepters and cult objects The ancient scribes exploited this complexity when composing the reliefs used in temple decoration selecting particular words hieroglyphic signs and iconographic elements in order to create interconnected multiple layers of meaning forming a tapestry of sound and sight The Theology of Hathor of Dendera examines these techniques on both micro and macro levels from their smallest details to their broadest thematic connections foregrounding individual techniques to determine the words and phrases singled out for emphasis By synthesizing their use in the three dimensional space of the most important cult chamber in the Temple of Hathor at Dendera this new method of analysis not only reveals the most essential characteristics of the local theology but also shows how the ancient scribes envisioned the universe and the place of humankind within it Opera omnia Sextus Propertius, 1905 Egyptology at the Dawn of the Twenty-first Century Zahi A. The Inscription of Queen Katimala at Semna John Coleman Darnell, 2006-12-31 This is the first complete translation and commentary on the important tableau and inscription of Queen Katimala Karimala at Semna Proper understanding of the paleography grammar and content reveals Katimala to have been a Nubian ruler at the time of the Twenty First to Twenty Second Dynasties of Ancient Egypt She emerges as a political and military leader who took control of at least Lower Nubia in the wake of failed military activities on the part of a male predecessor Katimala s inscription is not illegible as has often been stated but is a well composed Lower Nubian example of a politico religious manifesto applying many of the conventions of early Egyptian literary and historical compositions
