Realism And Tinsel Cinema And Society In Britain 1939 1948:

Realism and Tinsel Robert Murphy, 1992      Realism and Tinsel Robert Murphy, 2003-09-02 First published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      Realism and Tinsel Robert Murphy, 1992      European Cinemas, European Societies Pierre Sorlin, 2004-06-19 First published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      Re-Viewing British Cinema, 1900-1992 Wheeler Winston Dixon, 1994-07-01 Re Viewing British Cinema 1900 1992 is a collection of essays on British cinema history and practice It offers both the casual reader and the film scholar a different view of British filmmaking during the past century Arranged in chronological order the book explores those areas of British cinema that have not been fully examined in other works and also offers fresh interpretations of a number of classic films From the work of Frederic Villiers the pioneering British newsreel cameraman who at the turn of the century brought home images of battlefield carnage to essays on the British B film and the long forgotten Independent Frame method of film production to new readings of classics such as The Red Shoes Passport to Pimlico and Peeping Tom the authors offer a look behind the scenes of the British film industry and engage the reader in some of the most compelling interpretational and historical issues of recent film history and critical theory In addition the volume contains a number of interviews with such key directors as Stephen Frears Terence Davies Wendy Toye and Lindsay Anderson and also pays particular attention to the work of early twentieth century British feminist filmmakers whose films have often been ignored by conventional film theory and history It also offers new material on the British film noir the English horror film and the pioneering gay director Brian Desmond Hurst Taken as a whole this book presents an entirely new series of viewpoints on British film practice theory and reception and affords a fresh and vibrant view of the British film medium      The New Policing Eugene McLaughlin, 2007 The New Policing provides a comprehensive introduction to the critical issues confronting policing today It incorporates an overview of traditional approaches to the study of the police with a discussion of current perspectives The book goes on to examine key themes including the core purpose of contemporary policework the reconfiguration of police culture organizational issues and dilemmas currently confronting the police the managerial reforms and professional innovations that have been implemented in recent years and the future of policing security and crime control In offering this discussion of the nature and role of the police The New Policing illustrates the need to re examine and re think the theoretical perspectives that have constituted policing studies Examining evidence from the UK the USA and other western societies the book promotes and enables an understanding of the cultural and symbolic significance of policing in society      The Lasting Influence of the War on Postwar British Film M. Boyce, 2012-02-14 Many of the most celebrated British films of the immediate post war period 1945 55 seem to be occupied with getting on with life and offering distraction for postwar audiences It is the time of the celebrated Ealing comedies Hue and Cry 1946 and Kind Hearts and Coronets 1949 Dickens adaptations and the most ambitious projects of the Archers While the war itself is rarely mentioned in these films the war and the conditions of postwar society lie at the heart of understanding them While various studies have focused on lesser known realist films few consider how deeply and completely the war affected British film Michael W Boyce considers the preoccupation of these films with profound anxieties and uncertainties about what life was going to be like for postwar Britain what roles men and women would play how children would grow up even what it meant and what it still means today to be British Reading London in Wartime William Cederwell,2017-11-06 Reading London in Wartime Blitz the People and Propaganda in 1940s Literature presents an expansive variety of writers and genres including non fiction and film approaches to build a comprehensive social picture of the atmosphere during wartime London From blitz and austerity to the nagging insistency of propaganda this volume examines the representation of London in wartime and early post war literature through each writer s unique perspective on the pressures of 1940s city life Exploring the use of London imagery this book considers how literature redirects attention to individual subjective experience at a time of enforced co operation uniformity and community Unlike government information films and news broadcasts which often used London to prop up prevailing clich s and stereotypes and encouraged patriotic support for the war literature had the freedom to express more recalcitrant truths London writing of the 1940s was not a literature of opposition or dissent but in offering more nuanced depictions of the period it was a counterweight to propaganda and the general war temperament In writing the city becomes a more complex place no longer the easy symbol of defiance and stoicism of the shared sacrifice of ration book and war work ambiguous messages about feminine identities and the role of women Through analysing marginalized figures such as prostitutes criminals and femmes fatales and addressing central themes notably sexuality marriage and female friendship Melanie Bell examines how British popular cinema imagined and constructed femininity in this era of rapid social and cultural change She draws together sources ranging from official reports to film reviews with case studies of films across genres including The Perfect Woman Young Wives Tale The Weak and the Wicked and A Town Like Alice to show how new ideas and understandings of femininity were seeping into the cultural imagery at this time She demonstrates how such films expressed proto feminist ideas and how they ultimately explored new forms of femininity in a manner that has not until now been recognised
