Escoffery, 2014-12-03 American viewers are attracted to what they see as the non scripted unpredictable freshness of reality television But although the episodes may not be scripted the shows are constructed within a deliberately designed framework reflecting societal values

The political economic and personal issues of reality TV are in many ways simply an exaggerated version of everyday life allowing us to identify perhaps more closely than we care to admit with the characters onscreen With 16 essays from scholars around the world this volume discusses the notion of representation in reality television It explores how both audiences and producers negotiate the gulf between representations and truth in reality shows such as Survivor The Apprentice Big Brother The Nanny American Idol Extreme Makeover Joe Millionaire and The Amazing Race Various identity categories and character types found in these shows are discussed and the accuracy of their television portrayal examined Dealing with the concept of reality audience reception gender roles minority portrayal and power issues the book provides an in depth look at what we see or think we see in reality TV Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Reality TV Jon Kraszewski, 2017-02-24 From early first wave programs such as Candid Camera An American Family and The Real World to the shows on our television screens and portable devices today reality television consistently takes us to cities such as New York Los Angeles and Boston to imagine the place of urbanity in American culture and society Jon Kraszewski offers the first extended account of this phenomenon as he makes the politics of urban space the center of his history and theory of reality television Kraszewski situates reality television in a larger economic transformation that started in the 1980s when America went from an industrial economy when cities were home to all classes to its post industrial economy as cities became key points in a web of global financing expelling all economic classes except the elite and the poor Reality television in the industrial era reworked social relationships based on class race and gender for liberatory purposes which resulted in an egalitarian ethos in the genre However reality television of the post industrial era attempts to convince viewers that cities still serve their interests even though most viewers find city life today economically untenable Each chapter uses a key theoretical concept from spatial theory such as power geometries diasporic nostalgia orientalism the imagination of social expulsions and the relationship between the country and the city to illuminate the way reality television engages this larger transformation of urban space in America

The Bizarre World of Reality Television Stuart Lenig, 2017-10-12 How do reality television programs shape our view of the world and what we perceive as real and normal This book explores the bizarre and highly controversial world of reality television including its early history wide variety of subject matter and social implications In recent decades reality television shows ranging from Keeping up with the Kardashians to Duck Dynasty have become increasingly popular Why are these unscripted programs irresistible to millions of viewers And what does the nearly universal success of reality shows say about American culture This book covers more than 100 major and influential reality programs past and present discussing the origins and past of reality programming the contemporary social and economic conditions that led to the rise of reality shows and the ways in which the most successful shows achieve popularity with both male and female demographics or appeal to specific targeted niche audiences The text addresses reality TV within five easy to identify content categories competition shows relationship love interest shows real people or alternative lifestyle and culture shows transformation shows and international programming By examining modern reality television a topic of great interest for a wide variety of readers this book also discusses cultural and social norms in the United States including materialism unrealistic beauty ideals gender roles and stereotypes in society dynamics of personal relationships teenage lifestyles and issues and the branding of people for financial gain and wider viewership

Trans-Reality Television Sofie Van Bauwel,Nico Carpentier,2012-07-10 Trans Reality Television The Transgression of Reality Genre Politics and Audience offers an overview of contributions which engage with the phenomenon of reality television as a tool to reflect on societal and mediated transformations and transgressions While some contributors delve deep into the theoretical issues others approach the topic at hand through empirical studies of specific reality television formats and programs The chapters in this volume are divided into four sections all of which deal with how we see the fluid social at work in reality television through the trans real trans politics trans genre and trans audience The first section stresses the concept of the trans real These chapters go into the complexity of the construction of reality in reality television The second section which deals with the concept of trans politics offers a diversity of perspectives on the articulation and re articulation of politics and the political In the third section trans genre the chapters analyze how the modern conceptualizations of genre and format are transcended Finally the last set of chapters articulate the concept of trans audiences using case studies of particular audiences and a study of reality celebrities Trans Reality Television concludes by returning to the sense and nonsense of the use of these post concepts

Television, Aesthetics and Reality Anthony Barker,2009-03-26 This new collection of essays seeks to focus on three areas where television has recently been in an intriguing state of flux Taking as our background the emergence of multimedia conglomerates and cash rich cable channels we look at the way old national terrestrial channels and the brash new internationally commercialized ones have innovated in the domain of television programming In all there are fourteen original essays an introduction to the book s theme by the editor and a foreword by Professor Annette Hill Section one Realizing the Real looks at contemporary patterns of television consumption and the presentational styles which package the real in news current affairs and other live television formats Essays on rhetorical strategies in the news coverage of the war in Iraq on national and international inflections of Sky News in Europe and coverage of the recent EURO2004 football tournament as well the multi channel reporting of a prominent paedophilia scandal are presented in this section They all analyse the extent to which the grounded and the local are threatened and distorted by hegemonic forces in media today The findings of a comprehensive new study of Portuguese social practices and viewing habits are also featured in this section Section Two Realizing Performance addresses the way new trends in reality programming and other documentary practices have impacted on fiction and entertainment television There are essays on the recent wave of British television comedy heavily influenced by TV newsmagazine and fly on the wall documentary styles and two pieces on new American series 24 and CSI which have revolutionized the narrative parameters and evidential base for thrillers and cop shows respectively coming up with new ways to perform space time and science Finally there is an essay on Nigel Kneale s The Year of the Sex Olympics 1968 a survivor from the era of the single play who seems to anticipate the future of television in reality based gameshow style entertainment Each of these essays shows that the success of these programmes is dependent on a fresh restylization of the conventions and formulas which govern mainstream television programming They therefore see the representation of the real in fiction as primarily an aesthetic reappraisal Section Three Performing the Real looks at the explosion in reality television programming itself It focuses on the coming to pass of 70s and 80s theorists visions of both a passive voyeuristic society and one increasingly at peace with the notion of surveillance We have been progressively acculturated to watching and being watched Orwellian anxiety has given way to Baudrillardian acceptance of the message and the medium fused in a new order of mediated reality or hyperreality Essays refer specifically to the globalization of shows and formats and their local inflections and to coverage of reality shows in print media and on the net There are essays on The Bachelor and gender stereotyping Joe Millionaire and the conventions of melodrama and two on Big Brother one on the problems of communication within a sealed environment and another on its reception in Portugal Concerns about the self and its authenticity are consistency raised in all the essays of this section
