Rayner,2014-08-26 This book brings together critical and theoretical essays examining the connections between films and landscapes It showcases the work of established and emerging academics whose research probes the complex relationships between moving images and the filmed environment and accounts for the impactful effects of viewing lived spaces and human places on screen The essays in this collection actively engage with examples of contemporary popular and art cinema genre films and auteur canon historical films propaganda documentary and animation in their explorations of the meanings with which filmed landscapes are endowed and invested The breadth of the study is matched by the depth of the interest with writers here approaching the subject of film landscapes as critics as film practitioners and as teachers of film studies and film making Film Landscapes gives voice to a great many ideas and includes coverage of a great many films but it also points forward to ways in which we might revisit discussions of the environments of film and consider ways in which history and creativity critical understanding and the interaction of human beings and place could be reconsidered and revised to produce new insights
