Colonial Kenya Observed S. H. Fazan, 2014-11-14 The coast of East Africa was considered a strategically invaluable region for the establishment of trading ports both for Arab and Persian merchants long prior to invasion and conquest by Europeans In the initial stages of the scramble for Africa in the 18th century control of the area was an aspiration for every colonial nation in Europe but it was not until 1895 that it was finally dominated by a sole power and proclaimed The Protectorate of British East Africa In the early 20th century the coast was brimming with vitality as immigrants colonisers and missionaries from Arabia India and Europe poured in to take advantage of growing commercial opportunities including the prospect of enslaving millions of native Africans The development of Kenya is an exceptional tale within the history of British rule in perhaps no other colony did nationalistic feeling evolve in conditions of such extensive social and political change In 1911 S H Fazan sailed to what later became the Republic of Kenya to work for the colonial government Immersing himself in knowledge of traditional language and law he recorded the vast changes to local culture that he encountered after decades of working with both the British administration and the Kenyan people This work charts the sweeping tide of social change that occurred through his career with the clarity and insight that comes with a total intimacy of a country His memoirs examine the fascinating complexity of interaction between the colonial and native courts commercial land reform and the revolutionised dynamic of labour relations By further unearthing the political tensions that climaxed with the Mau Mau Revolt of 1952 1960 this invaluable work on the European colonial period paints a comprehensive and revealing firsthand account for anyone with an interest in British and African history Fazan's story provides a quite unparalleled view of colonial Africa and the conduct of Empire across half a century

Pressing Interests Phoebe Musandu, 2018-10-01 During the first six decades of the twentieth century when the majority of present day Kenya was under the control of the British Empire many secular newspapers emerged as the products of tensions between Asian and European immigrants the British administration and the African petite bourgeoisie In Pressing Interests Phoebe Musandu shows that far from expressions of public opinion or vehicles of a free market these periodicals served as powerful tools for the colonial government and the elite to shape political and economic conditions in their favour Following the development of the most important newspapers established in colonial Kenya as they evolved to reflect the priorities and ambitions of their owners investors publishers journalists and editors Pressing Interests explores the roles and contributions of the press in the country s political and economic history Shedding light on newspapers as business ventures Musandu focuses on the management financial and production aspects of media Drawing on previously unearthed archival documents official and unofficial correspondence police and legal records and the newspapers themselves she further examines the press as a medium for inter and intra racial competition for power and influence as a base for the production of knowledge and as an instrument for social control In an era when we are often reminded of the power inherent in the ability to generate and disseminate information Pressing Interests tells the story of colonial Kenya s press through a timely mix of riveting accounts and the clarifying lens of careful analysis

Beyond the state Anna Greenwood,2015-12-01 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license The Colonial Medical Service was the personnel section of the Colonial Service employing the doctors who tended to the health of both the colonial staff and the local populations of the British Empire Although the Service represented the pinnacle of an elite government agency its reach in practice stretched far beyond the state with the members of the African service collaborating formally and informally with a range of other non governmental groups This collection of essays on the Colonial Medical Service of Africa illustrates the diversity and active collaborations to be found in the untidy reality of government medical provision The authors present important case studies covering former British colonial dependencies in Africa including Kenya Malawi Nigeria Tanzania Uganda and Zanzibar They reveal many new insights into the enactments of colonial policy and the ways in which colonial doctors negotiated the day to day reality during the height of imperial rule in Africa The book provides essential reading for scholars and students of colonial history medical history and colonial administration

Imperial Plots Sarah Carter,2016-10-07 Sarah Carter s Imperial Plots Women Land and the Spadework of British Colonialism on the Canadian Prairies examines the goals aspirations and challenges met by women who sought land of their own Supporters of British women homesteaders argued they would contribute to the spade work of the Empire through their imperial plots replacing foreign settlers and relieving Britain of its surplus women Yet far into the twentieth century there was persistent opposition to the idea that women could or should farm British women were to be exemplars of an idealized white femininity not toiling in the fields In Canada heated debates about women farmers touched on issues of ethnicity race gender class and nation Despite legal and cultural obstacles and discrimination British women did acquire land as homesteaders farmers ranchers and speculators on the Canadian prairies They participated in the project of dispossessing Indigenous people Their complicity was however ambiguous and restricted because they were excluded from the power and privileges of their male counterparts Imperial Plots depicts the female farmers and ranchers of the prairies from the Indigenous women agriculturalists of the Plains to the array of women who resolved to work on the land in the first decades of the twentieth century

Air empire Gordon Pirie,2017-03-01 Air empire is a fresh study of civil aviation as a tool of late British imperialism The first pioneering flights across the British empire in 1919 20 were flag waving adventures that recreated an era of plucky British maritime exploration and conquest Britain's development of international air routes and services was approved organised and celebrated largely in London there was some resistance in and beyond the subordinate colonies and dominions Negotiating the financing and geopolitics of regular commercial air service delayed its inception until the 1930s Technological managerial and logistical problems also meant that Britain was slow into the air and slow in the air Propaganda concealed underperformance and criticism The study uses archival sources biographies industry magazines and newspapers to chronicle the disputed progress toward air empire The rhetoric behind imperial air service offers a glimpse of late imperial hopes fears attitudes and style Empire air service had emotional appeal and symbolic value but disappointed in practice

Artisanal Fishers on the Kenyan Coast Jan C. Hoorweg,Barasa Wangila,A. Allan Degen,2009 Overexploitation of natural resources is often associated with poverty among local populations A multi disciplinary team studied artisanal fishers along the Kenyan coast on the Indian Ocean The main focus of the research was on income diversification of fishers the pressure on marine resources and the relation between the two Income diversification did not reduce the pressure on the marine environment Rather indications are that many part time fishers are entering the profession Moreover fishers with alternative employment stayed in shore and used damaging gear more often Policies to stimulate employment opportunities for coastal communities cannot be expected to lessen the pressure on marine resources and need to be planned carefully in terms of industry location labour requirements and degree of coastal pollution

Cultures and caricatures of British imperial aviation Gordon Pirie,2017-02-01 The new activity of trans continental civil flying in the 1930s is a useful vantage point for viewing the extension of British imperial attitudes and practices Cultures and caricatures of British imperial aviation examines the experiences of those mostly men who flew solo or with a companion racing or for leisure who were airline passengers doing colonial administration business or research or who flew as civilian air and ground crews For airborne elites flying was a modern and often enviable way of managing using and experiencing empire On the ground aviation was a device for asserting old empire adventure and modernity were accompanied by supremacism At the time however British civil imperial flying was presented romantically in books magazines and exhibitions Eighty years on imperial flying is still remembered reproduced and re enacted in caricature

Trapped in History Nicholas Rankin,2023-11-14

Trapped in History tells how the British colonised Kenya and how African nationalism arose under Jomo Kenyatta. It describes the terrifying first attacks by the guerrilla freedom fighters known as Mau Mau. Though defeated, the Mau Mau hastened the end of British rule in Kenya. Trapped in History explores the effect the uprising had on the author who grew up as a child in the Kenya colony. The book is both a history as well as a memoir of the end of Empire. Elspeth Huxley C.S.

Visions for an African Valley DR JONATHAN M. JACKSON, 2025-03-11 What was the effect of the numerous albeit often unsatisfied plans for development on the land and communities of the Kilombero valley throughout the colonial period and into the first decades of independence? This book traces histories of development in and crucially visions of development for the Kilombero valley of south central Tanzania. Taking the notion of development planning as a form of future making, the book examines the many visions or past futures projected onto Kilombero by colonial and national governments, by international organisations, syndicates and individuals. It examines how such plans were conceived, evaluates their successes and analyses their shortcomings against changing political and economic landscapes. Four key themes: agricultural intensification, ecology, control, infrastructure and re-settlement are shown to persistently surface and continue to shape the valley landscape today. By considering past future visions for the reorganisation of rural life in Tanzania, the book reveals how even recent initiatives have suffered through their failure to learn from this history. Offering fresh insights and approaches to the historiography of development, Visions for an African Valley shows Kilombero to be a prism which refracts broader phenomena across more than a century. Sara Wheeler, 2007-04-24 Denys Finch Hatton was adored by women and idolized by men. A champion of Africa, legendary for his good looks, his charm and his prowess as a soldier, lover and hunter, Finch Hatton inspired Karen Blixen to write the unforgettable stories in Out of Africa. Now esteemed British biographer Sara Wheeler tells the truth about this extraordinarily charismatic adventurer. Born to an old aristocratic family that had gambled away most of its fortune, Finch Hatton grew up in a world of effortless elegance and boundless power. Tall and graceful with the soul of a poet and an athlete's relaxed masculinity, he became a hero without trying at Eton and Oxford. In 1910, searching for novelty and danger, Finch Hatton arrived in British East Africa and fell in love with a continent with a landscape with a way of life that was about to change forever. Wheeler brilliantly conjures the mystical beauty of Kenya at a time when teeming herds of wild animals roamed unmolested across pristine savannah. No one was more deeply attuned to this beauty than Finch Hatton and no one more bitterly mourned its passing when the outbreak of World War I engulfed the region in a protracted bloody guerrilla conflict Finch Hatton was serving as a captain in the Allied forces when he met Karen Blixen in Nairobi and embarked on one of the great love affairs of the twentieth century With delicacy and grace Wheeler teases out truth from fiction in the liaison that Blixen herself immortalized in Out of Africa Intellectual equals bound by their love for the continent and their inimitable sense of style Finch Hatton and Blixen were genuine pioneers in a land that was quickly being transformed by violence greed and bigotry Ever restless Finch Hatton wandered into a career as a big game hunter and became an expert bush pilot his passion that led to his affair with the notoriously unconventional aviatrix Beryl Markham But Markham was no more able to hold him than Blixen had been Mesmerized all his life by the allure of freedom and danger Finch Hatton writes Wheeler the open road made flesh In painting a portrait of an irresistible man Sara Wheeler has beautifully captured the heady glamour of the vanished paradise of colonial East Africa In Too Close to the Sun she has crafted a book that is as ravishing as its subject
