New Trends In Astronomy Teaching:

New Trends in Astronomy Teaching L. Gouguenheim, D. McNally, J. R. Percy, 1998-10 How do students learn astronomy How can the World Wide Web be used to teach And how do planetariums help with educating the public These are just some of the timely questions addressed in this stimulating review of new trends in the teaching of astronomy Based on an international meeting hosted by the University of London and the Open University IAU Colloquium 162 this volume presents articles by experts from around the world The proceedings of the first IAU Colloquium 105 The Teaching of Astronomy edited by Percy and Pasachoff were first published in 1990 and soon became established as the definitive resource for astronomy teachers Astronomy education has advanced enormously in the intervening 7 years and this sequel will inspire and encourage teachers of astronomy at all levels and provide them with wealth of ideas and experience on which to build

The Future of Small Telescopes in the New Millennium Terry D. Oswalt, 2012-12-06 The motivation for these volumes is to provide a vision for the future of small telescopes While this is an admirable task ultimately I believe that as happens all the time in science the prognostications will be overtaken by a rapidly changing scientific reality As Virginia Trimble points out in chapter 1 the kinds of big questions that face us as astronomers today are rather different than the ones that drove the construction of astronomical facilities through much of the twentieth century Right now it appears that small telescopes will not have a lot of influence in answering those questions though they will of course contribute enormously to the many issues discussed throughout the three volumes We are on the verge of opening a whole new parameter space that may revolutionize the way we think of small telescopes and their role in astronomy the domain of the rapidly variable sky While the LSST is the most prominent example it is a long way in the future Nemiroff Rafert chapter 2 consider the value of monitoring large parts of the sky on a continuous basis using technology similar to a webcam They have installed their CONCAM2 at four locations including Kitt Peak A related project built and operated by the Harvard graduate student Gaspar Bakos HAT-1 Hungarian Automated Telescope also is in operation at Kitt Peak International Handbook of Research in History, Philosophy and Science Teaching Michael R. Matthews, 2014-07-03 This inaugural handbook documents the distinctive research field that utilizes history and philosophy in investigation of theoretical curricular and pedagogical issues in the teaching of science and mathematics It is contributed to by 130 researchers from 30 countries it provides a logically structured fully referenced guide to the ways in which science and mathematics education is informed by the history and philosophy of these disciplines as well as by the philosophy of education more generally The first handbook to cover the field it lays down a much needed marker of progress to date and provides a platform for informed and coherent future analysis and research of the subject The publication comes at a time of heightened worldwide concern over the standard of science and mathematics education attended by fierce debate over how best to reform curricula and enliven student engagement in the subjects There is a growing recognition among educators and policy makers that the learning of science must dovetail with learning about science this handbook is uniquely positioned as a locus for the discussion The handbook features sections on pedagogical theoretical national and biographical research setting the literature of each tradition in its historical context It reminds readers at a crucial juncture that there has been a long and rich tradition of historical and philosophical engagements with science and mathematics teaching and that lessons can be learnt from these engagements for the resolution of current theoretical curricular and pedagogical questions that face teachers and administrators Science educators will be grateful for this unique encyclopaedic handbook Gerald Holton Physics Department Harvard University This handbook gathers the fruits of over thirty years research by a growing international and cosmopolitan community Fabio Bevilacqua Physics Department University of Pavia

Haubold, 2005-12-28 J Andersen Niels Bohr Institute for Astronomy Physics and Geophysics Astronomical Observatory Copenhagen ja astro ku dk The development of astronomy worldwide begins at the roots Already from childhood humans of all nations and civilizations seem to share an innate fascination with the sky Yet people in different regions of the world have vastly different possibilities for pursuing this interest In wealthy industrialised societies the way is open to a school or higher education in science possibly leading to a career in astronomy or basic or applied space science for the benefit of the country as well as the individual In other regions neither the financial nor the trained human resources are sufficient to offer that avenue to the future of the young generation or those intellectual resources to the development of their country This book addresses ways and means by which these obstacles can be if not fully overcome then at least significantly reduced
