People And Cultures Of Hawaii A Psychocultural Profile:

People and Cultures of Hawaii John F. McDermott, Wen-Shing Tseng, Thomas W. Maretzki, 1980-01-01 In addition to the rich and useful material which this book provides any health worker or student of Hawaiian society it also serves as a fascinating series of case studies in the adaptation of non Western groups to a Western industrial society Journal of the Polynesian Society

People and Cultures of Hawaii Thomas W. Maretzki, 2011-04-30 This is a significant update to the highly influential text People and Cultures of Hawaii A Psychocultural Profile Since its publication in 1980 the immigrant groups it discusses in depth have matured and new ones have been added to the mix The present work tracks the course of these changes over the past twenty years constructing a historical understanding of each group as it evolved from race to ethnicity to culture Individual chapters begin with an overview of one of fifteen groups Following the development of its unique ethnocultural identity distinctive character traits such as temperament and emotional expression are explored as well as ethnic stereotypes Also discussed are modifications to the group's ethnocultural identity over time and generational change which traits may have changed over generations and which are more hardwired or enduring An important feature of each chapter is the focus on the group's family social structure generational and gender roles power distribution and central values and life goals Readers will also find a description of the group's own internal social class structure social and political strategies and occupational and educational patterns Finally contributors consider how a particular ethnic group has blended into Hawai'i's culturally sensitive society People and Cultures of Hawai'i The Evolution of Culture and Ethnicity will like its predecessor fill an important niche in understanding the history of different ethnic groups in Hawai'i Psychoneurology 2 Norman B.

Levy,2013-11-11 Handbook of Social Services for Asian and Pacific Islanders Noreen Mokuau,1991-11-30 This handbook emphasizes culturally sensitive social services for Asian and Pacific Islanders It integrates conceptual information with concrete hands on application of skills The book is divided into three parts 1 the nature and scope of social services for Asian and Pacific Islanders 2 Asian and Pacific Islander populations and 3 special issues and problems The first section establishes a foundation for culturally sensitive practice through an overview of all Asian and Pacific Islander groups It presents a framework for appropriate intervention with these populations and details the interface of western and eastern psychologies Section two specifically focuses on seven of the largest Asian and Pacific Islander populations in the United States the three largest Asian American groups Chinese Filipino and Japanese the three largest Pacific Islander groups native Hawaiians Samoans and Chamorros and the newest refugee group Vietnamese The contributors provide in depth information on topics critical to culturally sensitive practice such as history sociodemographic description values and behavioral norms and profiles of social and psychological problems then discuss appropriate social service intervention Finally section three addresses special problems and issues confronting Asian and Pacific Islanders in contemporary society such as family violence aging and social literacy It is projected that in the year 2030 one of every three Americans will be a person of color It is essential that social and human service educators and providers begin to examine critically those components that constitute culturally sensitive practice for a historically neglected population This book will be an essential part of that process

Cultural Diversity Ruben J. Echemendia,2015-10-23 Cultural Diversity studies the relationship between culture and neuropsychology Its goal is to examine salient aspects of this relationship and assist in bringing the issue of culture and cultural diversity to the forefront of neuropsychological discussions The articles help further the understanding that ethnic and cultural variables are important not only in research design but also in clinical practice In addition they urge clinicians to make cultural variables an integral component of any neuropsychological assessment and examine clinical data in the context of the patient s ethnic and cultural background

Depression and the Social Environment Philippe Cappeliez, Robert John Flynn, 1993 While depression has been the subject of much research in the last decade far too little attention has been paid to the influence of the social environment on depression and on mental health generally This lack has become more conspicuous since the Canadian federal government began requiring that policy makers make social environment a primary consideration when designing new mental health programs

A Study of the Thematic Apperception Test (TAT) with Japanese Subjects Jennifer L. Gray, 1999 The purpose of the study was to identify common themes on the Thematic Apperception Test TAT for Japanese subjects In addition Japanese TAT themes were compared with American TAT themes Stein 1981 for any significant differences It was hypothesized that significant differences in narrative themes would exist between Japanese and American subjects The subjects included sixty male and female college students attending courses in Tokyo Japan Subjects were enrolled in college courses during the administration of the test and ranged in age from 18 to 27 years of age All the participants were fluent in English allowing them to make responses in that language therefore eliminating the errors inherent in translation Japanese subjects were then compared with Morris I Stein s original study of eighty American males conducted in 1981 Ten of the original Murray TAT cards were used 1 2 3BM 4 6BM 7GF 8BM 10 11 and 14 Japanese narratives were then scored using five variables for each of the ten cards hero gender the incidence of death need for achievement dominant emotional tone and the outcome of the story In conclusion common TAT themes for Japanese subjects were identified for all ten of the cards that were administered Cards 1 2 4 8BM 10 11 and 14 shared many of the same themes for Japanese and American subjects On the other hand cards 3BM 6BM and 7GF varied in theme content for Japanese and American subjects These findings will help determine the validity and reliability of the TAT as an assessment tool for Japanese subjects and open the door for future studies of Asian populations in the United States as this population is underrepresented in much of the research and literature of today
