Realising Participation Elderly People As Active Users Of Health And Social Care:

Realising Participation Kathryn Roberts, Tom Chapman, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 During the last twenty years government rhetoric in the UK has increasingly advocated that statutory health and social care services should regard and treat recipients as consumers in the same way as companies and organizations in the private sector This involves a considerable cultural change on the part of both service providers and their clients and this timely study explores the extent to which such a cultural change is actually taking place in British society The utilization of welfare services by a sample of people aged 70 and above on discharge from inpatient care and in a short period afterwards is examined as a critical testbed for key components of consumerism including participation representation access choice information and redress The book explores not only the extent to which opportunities are being provided for users to play an active role in their care but also their degree of willingness to assume such a role By investigating the experiences of clients from a generation which might be considered relatively resistant to a more active participation in health and social care the study offers an important insight into the extent to which a real social transformation is indeed taking place in the British welfare services

Solidarity in Health and Social Care in Europe W. Arts, R. Muffels, 2013-03-14 OF SOLIDARITY IN UK SOCIAL WELFARE Here then perhaps is a British version of solidarity in social welfare but early there are strong tensions between the powerfully liberal individualistic strands of the British understanding of the functions of the state and the socialistic or communitarian tendency of a commitment to universal welfare provision In the search for the roots of this understanding of welfare we shall survey first the historical background to these tensions in some early British political philosophers starting with Hobbes and ending with Mill We then consider the philosophical and social influences on the Beveridge Report itself and we will trace the emergence of the philosophy of the welfare state in the era following the Second World War Finally we consider the contemporary debate as it relates to the Third Way thinking of New Labour 2 A mSTORICAL SKETCH In the previous section we observed that the philosophy underlying the Beveridge Report could be described as liberal collectivism What are the historical antecedents of this strange amalgam of individualism and collectivism Within the short scope of this chapter any account of the philosophical history must be little more than a sketch but we can perhaps understand most debates in British socio political thought as a continuing dialogue with the well known claim of Thomas Hobbes in Leviathan that all political institutions are founded on egoistic motives Soziale Arbeit für den aktivierenden Staat Heinz-Juergen

Integrated Care and Fall Prevention in Active and Healthy Aging Eklund, Patrik, 2021-06-25 In today's world healthy aging and a fulfilling lifestyle are important to older members of society with many opting to remain as independent and mobile as possible for as long as possible However elderly individuals tend to have a variety of functional limitations that can increase the likelihood of debilitating falls and injuries Assessments of functionality are very often only performed following an accident which implies a hindsight bias because results do not necessarily reflect pre accidental performance capacities Furthermore these belated measures do little to reduce the likelihood of new falls As such it is imperative that personalized preventative approaches are taken to prevent falls Integrated Care and Fall Prevention in Active and Healthy Aging contains state of the art research and practices related to integrated care fall prevention and aging throughout areas ranging from medical to social aspects of care health economy standards pathways and information scopes practices and guidelines technology etc Covering topics such as active care and healthy aging it is ideal for doctors gerontologists nursing home and long care facility staff scientists researchers students academicians and practitioners working in care pathways involving good practices of fall prevention in home care and community care settings Active Ageing Andrea Principi, Per H. Jensen, Giovanni Lamura, 2014 Active ageing has become a key phrase in the discourses about healthy aging processes and one important way that it has been achieved in Europe is through the engagement of older people in volunteer work Active Ageing offers a much needed compendium of research on volunteerism among seniors Ranging across eight European countries the contributors highlight how different levels in the structure of volunteering from local to national interact and how these interactions either facilitate or hinder seniors inclusion in voluntary work They go on to offer policy suggestions for a more integrated strategy that can better support this unique group of volunteer workers Person-Centred

Dictionary of Statutes within EU Law Antonio Bartolini, Roberto Cippitani, Valentina Colcelli, 2019-01-05 This Dictionary analyses the ways in which the statuses of European citizens are profoundly affected by EU law The study of one s particular status as a worker consumer family member citizen etc helps to reconsider the legal notions concerning an individual s status at the EU level The Dictionary includes a foreword by Evgeni Tanchev Advocate General at the Court of Justice of the European Union which illustrates some interesting features of the Court's case law on statuses The Dictionary's core is composed of 79 chapters published in alphabetical order Each brief chapter analyses how the individual status was conditioned or created by contemporary EU law or how the process of European integration modified the traditional juridical definition of the respective status The Dictionary provides answers to the following questions Has the process of European integration modified the traditional juridical definition of individual status Has the concept of legal status now acquired a new function What role has EU law played in developing a new modern function for the concept of individual status Are the selection of a specific individual status by EU law and the proliferation of such statuses which is synonymous with the creation of new privileges collectively undermining the goal of achieving substantive equality between EU citizens Does this constitute a return to the past Under EU law is it possible to create a uniform definition of the legal status of the person over and above the definition that is provided by a given Member State's legal system

Aging: Culture, Health, and Social Change David N. Weisstub, David C. Thomasma, S. Gauthier, G.F. Tomossy, 2013-06-29 Culture Health and Social Change is the first of three volumes on Aging conceived for the International Library of Ethics Law and the New Medicine Leading scholars from a range of disciplines contest some of the predominant paradigms on aging and critically assess modern trends in social health policy How we approach and understand aging will have indelible effects on existing and future elder citizens Acknowledging the cultural variances that exist in the human experience of aging is therefore of vital importance in order to respond to individual needs in a manner that is not paternalistic discriminatory or exclusionary
