Rebel Women Feminism Modernism And The Edwardian Novel:

Rebel Women Jane Eldridge Miller, 1997-03-15 With the rise of women's suffrage challenges to marriage and divorce laws and expanding opportunities for education and employment for women the early years of the twentieth century were a time of social revolution Examining British novels written in 1890-1914 Jane Eldridge Miller demonstrates how these social legal and economic changes rendered the traditional narratives of romantic desire and marital closure inadequate forcing Edwardian novelists to counter the limitations and ideological implications of those narratives with innovative strategies The original and provocative novels that resulted depict the experiences of modern women with unprecedented variety specificity and frankness Rebel Women is a major re-evaluation of Edwardian fiction and a significant contribution to literary history and criticism Miller's is the best account we have not only of Edwardian women novelists but of early 20th century women novelists the measure of her achievement is that the distinction no longer seems workable David Trotter The London Review of Books The New Man, Masculinity and Marriage in the Victorian Novel Tara MacDonald, 2015-10-06 By tracing the rise of the New Man alongside novelistic changes in the representations of marriage MacDonald shows how this figure encouraged Victorian writers to reassess masculine behaviour and to re-imagine the marriage plot in light of wider social changes She finds examples in novels by Dickens Anne Bront George Eliot and George Gissing Victorian Marriage Quest V1 Ann Heilmann, 2021-12-16 First published in 2004 This five volume set collects together a series of writings on the role of women in the late Victorian Era Volume 1 includes texts on the concept of the New Woman a social phenomenon around 1894 a woman with a college education professional aspirations and feminist convictions Sapphic Primitivism Robin Hackett, 2004 In this book Robin Hackett examines portrayals of race class and sexuality in modernist texts by white women to argue for the existence of a literary device that she calls Sapphic primitivism The works vary widely in their form and content and include Olive Schreiner's proto-modernist exploration of New Womanhood The Story of an African Farm Virginia Woolf's high modernist play poem The Waves Sylvia Townsend Warner's historical novel Summer Will Show and Willa Cather's Southern pastoral Sapphira and the Slave Girl In each blackness and working class culture are figured to represent sexual autonomy including lesbianism for white women Sapphic primitivism exposes the ways several classes of identification were intertwined with the development of homosexual identities at the turn of the century Sapphic primitivism is not however a means of disguising lesbian content Rather it is an aesthetic displacement device that simultaneously exposes lesbianism and exploits modern primitivist modes of self-representation Hackett's revelations of the mutual interests of those who study early twentieth century constructions of race and sexuality and twenty-first century feminists doing anti-racist and queer work are a major contribution to literary studies and identity theory Sisters and Rivals in British Women's Fiction, 1914-39 D. Wallace, 2000-06-21 What happens when two women love the same man This is the first book to examine female rivalry as a distinctive theme in women's fiction and to analyze the female-identified erotic triangle where two women are rivals for the same man as a narrative pattern which has a special resonance for inter war women writers Focusing on five key writers Diana Wallace offers a reconsideration of inter war women s writing and an examination of the links and rivalries between women writers themselves

A New Woman Reader Carolyn Christensen Nelson,2001

Women's Authorship and Editorship in Victorian Culture Beth Palmer,2011-02-17 This book considers the ways in which women writers used the powerful positions of author and editor to perform conventions of gender and genre in the Victorian period It examines Mary Elizabeth Braddon Ellen Wood and Florence Marryat s magazines Belgravia Argosy and London Society respectively alongside their sensation fiction to explore the mutually influential strategies of authorship and editorship The relationship between sensation s success as a popular fiction genre and its serialisation in the periodical press was not just reciprocal but also self conscious and performative Publishing sensation in Victorian magazines offered women writers a set of discursive strategies that they could transfer onto other cultural discourses and performances With these strategies they could explore enact and re work contemporary notions of female agency and autonomy as well as negotiate contemporary criticism Combining authorship and editorship gave these middle class women exceptional control over the shaping of fiction its production and its dissemination By paying attention to the ways in which the sensation genre is rooted in the press network this book offers a new broader context for the phenomenal success of works like Mary Elizabeth Braddon s Lady Audley s Secret and Ellen Wood s East Lynne The book reaches back to the mid nineteenth century to explore the press conditions initiated by figures like Charles Dickens and Mrs Beeton that facilitated the later success of these sensation writers By looking forwards to the New Woman writers of the 1890s the book draws conclusions regarding the legacies of sensational author editorship in the Victorian press and beyond

Remapping the Home Front Debra Rae Cohen,2002 An examination of how wartime rhetoric in World War I influenced the home front fiction of four British women writers Violet Hunt Rose Macaulay Stella Benson and Rebecca West

Moneta's Veil: Essays in Nineteenth Century Literature Malabika Sarkar,2009 Moneta s Veil Essays in Nineteenth Century Literature seeks to uncover relatively unexplored aspects of nineteenth century literature and culture important not as hidden curiosities but as issues that are relevant challenging and significant to our understanding of the nineteenth century A fascinating and well researched contribution to the continuing process of rediscovering the nineteenth century this volume will be valuable to scholars and students of English literature and feminist and social history

Affective Labour in British and American Women's Fiction, 1848-1915 Katherine Skaris,2018-07-26 This volume is a comprehensive and transatlantic literary study of women s nineteenth and twentieth century fiction Firstly it introduces and explores the concept of women s affective labour and examines literary representations of this work in British and American fiction written by women between 1848 and 1915 Secondly it revives largely ignored texts by the scribbling women of Britain and America such as Mary Elizabeth Braddon Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Mona Caird and Mary Hunter Austin and rereads established authors such as Elizabeth Gaskell Kate Chopin and Edith Wharton to demonstrate how all these works provide valuable insights into women's lives in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Finally, by adopting the lens of affective labour, the study explores the ways in which women were portrayed as striving for self-fulfilment through forms of emotional, mental, and creative endeavours that have not always been fully appreciated as work in critical accounts of nineteenth and twentieth-century fiction.
