

RECENT SOVIET PSYCHOLOGY

THE MAIN TRENDS CURRENT IN SOVIET PSYCHOLOGY:

- i. Physiological psychology based on Pavlov's work.
- ii. The growth of concepts and of speech based on Vygotsky's and Lurija's studies.
- iii. The development of the notion of "motivation" following the designs of a school of thought.

The Perception of Stimulus Relations Hayne W. Reese, 2013-10-22 The Perception of Stimulus Relations Discrimination Learning and Transposition focuses on the processes methodologies and approaches involved in discrimination learning and transposition The book first offers information on stimulus equivalence transposition of paradigms and the transposition and relation perception problems The manuscript then examines measurement training subject and test variables Topics include stimulus and procedural variables effect of direction of transposition test phylogenetic comparisons concept knowledge and speed of original learning The publication elaborates on form transposition including transposition of visual forms and the meaning of form and form transposition The text then takes a look at relational and absolute theories summary of findings and evaluation of theories and outline of a theory of transposition Discussions focus on assumptions and basic deductions effect of absolute stimulus components effect of noticing change in stimuli from training to test and stimulus similarity The book is a valuable source of data for readers interested in discrimination learning and transposition Beyond the Brain

Igor M. Arieievitch, 2017-08-24 The book outlines a fundamental alternative to the rising wave of aggressive biological reductionism and brainism in contemporary psychology and education It offers steps to achieving a daunting and elusive goal constructing a coherently non reductionist account of the mind The main obstacle to such a construction is identified as the centuries old contemplative fallacy that leads to entrenched dualisms and shackles major theoretical frameworks The alternative agentive activity perspective overcomes this fallacy by advancing the core principles of the cultural historical activity theory This innovative perspective charts a consistently non mentalist and non individualist view of psychological processes without discarding the individual mind A vast body of research and theories from Piaget and Dewey to sociocultural and embodied cognition approaches are critically engaged with a special focus on Piotr Galperin s contribution The notion of the embodied agent s object directed activity serves as a pivotal point for re conceptualizing the mind and its role in behavior In a radical departure from both the traditional mentalist and biologically reductionist frameworks psychological processes are understood as taking place beyond the brain as constituted by the agent s activities in the world From this standpoint many of Vygotsky s key insights including semiotic mediation internalization and cognitive tools are given a fresh scrutiny and substantially revised The agentive activity perspective opens ways to offer a bold vision for education developmental teaching and learning built on the premise that real knowledge is not information storage and retrieval and that education is not about knowledge transmission but instead it is about developing students minds
