Shingu Pierre Restany, Susumu Shingu, 1997-10-14 Susumu Shingu's graceful wind and water powered kinetic sculptures

represent the perfect harmony between high technology and nature Although originally trained as a painter Shingu became interested in sculpture when he saw one of his shaped canvases turning softly in the wind The work that followed relied on natural forces to make it move or make sound and he began using more sophisticated materials for outdoor works By the time of Expo 70 in Osaka Shingu had been commissioned to create a piece for the plaza It contained many of the elements he would use later parts of it were moved by both wind and water in some ways harnessing their power but also buffeted by it His work walks the fine line between complementing nature and being an integral part of it The pieces though large colorful and usually made of modern materials adopt nature s rhythms in their movement Shingu s sculpture is found around the world from Japan to France Italy and the United States In addition to creating sculptures he has written and illustrated several children s books and designed several theater pieces that integrate his sculptures and installations with dramatic stories All of these endeavors are collected here along with the artist s comments on many of the sculptures essays by Pierre Restany and Renzo Piano and an interview with Joseph Giovannini in a monograph that provides a complete portrait of Shingu s diverse career The Publishers Weekly ,1997
