Range Site Archaic Through Late Woodland Occupations:

The Range Site John Edward Kelly, 1987 The Range Site, 1987 Late Woodland Societies Thomas E. Emerson, Dale L. McElrath, Andrew C. Fortier, 2000-01-01 Archaeologists across the Midwest have pooled their data and perspectives to produce this indispensable volume on the Native cultures of the Late Woodland period approximately A D 300 1000 Sandwiched between the well known Hopewellian and Mississippian eras of monumental mound construction the Late Woodland period has received insufficient attention from archaeologists who have frequently characterized it as consisting of relatively drab artifact assemblages The close connections between this period and subsequent Mississippian and Fort Ancient societies however make it especially valuable for cross cultural researchers Understanding the cultural processes at work during the Late Woodland period will yield important clues about the long term forces that stimulate and enhance social inequality Late Woodland Societies is notable for its comprehensive geographic coverage exhaustive presentation and discussion of sites artifacts and prehistoric cultural practices and critical summaries of interpretive perspectives and trends in scholarship The vast amount of information and theory brought together examined and synthesized by the contributors produces a detailed coherent and systematic picture of Late Woodland lifestyles across the Midwest The Late Woodland can now be seen as a dynamic time in its own right and instrumental to the emergence of complex late prehistoric cultures across the Midwest and Southeast The Woodland Ridge Site and Late Woodland Land Use in the Southern American Bottom Brad Koldehoff, 2002 Encyclopedia of Prehistory Peter N. Peregrine, Melvin Ember, 2012-12-06 The Encyclopedia of Prehistory represents temporal dimension Major traditions are an attempt to provide basic information also defined by a somewhat different set of on all archaeologically known cultures sociocultural characteristics than are eth covering the entire globe and the entire nological cultures Major traditions are prehistory of humankind It is designed as defined based on common subsistence a tool to assist in doing comparative practices sociopolitical organization and research on the peoples of the past Most material industries but language ideology of the entries are written by the world s and kinship ties play little or no part in foremost experts on the particular areas their definition because they are virtually and time periods unrecoverable from archaeological con The Encyclopedia is organized accord texts In contrast language ideology and ing to major traditions A major tradition kinship ties are central to defining ethno is defined as a group of populations sharing logical cultures

Excavations of the Leuty and McDonald Site Mounds in the Watts Bar Nuclear Plant Area Gerald F. Schroedl, 1978 The Archaeology of Houses and Households in the Native Southeast Benjamin A. Steere, 2017-04-11 This book explores changes in houses and households in the southeastern United States from the Woodland to the Historic Indian Period ca 200 B C to A D 1800 Most studies of domestic architecture in the Southeast have been conducted at the single site scale As a result broader spatial and temporal patterns of variation in houses and households are not well understood To address this problem Steere constructed a database that catalogues the architectural features of 1 258 structures from 65 sites in the Southern Appalachian region and surrounding areas Significant trends identified by this comparative study include changes in the size and spacing of houses changes in architectural investment and a secular trend toward the increasing segmentation of houses Using a theoretical framework developed from household archaeology and anthropology Steere argues that certain aspects of this architectural variation can be explained by changes in household economics and household composition symbolic behavior status differentiation and settlement patterning More generally he proposes that large scale patterns of diachronic and synchronic variation in domestic architecture are best explained by changes in social organization Provided by publisher

Southeastern Ceremonial Complex Adam King, 2007-08-26 How certain Southern indigenous viewed themselves from prehistory to decimation by Europeans was already a significant subject of study fifty years ago but more recent scholarship has proven that what was once considered a single cult was actually a complex of cults with myriad adaptations of myths and artifacts This collection of 12 articles details archeological findings and analysis of how this warrior based set of precepts and practices developed and grew into elaborate ceremonial places and burial grounds Topics include the implications of recent analysis of sites early evidence of the Southeastern Ceremonial Complex SECC and its contexts the role of time in development of the SECC material and iconographic evidence of the SECC in Erowah culture evidence from Moundville potsherds SECC ritual regalia in the southern Appalachians and other regions the role of sex in SECC and future directions of research

New Histories of Village Life at Crystal River Thomas J. Pluckhahn, Victor D. Thompson, 2018-05-08 An in depth study of a Woodland period archaeological site that was occupied for over 1 000 years This volume explores how native peoples of the Southeastern United States cooperated to form large and permanent early villages using the site of Crystal River on Florida s Gulf Coast as a case study Crystal River was once among the most celebrated sites of the Woodland period ca 1000 B C to A D 1050 consisting of ten mounds and large numbers of diverse artifacts from the Hopewell culture But a lack of research using contemporary methods at this site and nearby Roberts Island limited a full understanding of what these sites could tell scholars Thomas Pluckhahn and Victor Thompson reanalyze previous excavations and conduct new field investigations to tell the whole story of Crystal River from its beginnings as a ceremonial center through its growth into a large village to its decline at the turn of the first millennium while Roberts Island and other nearby areas thrived Comparing this community to similar sites on the Gulf Coast and in other areas of the world Pluckhahn and Thompson argue that Crystal River is an example of an early village society They illustrate that these early villages present important evidence in a larger debate regarding the role of competition versus cooperation in the development of human societies A volume in the Florida Museum of Natural History Ripley P Bullen Series
