Truth and Vision in Katherine Anne Porter's Fiction Darlene Harbour Unrue,2008-12-01 My stories are fragments of a larger plan Katherine Anne Porter once wrote And on another occasion she praised a critic who perceived that all her work from the very beginning was part of an unbroken progression all related In Truth and Vision in Katherine Anne Porter s Fiction Darlene Unrue examines the encompassing themes that underlie Porter s shorter fiction and that combined to create the haunting events of her complex metaphorical novel Ship of Fools Porter believed that men and women are compelled toward discovering the truth about their existence but that the nature of our world makes those truths difficult to discern In her writing Unrue finds Porter explored not only this basic human need to confront the truth but also the bewilderment and suffering that are so often the results of failing to fulfill that need Often in Porter s fiction the movement toward truth is obstructed by the hollow beliefs and illusions that abound in the world by the seductions of ideology and dogmatic religion by romantic love or the vision of a golden past Clinging to such illusions using them to lend a false coherence to their lives Porter s characters are led away from the hard realization that truth requires accepting the existence of the unknowable at the center of life and that what is knowable lies within themselves Drawing on essays reviews letters and notes as well as on the intricate fabric of the fiction this study traces Porter s pursuit of the truth through the creation of a body of fiction in which from fragments of life she could assemble an honest vision of the world The Dialectics of Exile Sophia A. McClennen,2004 The history of exile literature is as old as the history of writing itself Despite this vast and varied literary tradition criticism of exile writing has tended to analyze these works according to a binary logic where exile either produces creative freedom or it traps the writer in restrictive nostalgia The Dialectics of Exile Nation Time Language and Space in Hispanic Literatures offers a theory of exile writing that accounts for the persistence of these dual impulses and for the ways that they often co exist within the same literary works Focusing on writers working in the latter part of the twentieth century who were exiled during a historical moment of increasing globalization transnational economics and the theoretical shifts of postmodernism Sophia A McClennen proposes that exile literature is best understood as a series of dialectic tensions about cultural identity Through comparative analysis of Juan Goytisolo Spain Ariel Dorfman Chile and Cristina Peri Rossi Uruguay

this book explores how these writers represent exile identity Each chapter addresses dilemmas central to debates over cultural identity such as nationalism versus globalization time as historical or cyclical language as representationally accurate or disconnected from reality and social space as utopic or dystopic McClennen demonstrates how the complex writing of these three authors functions as an alternative discourse of cultural identity that not only challenges official versions imposed by authoritarian regimes but also tests the limits of much cultural criticism

The Late Novels of Eudora Welty Jan Nordby Gretlund, Karl-Heinz Westarp, 1998 The Late Novels of Eudora Welty offers readings of two of the works considered to be Welty's most exciting both in innovative technique and postmodern existential statement Fourteen new essays by internationally distinguished critics of Southern literature provide focused appraisals of Welty's last two novels Losing Battles 1970 a provocative experiment in narration and Pulitzer Prize winning The Optimist's Daughter 1972 a profound comment on our time
