Shipping Economics:

An Introduction to Shipping Economics Ignacy Chrzanowski, 1985

Shipping Economics Kevin Cullinane, 2005-06-15

Shipping is by far the most significant mode of transportation for the carriage of freight. In terms of volume alone no other mode comes close. Its dominance is even more overwhelming when distances are accounted for. This book is concerned with the economics of this pivotal mode of transportation. It reveals that the influences on the development and current state of shipping economics research are extremely eclectic. The various chapters in the book represent areas that are of central concern to ongoing research in the field. As such the book is useful to students, researchers, industrialists, policy makers and consultants. The authors of the contributed chapters are some of the leading names in the world of shipping economics addressing a number of diverse areas. The econometric modeling of shipping markets, Shipping finance, a critical issue in such a capital intensive industry, Fiscal policy and its impact on an international industry with great asset mobility and Safety and security aspects that have risen to prominence with increasing concerns over the environment and international terrorism. Ultimately while shipping as a business depends upon trade it is absolutely certain that the business of trade depends upon shipping. The final two chapters therefore incorporate aspects of network economics, welfare economics and international trade theory to analyze where and how shipping sits within the wider perspective of industrial supply chains. Professor Kevin Cullinane BA BSc MSc PhD FCILT CNIP Professor Kevin Cullinane is Chair in Marine Transport and Management at the University of Newcastle in the U K. He was previously Professor and Head of the Department of Shipping and Transport Logistics at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University, Head of the Centre for International Shipping and Transport at Plymouth University, Senior Partner in his own transport consultancy company and Research Fellow at the University of Oxford Transport Studies Unit. He is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport and has been a transport adviser to the governments of Hong Kong, Egypt, Chile and the U K. He holds visiting Professorships at a number of institutions and an Honorary Professorship at the University of Hong Kong.

Shipping Economics S.G. Sturme, 1975-06-18 Liner Shipping Economics Jan Jansson, Dan Shneerson, 1987. The importance of international liner shipping needs little emphasizing. A large majority of international trade moves by sea and the liner shipping share in total freight revenue exceeds one half. Notwithstanding people in general know surprisingly little about the basic facts of the liner shipping industry and in particular about the economics of liner shipping. Perhaps because it is an international industry where shipping lines flying many different flags participate it has tended to fall in between national accounts of domestic industries. Even transport economists have generally speaking treated liner shipping rather stepmotherly. Besides the work of Bennathan and Walters 1969 a relatively small group of specialized maritime economists including A Stromme, Svendsen, T Thorburn, S Sturme, R Goss and B M Deakin have in the post war period made important contributions to the subject but so far no coherent and reasonably comprehensive treatise of liner shipping economics has appeared. The first purpose of the present volume is therefore obvious to provide just that The book is divided in three parts Part I The liner shipping industry Part II Liner service optimization Part III Economic evaluation of the conference system Needless to say all three parts concur to fulfill the first purpose of providing a complete book of liner shipping economics In Part II a more or less separate second purpose has been to develop analytical tools for liner service optimization Thereby we use different approaches Liner Shipping edition Maritime Economics provides a valuable introduction to the organisation and workings of the global shipping industry. The author outlines the economic theory as well as many of the operational practicalities involved. Extensively revised for the new edition, the book has many clear illustrations and tables. Topics covered include an overview of international trade, Maritime Law, economic organisation and principles, financing ships and shipping companies, market research and forecasting.

Maritime Economics 3e Martin Stopford, 2008-12-19. Combining a sophisticated historical and theoretical analysis of the shipping industry with a practical explanation of all aspects of the shipping industry, this third edition is essential reading for students and professionals with an interest in this area. Studies in Maritime Economics R. O. Goss, 1968-07.

Compilation of articles on maritime questions with particular reference to the efficiency of sea transport. Covers the effect of investment in shipping on the balance of payments, the design and architecture of ships used for goods transport, the economic implications of automation, insurance and transport costs, cost-benefit analysis of port investments etc. and includes an article commenting on shipping legislation in the USA. The Handbook of Maritime Economics and Business Costas Grammenos, 2013-07-04. This book is the founding title in the Grammenos Library. The diversity of the subjects covered is unique and the results of research developed over many years are not only comprehensive but also have important implications on real-life issues in maritime business. The new edition covers a vast number of topics including Shipping Economics and Maritime Nexus, International Seaborne Trade Economics of Shipping Market and Shipping Cycles, Economics of Shipping Sectors, Issues in Liner Shipping, Economics of Maritime Safety and Seafaring Labour Market, National and International Shipping Policies, Aspects of Shipping Management and Operations, Shipping Investment and Finance, Port Economics and Management, Aspects of International Logistics.
