Shipwrecks In The Bodrum Museum Of Underwater Archaeology:

Shipwrecks in the Bodrum Museum of Underwater Archaeology George Fletcher Bass, 1996 Commercial Amphoras of the Bodrum Museum of Underwater Archaeology Oğuz Alpözen, Bodrum Sualtı Arkeoloji Müzesi, A. Harun Özdaş, Bahadır Berkaya, 1995 Excavations by K. M. Kenyon in Jerusalem 1961-1967 K. Prag, 2008-08-06 The fifth volume in the series of final reports on the work of the Joint Expedition to Jerusalem in the 1960s describes the discoveries made in six sites in the ancient city and places them in the archaeological and historical context of Jerusalem and the surrounding lands Among the most debated issues are the extent of the occupation of the city during the Iron Age the location of the southern defence line in Herodian and Roman times and the date of the destruction of an Umayyad palatial structure There is fresh information on the civic amenities of the southern half of the Byzantine city and on the structure of the Ottoman city defences built under Sulaiman the Magnificent in the sixteenth century Fine glazed pottery both locally made and imported and the wide range of materials reaching Jerusalem through trade and pilgrimage reflect elite patronage and the high status of the holy city under Islamic rule Seagoing Ships and Seamanship in the Bronze Age Levant Shelley

Wachsmann, 2018-05-04 During the Bronze Age the ancient societies that ringed the Mediterranean once mostly separate and isolate began to reach across the great expanse of sea to conduct trade marking an age of immense cultural growth and technological development These intersocietal lines of communication and paths for commerce relied on rigorous open water travel And as a potential superhighway the Mediterranean demanded much in the way of seafaring knowledge and innovative ship design if it were to be successfully navigated In Seagoing Ships and Seamanship in the Bronze Age Levant Shelley Wachsmann presents a one of a kind comprehensive examination of how the early eastern Mediterranean cultures took to the sea and how they evolved as a result The author surveys the blue water ships of the Egyptians Syro Canaanites Cypriots Early Bronze Age Aegeans Minoans Mycenaeans and Sea Peoples and discusses known Bronze Age shipwrecks Relying on archaeological ethnological iconographic and textual evidence Wachsmann delivers a fascinating and intricate rendering of virtually every aspect of early sea travel from ship construction and propulsion to war on the open water piracy and laws pertaining to conduct at sea This broad study is further enhanced by contributions from other renowned scholars J Hoftijzer and W H van Soldt offer new and illuminating translations of Ugaritic and Akkadian documents that refer to seafaring J R Lenz delves into the Homeric Greek lexicon to search out possible references to the birdlike shapes that adorned early ships stem and stern F Hocker provides a useful appendix and glossary of nautical terms and George F Bass s foreword frames the study s scholarly significance and discusses its place in the nautical archaeological canon This book brings together for the first time the entire corpus of evidence pertaining to Bronze Age seafaring and will be of special value to archaeologists maritime historians philologists and Bronze Age textual scholars Offering an abundance of line drawings and photographs and written in a style that makes the material easily accessible to the layperson Wachsmann s study is certain to become a standard reference for anyone interested in the dawn of sea travel Late Bronze-Age Metal Artifacts off Hahotrim, Israel Shelley Wachsmann, 2025-05-30 During an inspection dive in 1980 along Israel's Mediterranean coast off of Kibbutz Hahotrim Shelley Wachsmann then Inspector of Antiquities for the Israel Department of Antiquities and Museums now the Israel Antiquities Authority discovered artifacts on a section of seabed swept clear of sand by a storm Scattered around two large stone anchors the finds consisted primarily of small broken or damaged pieces of metal artifacts and ingots Late Bronze Age Metal Artifacts off Hahotrim Israel comprises the careful analysis of the materials by Wachsmann and ten collaborators Examination of the artifacts along with the context in which they were found suggests that rather than being all that remains of an undiscovered ancient wreck the artifacts may have found their way to the seabed as jetsam dumped overboard by a crew hoping to extricate their vessel from a sand bar or other obstruction As Wachsmann notes the discovery and study of this humble group of artifacts provides evidence of a vibrant culture of maritime commerce that existed in the Late Bronze Age Mediterranean world prior to its collapse Positing the existence of a dynamic international period when a system of land and sea trade routes stretched from Sardinia in the west to Iran in the east spanning roughly a tenth of the earth's circumference this careful analysis adds important context to our evolving understanding of the interconnectedness of the Mediterranean world at a pivotal moment in history Digital in Underwater Cultural Heritage Guzden

Varinlioglu, 2016-04-26 One can argue that academia has always existed in an information age however as the general public gains access to ever more advanced systems it can be claimed that areas of academia require updating to maintain vitality in today's world When nautical archaeology produces inspiring reports they are often at the hand of large budgets rather than general day to day dissemination This book proposes using state of the art low budget digital technology from the outset of surveys so that data may be recorded analysed and disseminated with seamless efficiency and great flair while employing progressively less decontextualized means Further it conveys a simple methodology that allows for data collection by teams of volunteer divers Big data rapid analysis and cross reference requirements have created a shift towards the need for advanced digital means particularly relating to underwater archaeology where survey time is limited This book logs several years of studies which respect in situ preservation where the limits of technology were stretched to the cutting edge using novel collection methods to populate custom built numerical and visual databases generating 2D and 3D digital models and further creating a Virtual Reality museum These advances not only propel the function of academia but also promote the image of archaeology in an age where visualisation matters Shipwrecks in the Bodrum Museum of Underwater

Archaeology George F. Bass, 1996 A History of the World in Twelve Shipwrecks David Gibbins, 2024-04-02 From renowned underwater archaeologist David Gibbins comes an exciting and rich narrative of human history told through the archaeological discoveries of twelve shipwrecks across time The Viking warship of King Cnut the Great Henry VIII's the Mary Rose Captain John Franklin's doomed HMS Terror The SS Gairsoppa destroyed by a Nazi U boat in the Atlantic during World War II Since we first set sail on the open sea ships and their wrecks have been an inevitable part of human history Archaeologists have made spectacular discoveries excavating these sunken ships their protective underwater cocoon keeping evidence of past civilizations preserved Now for the first time world renowned maritime archeologist David Gibbins ties together the stories of some of the most significant shipwrecks in time to form a single overarching narrative of world history A History of the World in Twelve Shipwrecks is not just the story of those ships the people who sailed on them and the cargo and treasure they carried but also the story of the spread of people religion and ideas around the world it is a story of colonialism migration and the indomitable human spirit that continues today From the glittering Bronze Age to the world of Caesar s Rome through the era of the Vikings to the exploration of the Arctic Gibbins uses shipwrecks to tell all Drawing on decades of experience excavating shipwrecks around the world Gibbins reveals the riches beneath the waves and shows us how the treasures found there can be a porthole to the past that tell a new story about the world and its underwater secrets

Serçe Limanı George Fletcher Bass, Sheila Matthews, J. Richard Steffy, 2004 For almost a millennium a modest wooden ship lay underwater off the coast of Ser e Limani Turkey filled with evidence of trade and objects of daily life The ship now excavated by the Institute of Nautical Archaeology at Texas A M University trafficked in both the Byzantine and Islamic worlds of its time The ship is known as the Glass Wreck because its cargo included three metric tons of glass cullet including broken Islamic vessels and eighty pieces of intact glassware In addition it held glazed Islamic bowls red ware cooking vessels copper cauldrons and buckets wine amphoras weapons tools jewelry fishing gear remnants of meals coins scales and weights and more This first volume of the complete site report introduces the discovery the methods of its excavation and the conservation of its artifacts Chapters cover the details of the ship its contents the probable personal possessions of the crew and the picture of daily shipboard life that can be drawn from the discoveries A History of the World in Sixteen Shipwrecks Stewart Gordon, 2017-09-05 Shipwrecks as a window on the history of globalization
