Physics of Collisionless Shocks André Balogh, Rudolf A. Treumann, 2013-01-04 The present book provides a contemporary systematic treatment of shock waves in high temperature collisionless plasmas as are encountered in near Earth space and in Astrophysics It consists of two parts Part I develops the complete theory of shocks in dilute hot plasmas under the assumption of absence of collisions among the charged particles when the interaction is mediated solely by the self consistent electromagnetic fields Such shocks are naturally magnetised implying that the magnetic field plays an important role in their evolution and dynamics This part treats subcritical shocks which dissipate flow energy by generating anomalous resistance or viscosity The main emphasis is however on super critical shocks where the anomalous dissipation is insufficient to retard the upstream flow These shocks depending on the direction of the upstream magnetic field are distinguished as quasi perpendicular and quasi parallel shocks which exhibit different behaviours reflecting particles back upstream and generating high electromagnetic wave intensities Particle acceleration and turbulence at such shocks become possible and important Part II treats planetary bow shocks and the famous Heliospheric Termination shock as examples of two applications of the theory developed in part I

Collisionless Shocks in the Heliosphere Robert G. Stone, Bruce T. Tsurutani, 1985 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 35 Violent expansions of the solar corona cause transient shock waves which propagate outward from the sun at hundreds to thousands of kilometers per second simple solar wind velocity gradients at the surface of the sun lead to high speed streams overtaking slower streams forming corotating shocks and steady state supermagnetosonic solar wind flow past objects such as the planets lead to standing bow shocks However the solar wind plasma is so hot and tenuous that charged particle Coulomb collisions produce negligible thermalization or dissipation on scale sizes less than 0.1 AU The irreversible plasma heating by these shocks is accomplished by wave particle interactions driven by plasma instabilities Hence these shocks are described as collisionless
