The greatest problem in historical scholarship theoretically and practically is the relation between historians and their subject matter. The past is gone and historians can only study its remnants. What criteria do they use to evaluate their subject? The 35 volumes in this set originally published between 1926 and 1990 discuss and answer these essential questions faced by historians. The development of historical understanding during the 18th and 19th centuries was one of the most striking features of Western culture.
