Building World-Class Universities Qi Wang,Ying Cheng,Nian Cai Liu,2013-04-20 Within higher education

world class universities are commonly regarded as elite research universities and play a critical role in developing a nation's competitiveness in the global knowledge economy. An increasing number of countries, regions and higher education institutions in different parts of the world have joined the same battle for academic excellence. While emerging countries and their universities make every effort to enhance their capacity and boost their research performance, the academic superpowers endeavour to maintain if not further improve their global positions. Building World Class Universities: Different Approaches to a Shared Goal intends to provide an in depth picture of different approaches in pursuit of the shared goal of developing academic excellence and to reflect the current trends in this field. Divided into three parts, the book covers building world class universities from a national/regional perspective, managing world class universities from an institutional perspective and measuring world class universities from a ranking indicator perspective. This book not only represents a contribution to the ongoing discussion on the topic of building world class universities but can be seen as a continuation of the previous three volumes on this topic: World Class Universities and Ranking: Aiming beyond Status, The World Class University as Part of a New Higher Education Paradigm: From Institutional Qualities to Systemic Excellence and Paths to a World Class University: Lessons from Practices and Experiences. All four books will be useful readings for students and academics in higher education generally, in addition to policy makers and informed practitioners and practitioners.
