African Biblical Studies Andrew M. Mbuvi, 2022-09-22 Andrew M Mbuvi makes the case for African biblical studies as a vibrant and important emerging distinct discipline while also using its postcolonial optic to critique biblical studies for its continued underlying racially and imperialistically motivated tendencies Mbuvi argues that the emergence of biblical studies as a discipline in the West coincides with and benefits from the establishment of the colonial project that included African colonization At the heart of the colonial project was the Bible not only as ferried by missionaries who often espoused racialized views to convert heathens in the distant lands but as the text used in the racialized justification of the colonial violence Interpretive approaches established within these racist and colonialist matrices continue to dominate the discipline perpetuating racialized interpretive methodology and frameworks On these grounds Mbuvi makes the case that the continued marginalization of non western approaches is a reflection of the continuing colonialist structure and presuppositions in the discipline of biblical studies African Biblical Studies not only exposes and critiques these persistent oppressive and subjugating tendencies but showcases how African postcolonial methodologies and studies that prioritize readings from the perspective of the marginalized and oppressed offer an alternative framework for the discipline These readings while destabilizing and undermining the predominantly white Euro American approaches and their ingrained prejudices and problematizing the biblical text itself posit the need for biblical interpretation that is anti colonial and anti racist

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-10-03 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume's 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation. The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism. Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe, Nadine Gordimer, George Lamming, Jamaica Kincaid, V S Naipaul, Zoe Wicomb, J M Coetzee and many others.

Africa Writes Back James Currey, 2022-10-31

June 17 2008 is the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart by Heinemann. This publication provided the impetus for the foundation of the African Writers Series in 1962 with Chinua Achebe as the editorial adviser. Africa Writes Back: The African Writers Series and the Launch of African Literature captures the energy of literary publishing in a new and undefined field. Portraits of the leading characters and the many consultants and readers providing reports and advice to new and established writers make Africa Writes Back a stand out book. James Currey's voice and insights are an added bonus.
