   The History of al-Ṭabarī Vol. 30 ,2015-06-29 This volume of al abar s History covers nearly a quarter of a century and after covering the very brief caliphate of al H d concentrates on that of H r n al Rash d During these years the caliphate was in a state of balance with its external foes the great enemy Christian Byzantium was regarded with respect by the Muslims and the two great powers of the Near East treated each other essentially as equals while the Caucasian and Central Asian frontiers were held against pressure from the Turkish peoples of Inner Eurasia The main stresses were internal including Sh ite risings on behalf of the excluded house of Al and revolts by the radical equalitarian Kh rijites but none of these was serious enough to affect the basic stability of the caliphate H r n ar Rash d s caliphate has acquired in the West under the influence of a misleading picture from the Arabian Nights a glowing image as a golden age of Islamic culture and letters stemming from the Caliph s patronage of the exponents of these arts and sciences In light of the picture of the Caliph which emerges from al abar s pages however this image seems to be distinctly exaggerated Al Rash d himself does not exhibit any notable signs of administrative competence military leadership or intellectual interests beyond those which convention demanded of a ruler For much of his reign he left the business of government to the capable viziers of the Barmak d family the account of whose spectacular fall from power forms one of the most dramatic features of al abar s narratives here and his decision to divide the Islamic empire after his death between his sons was to lead subsequently to a disastrous civil war Nevertheless al abar s story is full of interesting sidelights on the lives of those involved in the court circle of the time and on the motivations which impelled medieval Muslims to seek precarious careers there A discounted price is available when purchasing the entire 39 volume History of al abar set Contact SUNY Press for more information   The History of al-Ṭabarī Vol. 30 Abū Jaʿfar Muḥammad ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī,1989-01-01 This volume of al abar s History covers nearly a quarter of a century and after covering the very brief caliphate of al H d concentrates on that of H r n al Rash d During these years the caliphate was in a state of balance with its external foes the great enemy Christian Byzantium was regarded with respect by the Muslims and the two great powers of the Near East treated each other essentially as equals while the Caucasian and Central Asian frontiers were held against pressure from the Turkish peoples of Inner Eurasia The main stresses were internal including Sh ite risings on behalf of the excluded house of Al and revolts by the radical equalitarian Kh rijites but none of these was serious enough to affect the basic stability of the caliphate H r n ar Rash d s caliphate has acquired in the West under the influence of a misleading picture from the Arabian Nights a glowing image as a golden age of Islamic culture and letters stemming from the Caliph s patronage of the exponents of these arts and sciences In light of the picture of the Caliph which emerges from al abar s pages however this image seems to be distinctly exaggerated Al Rash d himself does not exhibit any notable signs of administrative competence military leadership or intellectual interests beyond those which convention demanded of a ruler For much of his reign he left the business of government to the capable viziers of the Barmak
