Women, Modernity, and Landscape Architecture Sonja Dümpelmann,John Beardsley,2015-02-11 Modernity was critically important to the formation and evolution of landscape architecture yet its histories in the discipline are still being written This book looks closely at the work and influences of some of the least studied figures of the era established and less well known female landscape architects who pursued modernist ideals in their designs The women discussed in this volume belong to the pioneering first two generations of professional landscape architects and were outstanding in the field They not only developed notable practices but some also became leaders in landscape architectural education as the first professors in the discipline or prolific lecturers and authors As early professionals who navigated the world of a male dominated intellectual and menial work force they were exponents of modernity In addition many personalities discussed in this volume were either figures of transition between tradition and modernism like Silvia Crowe Maria Teresa Parpagliolo or they fully embraced and furthered the modernist agenda like Rosa Kliass Cornelia Oberlander The chapters offer new perspectives and contribute to the development of a more balanced and integrated landscape architectural historiography of the twentieth century Contributions come from practitioners and academics who discuss women based in USA Canada Brazil New Zealand South Africa the former USSR Sweden Britain Germany Austria France and Italy Ideal reading for those studying landscape history women s studies and cultural geography Urban Design Alex Krieger, William S. Saunders, 2009-01-01 Collects essays written on the establishment and cultivation of urban design as a distinct architectural and planning practice APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service , Landscapes in the Eastern Mediterranean between the Future and the Past Ioannis N. Vogiatzakis, Theano S. Terkenli, Maria Gabriella Trovato, Nizar Abu-Jaber, 2020-05-15 Landscapes have long been viewed as multifunctional integrating ecological economic sociocultural historical and aesthetic dimensions Landscape science and public awareness in Europe have been progressing in leaps and bounds The challenges involved in landscape related issues and fields however are multiple and refer to landscape stewardship and protection as well as to the development of comprehensive theoretical and methodological approaches in tandem with public sensitization and participatory governance and in coordination with appropriate top down planning and policy instruments Landscape scale approaches are fundamental to the understanding of past and present cultural evolution and are now considered to be an appropriate spatial framework for the analysis of sustainability Methods and tools of landscape analysis and intervention have also gone a long way since their early development in Europe and the United States Although significant progress has been made there remain many issues which are understudied or not investigated at all at least in a Mediterranean context This Special Issue addresses the application of landscape theory and practice in the Eastern Mediterranean and mainly but not exclusively reports on the outcomes of an international conference held in Jordan in December 2015 with the title Landscapes of Eastern Mediterranean Challenges Opportunities Prospects and Accomplishments The focus of this Special Issue landscapes of the Eastern Mediterranean region thus constitutes a timely area of research interest not only because these landscapes have so far been understudied but also as a rich site of strikingly variegated long standing multicultural human environmental interactions These interactions resting on and taking shape through millennia of continuity in tradition have been striving to adapt to technological advances while currently juggling with manifold and multilayered socioeconomic and climate environmental crises Resilience in Ecology and Urban Design S.T.A. Pickett, M.L. Cadenasso, Brian McGrath, 2013-01-13 The contributors to this volume propose strategies of urgent and vital importance that aim to make today s urban environments more resilient Resilience the ability of complex systems to adapt to changing conditions is a key frontier in ecological research and is especially relevant in creative urban design as urban areas exemplify complex systems. With something approaching half of the world's population now residing in coastal urban zones many of which are vulnerable both to floods originating inland and rising sea levels making urban areas more robust in the face of environmental threats must be a policy ambition of the highest priority. The complexity of urban areas results from their spatial heterogeneity, their intertwined material and energy fluxes and the integration of social and natural processes. All of these features can be altered by intentional planning and design. The complex integrated suite of urban structures and processes together affect the adaptive resilience of urban systems but also presupposes that planners can intervene in positive ways. As examples accumulate of linkage between sustainability and building landscape design such as the Shanghai Chemical Industrial Park and Toronto's Lower Don River area, this book unites the ideas, data and insights of ecologists and related scientists with those of urban designers. It aims to integrate a formerly atomized dialog to help both disciplines promote urban resilience.

Sustainable Development and Planning VIII C.A. Brebbia, S.S. Zubir, A.S. Hassan, 2017-01-30. The 8th International Conference on Sustainable Development and Planning is part of a series of biennial conferences on the topic of sustainable regional development which began in Greece in 2003. The papers included in these proceedings report on the latest advances from scientists specialising in the range of subjects included within sustainable development and planning. Planners, environmentalists, architects, engineers, policy makers and economists have to work together in order to ensure that planning and development can meet our present needs without compromising the ability of future generations. The use of modern technologies in planning gives us new potential to monitor and prevent environmental degradation. Problems related to development and planning which affect both rural and urban areas are present in all regions of the world and accelerated urbanisation has resulted in both the deterioration of the environment and quality of life. Urban development can also intensify problems faced by rural areas such as forests, mountain regions and coastal areas which urgently require solutions in order to avoid irreversible damage. The papers in the book cover the following topics: City planning, Regional planning, Rural developments, Sustainability and the built environment, Sustainability indicators, Policies and planning, Environmental planning and management, Energy resources, Cultural heritage, Quality of life, Community planning and resilience, Sustainable solutions in emerging countries, Sustainable tourism, Learning from nature, Transportation, Social and political issues and Community planning.

River.Space.Design Martin Prominski, Antje Stokman, Daniel Stimberg, Hinnerk Voermanek, Susanne Zeller, Katarina Bajc, 2017-05-22. Urban riverbanks are attractive locations and highly prized recreational environments. However, they must meet the requirements of flood control, open space design and ecology at the same time, often a challenging task for the designer. This book is the product of extensive research that identified some 60 best practice examples and subjected them to a comparative analysis. The result is a systematic catalog of effective strategies and innovative design tools that provides readers with an inspiring overview of the broad spectrum of design possibilities for river spaces Each project is illustrated with photographs taken especially for the book and each design strategy and tool is explained by diagrams This revised edition introduces ten new case studies chiefly from North America

Architecture and Welfare Thordis Arrhenius, Ellen Braae, Guttorm Ruud, 2025-01-27 Architecture was fundamental to the realization of welfare state policy in the Nordic countries translating democratic ideals into concrete spatial materializations An inclusive notion of welfare for all was embraced by a generation of architects landscape architects and planners who labored to give physical form to ideas of equality collectivity and democracy producing a vast architectural output in Scandinavia during the postwar years Today however the architectural legacy of this era is contested Welfare for all no longer enjoys the social or political consensus it once did This publication critically engages with this contested architectural legacy and provides a nuanced portrait of postwar welfare architecture coming to terms with a contentious past and facing an uncertain future With newly commissioned photographic work by contemporary Nordic artists Based on an interdisciplinary research project by KTH Stockholm Oslo School of Architecture University of Copenhagen Internationally renowned contributors shed light on aspects of the relationship between architecture and welfare

Urban Blue Spaces Simon Bell, Lora E. Fleming, James Grellier, Friedrich Kuhlmann, Mark J. Nieuwenhuijsen, Mathew P. White, 2021-09-30 This book presents an evidence based approach to landscape planning and design for urban blue spaces that maximises the benefits to human health and well being while minimising the risks Based on applied research and evidence from primary and secondary data sources stemming from the EU funded BlueHealth project the book presents nature based solutions to promote sustainable and resilient cities Numerous cities around the world are located alongside bodies of water in the form of coastlines lakes rivers and canals but the relationship between city inhabitants and these water sources has often been ambivalent In many cities water has been polluted engineered or ignored completely But due to an increasing awareness of the strong connections between city people nature and water and health this paradigm is shifting The international editorial team consisting of researchers and professionals across several disciplines leads the reader through theoretical aspects evidence illustrated case studies risk assessment and a series of validated tools to aid planning and design before finishing with overarching planning and design principles for a range of blue space types Over 200 full colour illustrations accompany the case study examples from geographic locations all over the world including Portugal the United Kingdom China Canada the US South Korea Singapore Norway and Estonia With green and blue infrastructure now at the forefront of current policies and trends to promote healthy sustainable cities Urban Blue Spaces is a must have for professionals and students in landscape planning urban design and environmental design Open Access for the book was funded by the European Union s Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No 666773 The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com/books/oa/edit/10.4324/9780429056161 has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
