Reclaiming Authorship Susan S. Williams, 2013-06-15 There was in the nineteenth century a distinction made between writers and authors Susan S Williams notes the former defined as those who composed primarily from mere experience or observation rather than from the unique genius or imagination of the latter If women were more often cast as writers than authors by the literary establishment there also emerged in magazines advice books fictional accounts and letters a specific model of female authorship one that valorized natural feminine traits such as observation and emphasis on detail while also representing the distance between amateur writing and professional authorship Attending to biographical and cultural contexts and offering fresh readings of literary works Reclaiming Authorship focuses on the complex ways writers such as Maria S Cummins Louisa May Alcott

Elizabeth Keckley Mary Abigail Dodge Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and Constance Fenimore Woolson put this model of female authorship into practice Williams shows how it sometimes intersected with prevailing notions of male authorship and sometimes diverged from them and how it is often precisely those moments of divergence when authorship was reclaimed by women The current trend to examine women writers rather than authors marks a full rotation of the circle and writers can indeed be the more capacious term embracing producers of everything from letters and diaries to published books Yet certain nineteenth century women made particular efforts to claim the title author Williams demonstrates and we miss something of significance by ignoring their efforts Transatlantic Conversations Beth L. Lueck, Sirpa Salenius, 2016-12-06

Difference Elizabeth Weed, Naomi Schor, Ellen Rooney, 2006 This special issue of differences celebrates the work of the contemporary feminist literary critic and theorist Barbara Johnson whose work has been revolutionary in foregrounding concepts of difference Johnson s is a unique method of literary reading in which literature becomes in her words a mode of cultural work the work of giving to read those impossible contradictions that cannot yet be spoken The contributors to this issue recognize that one of Johnson s primary gifts to literary studies is her ability to teach theoretical insights not in a pedagogically prescriptive or didactic way but through her exquisitely close readings of texts that illustrate the force of theory and language in practice The first half of the issue comprises essays in which scholars influenced by Johnson offer close readings of texts ranging from Sandra Cisneros s Carmelo to Edith Wharton s Roman Fever to George Bernard Shaw s Pygmalion Each of the remaining essays is marked by the intimate voice of its author offering a reflective tribute to Johnson s thought and teaching Contributors Lauren Berlant Rachel Bowlby Bill Brown Mary Wilson Carpenter Pamela Caughie Lee Edelman Jane Gallop Bill Johnson Gonz lez Deborah Jensen Lili Porten Avital Ronell Mary Helen Washington

Witness to Reconstruction Kathleen Diffley, 2011-07-18 In the wake of the Civil War Constance Fenimore Woolson became one of the first northern observers to linger in the defeated states from Virginia to Florida Born in New Hampshire in 1840 and raised in Ohio she was the grandniece of James Fenimore Cooper and was gaining success as a writer when she departed in 1873 for St Augustine During the next six years she made her way across the South and reported what she saw first in illustrated travel accounts and then in the poetry stories and serialized novels that brought unsettled social relations to the pages of Harper s Monthly the Atlantic Scribner s Monthly Appletons Journal and the Galaxy In the midst of Reconstruction and in print for years to come Woolson revealed the sharp edges of loss the sharper summons of opportunity and the entanglements of northern misperceptions a decade before the waves of well heeled tourists arrived during the 1880s This volume s sixteen essays are intent on illuminating through her example the neglected world of Reconstruction s backwaters in literary developments that were politically charged and genuinely unpredictable Drawing upon the postcolonial and transnational perspectives of New Southern Studies as well as the cultural history intellectual genealogy and feminist priorities that lend urgency to the portraits of the global South this collection investigates the mysterious ravaged territory of a defeated nation as curious northern readers first saw it

BOOK JACKET May Alcott Nieriker, Author and Advocate Julia Dabbs,2022-03-01 May Alcott Nieriker Author and Advocate examines in depth the writings on art and travel by the youngest sister of famed novelist Louisa May Alcott Like other American women in the later nineteenth century due to her gender May was unable to receive the advanced training and exhibition opportunities in the USA that she needed to become a notable professional painter An additional obstacle was her family s insecure financial status making it difficult to study abroad for training Fortunately thanks to Louisa s generosity May was able to make three extended trips to London and Paris in order to gain further training and eventually attained the honor of having two paintings accepted into the Paris Salon However this book argues that Alcott Nieriker s main contributions to cultural history were not necessarily her artistic creations but rather her publications on travel and art specifically four articles for the Boston Evening Transcript and an 1879 guidebook Studying Art Abroad and How To Do It Cheaply In these works May sought to transform the art world and social mores through her advocacy for the rights of women to have equal access to a professional artistic career

The Forgotten Alcott Azelina Flint,Lauren Hehmeyer,2021-12-30 This collection is the first academic study of the captivating life and career of expatriate artist writer and activist May Alcott Nieriker Nieriker is known as the sister of Louisa May Alcott and model for Amy March in Alcott s Little Women As this book reveals she was much more than Amy she had a more significant impact on the Concord community than her sister and later became part of the creative expat community in Europe There she imbued her painting with the abolitionist activism she was exposed to in childhood and pursued an ideal of artistic genius that opposed her sister s vision of self sacrifice Embarking on a career that took her across London Paris and Rome Nieriker won the acclaim of John Ruskin and forged a network of expatriate female painters who changed the face of nineteenth century art creating opportunities for women that lasted well into the twentieth century A Renaissance woman Nieriker was a travel writer teacher and curator She is recovered here as a transdisciplinary subject who stands between disciplines networks and ideologies striving to recognize the dignity of others Contributors include foundational Alcott scholar Daniel Shealy and Pulitzer Prize winner John Matteson as well as Curators Jan Turnquist Orchard House and Amanda Burdan Brandywine River Museum of Art In this book readers will become acquainted with a dynamic feminist thinker who transforms our understanding of the place of women artists in the wider cultural and intellectual life of nineteenth century Britain France and the United States

Religious Liberties Elizabeth A. Fenton, 2011-04-08 Early U S literary and cultural productions often presented Catholicism as a threat not only to Protestantism but also to democracy Religious Liberties shows that U S understandings of religious freedom and pluralism emerged paradoxically out of a virulent anti Catholicism The Legacy of Empire Sharon Worley, 2018-11-14 The shadow of Napoleon never left the nineteenth century and continued to haunt the histories and wars that followed in curious and circuitous ways The empires of Napoleon I and his nephew Napoleon III set the stage for the pendulum swing of time from revolution to its antithesis empire The Anglo Italian style developed as a reaction to these empires the widespread devastation caused by power and the monuments it created Lord Byron Percy Bysshe Shelley Margaret Fuller Elizabeth Barrett Browning Harriet Hosmer William Wetmore Story Nathaniel Hawthorne Henry James and Vernon Lee responded to recurring themes in Italian Risorgimento politics and culture in the post Napoleonic era and Second Empire periods Many of them were ex patriots who adopted Italy as their new home Their unique contribution aligns them with a style that is distinguished by the themes of national independence feminism the abolition of slavery and republicanism They perceived their own time in terms of parallel dimensions in which the past and present converged in national histories at home in America and England and in Italy their new ideal state The language of their new nationalism evolved from the chronological study of Ancient Rome up to the Renaissance and the style of both revolution and empire neoclassicism while their perspective was largely shaped by a reactionary contrast between the empires of Napoleon I and III and an ideal state they envisioned for Italy

A Child of One's Own Rachel Bowlby, 2013-06-27 Among the elementary human stories parenthood has tended to go without saying Compared to the spectacular attachments of romantic love it is only the predictable sequel Compared to the passions of childhood it is just a background But in recent decades far reaching changes in typical family forms and in procreative possibilities through reproductive technologies have brought out new questions Why do people want or not want to be parents How has the choice first enabled by contraception changed the meaning of parenthood Looking not only at new parental parts but at older parental stories in novels and other works this fascinating book offers fresh angles and arguments for thinking about parenthood today

A Sisterhood of Sculptors Melissa Dabakis, 2020-05-01 This project is made possible through support from the Terra Foundation for American Art When Elizabeth Cady Stanton penned the Declaration of Sentiments for the first women s rights convention held in Seneca Falls New York in 1848 she unleashed a powerful force in American society In A Sisterhood of Sculptors Melissa Dabakis outlines the conditions under which a group of American women artists adopted this egalitarian view of society and negotiated the gendered terrain of artistic production at home and abroad Between 1850 and 1876 a community of talented women sought creative refuge in Rome and developed successful professional careers as sculptors Some of these women have become well known in art historical circles Harriet Hosmer Edmonia Lewis Anne Whitney and Vinnie Ream The reputations of others have remained until now buried in the historical record Emma Stebbins Margaret Foley Sarah Fisher Ames and Louisa Lander At midcentury they were among the first women artists to attain professional stature in the American art world while achieving international fame in Rome London and other cosmopolitan European cities In their invention of modern womanhood they served as models for a younger generation of women who adopted artistic careers in unprecedented numbers in the years following the Civil War At its core A Sisterhood of Sculptors is concerned with the gendered nature of creativity and expatriation Taking guidance from feminist theory cultural geography and expatriate and postcolonial studies Dabakis provides a detailed investigation of the historical phenomenon of women s artistic lives in Rome in the mid nineteenth century As an interdisciplinary examination of femininity and creativity it provides models for viewing and interpreting nineteenth century sculpture and for analyzing the gendered status of the artistic profession The Complete Letters of Constance Fenimore Woolson Sharon L. Dean, 2012-07-29 In recent years Constance Fenimore Woolson 1840 1894 has been fictionalized at least three times perhaps most notably in Colm T ib n s award winning work The Master a novelization of the life of Woolson s close friend Henry James But Woolson was a literary star in her own right publishing in the premier magazines of her day She penned critically acclaimed novels short stories and poetry until her mysterious death in Venice at age fifty three Sharon Dean has recompiled dated and in many cases physically reassembled all of Woolson s extant correspondence from nearly forty sources Dean s painstaking work presents the fullest picture we have of Woolson and functions as an important corrective to the fictional portrayals In these letters one finds rich personal detail alongside ruminations on contemporary political and social conditions A trenchant critic of the customs and mores of her age Woolson in her letters offers a nuanced perspective on life as a woman and as a writer in the nineteenth century Reinventing the Peabody Sisters Monika M. Elbert, Julie E. Hall, Katharine Rodier, 2006-04 Whether in the public realm as political activists artists teachers biographers editors and writers or in the more traditional role of domestic nurturing women Elizabeth Peabody Mary Peabody Mann and Sophia Peabody Hawthorne subverted rigid nineteenth century definitions of women s limited realm of influence Reinventing the Peabody Sisters seeks to redefine this dynamic trio s relationship to the literary and political movements of the mid nineteenth century Previous scholarship has romanticized vilified or altogether erased their influences and literary productions or viewed these individuals solely in light of their relationships to other nineteenth century luminaries particularly men Ralph Waldo Emerson Nathaniel Hawthorne Horace Mann This collection underscores that each woman was a creative force in her own right Despite their differences and sibling conflicts all three sisters thrived in the rarefied if economically modest atmosphere of a childhood household that glorified intellectual and artistic pursuits. This background allowed each woman to negotiate the nineteenth century literary marketplace and in the process redefine its scope. Elizabeth Mary and Sophia remained linked throughout their lives encouraging complementing and sometimes challenging each other's endeavors while also contributing to each other's literary work. The essays in this collection examine the sisters' confrontations with and involvement in the intellectual movements and social conflicts of the nineteenth century including Transcendentalism, the Civil War, the role of women, international issues, slavery, Native American rights, and parenting. Among the most revealing writings that the sisters left behind however are those which explore the interlaced relationship that continued throughout their remarkable lives.

Made in Britain Stephen Tuffnell, 2020-09-08

The United States was made in Britain. For over a hundred years following independence, a diverse and lively crowd of emigrant Americans left the United States for Britain. From Liverpool and London, they produced Atlantic capitalism and managed transfers of goods, culture, and capital that were integral to US nation building. In British social clubs, emigrants forged relationships with elite Britons that were essential not only to tranquil transatlantic connections but also to fighting southern slavery. As the United States descended into Civil War, emigrant Americans decisively shaped the Atlantic-wide battle for public opinion. Equally revered as informal ambassadors and feared as anti-republican contagions, these emigrants raised troubling questions about the relationship between nationhood, nationality, and foreign connection. Blending the histories of foreign relations, capitalism, nation formation, and transnational connection, Stephen Tuffnell compellingly demonstrates that the United States' struggle toward independent nationhood was entangled at every step with the world's most powerful empire of the time. With deep research and vivid detail, Made in Britain uncovers this hidden story and presents a bold new perspective on nineteenth-century transatlantic relations.
